MISCELLANEOUS.

LEICESTER WOOL.—There has been a fair demand for goods this week, but orders have not come in so extensively as last week. The Leicester Wool Fair takes place on Tuesday.

MANCHESTER PROVISION MARKET.

(FROM OUR COMMERCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

With the cessation of labour troubles in Denmark, belated supplies of both butter and bacon have been coming forward, and this accounts for the heavy increase in shipments of these commodities, no less than 37,545 casks of butter and 14,034 bales of bacon being advised to Northern ports from Denmark and Sweden. Shipments of eggs, however, were rather smaller, the total being 2,202 cases. Smaller arrivals of Scandinavian are expected this week-end, and there is a much firmer feeling in consequence, prices having advanced in sympathy with the Danish official quotation, which is two kroner higher. The quantity of Irish creamery butter offering in this centre may be described as almost negligible, it being reported that the bulk of the supply has been forwarded to London and Cardiff, and so far as quotations are concerned, in view of the quantity of Danish and Swedish on this market, merchants were asking at below f.o.b. figures in Ireland. This naturally had an adverse effect on supplies, especially as higher prices could be realised by other towns which distribute this commodity over a large area. The higher prices ruling for Colonial also effect demand here, and quotations can hardly be said to compare favourably with other descriptions. English dairy butter is in large supply. In bacon, last week's drastic reduction of 12s. in Danish and Swedish by the Manchester Wholesale Provision Association came in for a certain amount of criticism, and the market quickly recovered on reports of smaller shipments. While no official change was recorded in Irish there was a disposition on the part of sellers to grant concessions to induce business, owing to the unfavourable comparison with Continental cures. English bacon in fair supply. The hot weather has caused an active demand for hams, and English and Irish are dearer, and imported also have advanced. A steady consumptive demand is reported for Cheshire cheese, and late rates are well maintained, and although Colonial advanced steadily, there was some giving way to note in prices at the close of the week. Lard quiet, with a consequent easing in prices. Smaller quantities of English and Irish eggs are available, and while best imported are somewhat short, secondary qualities are also by no means plentiful. Higher prices are expected in the near future.

Demand for both cattle and sheep and lambs at Salford Cattle Market on Tuesday was slow, and lower prices had to be accepted to induce business. While larger supplies of Irish cattle are expected during the coming week, the number on offer last Tuesday was comparatively small, but sheep and lambs were about equal to the previous week. So far as pigs were concerned, the hot weather practically brought business to a standstill, and quotations were reduced in consequence. At the Manchester Dead Meat Market a fair clearance was effected and late rates were fairly well maintained, butchers evidently killing for immediate requirements only.

Trade for best qualities of poultry good, but small birds and those showing signs of greenness did not sell readily, except at reduced prices. Ducklings scarce, but larger supplies are expected in the near future.

TROPICAL PRODUCE MARKET EASIER.

FROM OUR COMMERCIAL CORRESPONDENT.

LIVERPOOL, Saturday.

Business in the tropical produce market during the week has been somewhat uncertain, and prices for the chief commodities wind up rather easier.

In the palm oil section the amount of business carried through has been below the average, and prices of Lagos and soft oils on spot and near at hand have been lowered by fully 20s. and 25s. 9d. respectively, with mediums and hards, roughly, 20s. per ton lower. The Continent has been somewhat disappointing, present market prices not being tempting enough, while America for the time being seems to have lost all interest. The home trade has interested itself to a moderate extent, but for the most part it has been left to professional operators. Spot and near at hand materials stand at a premium over distants of roughly 2s. 6d. to 3s. 9d. per ton for Lagos and softs, while the difference in mediums is 10s. to 12s. 6d. and in hards 15s. to 18s. 9d. per ton.

Business recorded during the week is round about 1,100 tons, with Lagos quoted £38 15s., Sherbro £38 10s., Opobo £38 17s. 6d., Benin £39 5s., and Niger £40 10s.

Palm kernels have been a disappointing market, for after changing hands in the early part of the week at £21 7s. 6d. for April-June or May-July shipment, material selling pressure from speculative sources forced values down to £21 and lower, with crushers showing little interest even at the decline. Hull consumers have purchased a small amount of May-June shipment forward up to £21 7s. 6d., but the same material changed hands to-day at £21 1s. 3d. Hamburg has shown but a passing interest, though business has been done up to £21 5s. for May-June shipment, and 2s. 6d. per ton more for July-August accommodation.

The copra market in the early part of the week was active, and prices quickly recovered from their set-back in the previous week, F.M. Straits April-June shipment selling freely at £30 10s., with May-July some 5s. per ton less. Since then, however, the market has shown an easier tendency, and material can be bought at fully 5s. to 7s. 6d. per ton less than the prices recorded above. Consumers in Northern Europe have shown more activity than has been the case of late, while, compared with prices ruling here, Eastern figures are still unduly high. Business with Marseilles is fairly steady, with trading reported in F.M. Straits June-July shipment at £29, May-June shipment material to Rotterdam obtains at £29 5s.

Ground nuts have been somewhat dull with only small business reported. Nigerian decorticated to Northern Continental ports has changed hands at £24 17s. 6d. and further sellers, but June-July material is held for £25. Refined oils have been quiet with values showing little or no alteration. Nut oils idle.

LIVERPOOL MEAT IMPORTS.

There was a falling off in the imports of mutton and lamb, but an increase in the arrivals of fresh beef at Liverpool during the past week from overseas ports. Eight steamers arrived with freights as follow:—The Peshawur, from Australia, with 24,174 qrs. of beef; the Montclare, from Montreal, with 610 boxes of meat; the Baltic, from New York, with 988 packages of meat; the Franconia, from New York, with 413 packages of pork; the Honorata, from New Zealand, with 73,771 sheep and lamb carcases and 2,082 qrs. of beef; the Darro, from Buenos Ayres, with 15,983 sheep and lamb carcases, 3,495 bags of beef cuts and 38,140 qrs. of beef; the Ayrshire, from Rosario, with 794 sheep and lamb carcases and 16,261 qrs. of beef; and the Moveria, from Montreal, with 527 cattle, 1,261 boxes, etc., of pork and 467 boxes of meat, making a total of 527 cattle, 90,548 sheep and lamb carcases, 1,674 boxes of pork, 5,560 boxes of meat, and 80,677 qrs. of beef. Compared with the arrivals of the preceding week, these figures show an increase of 882 boxes of pork and 22,664 qrs. of beef, and a decrease of 141 cattle, 54,249 sheep and lamb carcases, and 6,767 boxes of meat.

PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS SOCIETY.

At the weekly meeting of the Committee of the Dublin Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Mr. F. O. Lyons was in the chair. Also present:—Miss Hillas, Miss Tuckey, Mr. F. S. Roberts, Mr. Patterson, Mr. A. W. Beatty. Ten cases were reported by the Inspectors during the week and ten convictions. The following subscriptions were received:—Mr. G. Irvine, £1; Mr. C. S. Dudgeon, 10/-; Mrs. I. B. Lett, 10/-; Miss A. Cordner, £1; Mrs. Hornsby Drake, £6 1/-; Mr. A. P. Barton and Miss Barton, 5/-; Mrs. Murphy, 2/6.

BIG HAULS BY NET FISHERMEN.

"At the present time there is an enormous number of salmon and peal (grilse) in the Lee," said the Secretary at a meeting of the Cork Board of Fishery Conservators last Saturday. "Very good catches have been made by the net at Wellington Bridge. In half an hour on the evening of the 19th inst. 62 salmon and peal were taken. The numbers which passed through the hands of two merchants during the past two weeks totalled 271 salmon (average weight 13lb.) and 622 peal (average weight 4½lb.)."

IRISH FAIR.

TULLAMORE.—Tullamore Cattle, Sheep and Horse Fair was smaller than usual in supply. Demand and prices were maintained, and an early clearance was effected. Good market for first class springers and milch cows. The sheep fair was not as large as usual, and store sheep were scarce. The great demand and prices for horses was a noticeable feature. Store cattle (over six and under 12 months)—First class £10 to £13 10/-, average £11 10/-; second class £7 to £9, average £8. One-year-old and under two—First class, £6 10/- to £17 10/-, average £17; second class £13 10/- to £15, average £14. The Vapour Tension Test

The readiness with which a petrol will evaporate is a sure indication of the ease with which it will mix with the air in the carburetter to form a powerful readily combustible charge in the cylinder.

Easy evaporation depends upon the vapour tension of the spirit, and in the production of "BP" vapour tension tests are carried out over a wide range of temperatures. These tests guarantee that first kick which is so anxiously awaited on a cold morning.

Use "BP" Motor Spirit, and you will neither run down your batteries nor lose your temper and appointment.

SECRETARY AND REGISTERED OFFICE.—J. P. STEACY (pro. tem.), 1 Cornhill, London, E.C.3.

OBJECTS OF COMPANY.—The Company has been formed to construct and operate a beet sugar factory at Wissington, on the River Wissey, South-West Norfolk, about five miles from the town of Downham Market and fifteen miles from the port of King's Lynn.

The Company is being established under favourable conditions for building up a sound business and securing profitable returns on the capital employed. These conditions include:—

Adequate supplies of beets from the immediate neighbourhood.
Good transport facilities and working conditions.
Experienced and fully qualified management.
Advantage over imported sugar, averaging £14 18s. 4d. per ton during the next nine years.

BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY.—For the last few decades this has been one of the principal agricultural industries of the Continent. The total beet sugar production of Europe during the year 1923-24 was 5,039,748 tons out of a total world's production for that year of 19,047,762 tons, and for the year 1924-25 the corresponding estimates are: 7,143,000 tons out of a total world's production of 22,264,200 tons.

The manufacture of beet sugar is now a recognised British industry. The suitability of English soil and climate and the favourable conditions for sugar-making have been conclusively proved.

There is a ready market for the products of this industry, the demand being considerably in excess of the supply.

Three-year contracts covering the requirements of the Company have already been arranged with growers. Over 4,500 acres were planted during last April and May with the finest quality seeds supplied to them by the Company, and are already showing satisfactory growth.

TRANSPORT.—The site lies alongside a private railway (standard gauge) leased to the Company, which extends for about 11 miles through a rich beet-growing district and connects with the London and North-Eastern Railway at Abbey Station, about two miles north of the factory. By this railway, growers in the neighbourhood will be able to deliver beets to the factory at much lower rates than are now paid by them to more distant factories.

WATER SUPPLY.—The River Wissey provides an ample supply of suitable water for all the purposes of the Company. SITE—The freehold site upon which the factory is being constructed lies between the railway and the river, and extends to about 35 acres, and was selected on account of its combination of natural and other advantages. The factory is being constructed on the most up-to-date lines, adopting all modern improvements involved in the best home and Continental practice. It will have a designed capacity to treat 600 tons of beet roots per day, and will be ready to deal with this year's crop. The construction of the Factory and Machinery is already so far advanced that its completion in time to deal with this year's crop is assured by the several Contractors.

The total cost of the freehold Site, Factory, Plant, Machinery and full equipment for production, including Railway Sidings, Stores, Laboratory and Workshop, is estimated at £280,000. The balance of the proceeds of this issue, after payment of the preliminary expenses, will provide a sum for working capital considered to be sufficient for the Company's requirements.

MANAGEMENT.—The appointment of a general manager and technical staff, fully qualified and experienced in all branches of the manufacture of beet sugar, has been secured.

PROFITS.—The Directors have given careful consideration to the question as to the amount of profits the Company is expected to earn. They have obtained certain information regarding the profits made by similar concerns both in this country and abroad, and have had the advantage of the assistance of persons well acquainted with the working conditions of such concerns.

PROFIT 1st SEASON 1925-26.

The Factory will be capable of treating during the first working season not less than 54,000 tons of beet, and thereafter 75,000 tons of beet per annum.

On the basis of 54,000 tons of beet for the first year, allowing an average sugar content of 15 per cent., there should be a yield for the season 1925-26 of 6,480 tons of refined sugar, from which, taking the price of sugar at the Factory at 28s. 6d. per cwt. and including the value of the by-products (beet pulp and molasses) and the Government subsidy, a gross return is anticipated of £260,820

Less the cost of the beets, and the working costs of the factory (making ample allowance for depreciation), and the establishment expenses of the Company, estimated at 189,585

Leaving an estimated net profit of £71,235

PROFITS 2nd and 3rd SEASONS, 1926-28.

During the following two years, on the basis of 75,000 tons of beet per annum, the average gross return arrived at as above should be £371,250

Less the cost of the beets, and the working costs, including depreciation and expenses estimated at 264,225

Leaving an annual estimated average net profit of £107,025

The above figures show an average annual net profit for the three years of £95,095, being over 27 per cent. per annum on the capital of the Company.

After nine years the present Government subsidy expires, but even if it is not then continued in some form the Company's business should be so well established as to assure substantial profits.

The Directors are confident that the above results can be achieved.

Prospectuses and Forms of Application may be obtained at the Offices of the Company or of its Bankers, Brokers or Solicitors, or from G. Haswell Veitch and Co., Ltd., 1 Cornhill, London, E.C.3.

PROSPECTUS.

The Company has been formed to manufacture Fine Grade Artificial Silk Yarns.

LANDS, BUILDINGS, PLANT AND EQUIPMENT.

The Company has entered into a Contract, below mentioned, for the purchase, at the price of £75,000, of freehold factories equipped with modern power and lighting plant, situate near Ashtead, in the County of Surrey, and within 20 miles of London. The factories are erected in eight units, and are of high-class construction, being built of the finest Southwater bricks, whilst the floors, which have a total area of about 80,000 square feet, are of concrete and steel. A copy of Messrs. Ventom, Cooper, and Co.'s Report on the property is enclosed. They give it as their opinion that the present value of the property is £125,000 and that it would take two years to erect and equip a factory of a similar capacity.

A tender has been obtained for the supply and installation of the necessary manufacturing plant at the price of £135,000, making a proposed total expenditure of £210,000 under the headings of land, buildings, plant and machinery. It is anticipated that the first unit will be in operation by October next, and that the present factories will be running to full capacity by December of this year. As soon as the initial plant is running to full capacity on a profitable basis the Directors contemplate a further expenditure of about £75,000 on additional buildings and plant, and, as the site to be acquired covers an area of 16¼ acres, there is ample scope for extensions and developments of this kind.

WORKING CAPITAL.

The proceeds of the present issue, after providing for the initial capital expenditure mentioned, and for the preliminary expenses incidental to the formation and registration of the Company, will leave approximately £85,000 for working capital, a sum which, in the opinion of the Directors, should be ample for all reasonable requirements in connexion with the establishment of the business in the present factories and with the proposed initial plant.

MANAGEMENT.

The Directors will have the co-operation and advice of a Technical and Production Committee consisting of the experts named below, whose qualifications and wide experience should be of the greatest value.

Mr. Frank Cousins has agreed to enter into the service of the Company as Works Manager for a term of five years; he has been actively engaged in the industry for many years and was for 10 years a member of the staff of Courtaulds Limited, being production Manager of one of their Spinning Departments for the four years immediately preceding his retirement from their service. For the last two years he has been specially engaged by the Teikoku Artificial Silk Company of Hiroshima, Japan, as general adviser on equipment and production.

Mr. E. R. Chrystall, B.Sc., F.I.C., who has been engaged in very important and successful research work for a number of years, has consented to enter the service of the Company as Chief Textile Chemist for a term of five years, and an Agreement between him and the Company will be entered into in due course.

Mr. G. H. Mellor is the designer and patentee of a number of important machines used in the manufacture of silk and artificial silk, and he has consented to place his expert knowledge as a Textile Engineer at the services of the Company in an advisory capacity.

PROFIT ON PRODUCTION.

It is not in the best interests of the Company to give technical details, but the process of manufacture to be employed is in no way experimental; it is one which is thoroughly understood by the Company's technical experts and having proved highly successful in this country as well as on the Continent and in America, the Company can reasonably expect similar results. It would also be prejudicial to this Company to give details of the Plant to be installed, and the capacity for which it is designed, but this is a point to which the Directors have given very careful attention, and the tender obtained for the Plant provides for a guarantee from the manufacturers to obtain a certain definite production.

Figures as to output and cost have been gone into thoroughly by the Technical Committee, and all estimates have been made on most conservative lines. After making adequate provision for every charge, including depreciation and taxation, and calculating the selling price of yarn at a figure which is below present-day quotations, the Directors have satisfied themselves that the profits available for distribution on the first full year's working will cover the dividend on the Preference Shares between three and four times over.

The Articles of Association for the Company provide that:—

50. The Directors may raise or borrow for the purposes of the Company's business such sum or sums of money as they think fit, but so that the whole amount so borrowed or raised and outstanding at any one time shall not, without the consent of the Company in General Meeting, exceed the nominal amount of the share capital of the Company for the time being. The Directors may for the purpose of securing any money so borrowed or raised or about to be, or any liabilities incurred or intended or expected to be incurred, or which may be assumed by the Company, or for any other purpose, create and issue mortgages, debentures, debenture stock, or other securities on all or any of the Company's undertaking, property, and assets, present and future (including unpaid calls and uncalled capital), either redeemable or perpetual, and either at par or at a premium or discount, and generally in such form and upon such terms in all respects as they think fit, and may redeem and contract to redeem any such securities either at par or at a premium: Provided always that the Board shall not be entitled to create or issue any debentures, debenture stock, or any mortgages or charge on the undertaking, or the whole or any part of the property or assets of the Company by way of security for any sum or sums raised or borrowed in excess of £100,000 (except only for the purpose of securing repayment to the Company's bankers or any temporary or other advances made or to be made to the Company in the ordinary course of business by such bankers, and any moneys advanced to the Company for the purpose of enabling it to acquire any particular property, and which mortgage or charge shall be created at the time of the acquisition by the Company of such property) without the sanction of an Extraordinary Resolution of the Company.

78. The qualification of every Director shall be the holding in his own right and as sole holder of Shares of the Company to the nominal value of not less than £500.

79. Subject to any agreement in writing between the Company and a Director, the remuneration of each Director shall be at the rate of £250 per annum, and an extra £250 per annum for the Chairman. The Directors shall also be entitled by way of further remuneration in respect of each year to an amount equivalent to 2½ per cent. of the net profits which would otherwise have been available for distribution amongst the deferred shareholders in respect of such year before carrying any of such profits to reserve, such further remuneration to be divided amongst them as they may agree, and in default of agreement equally. The Directors shall also be entitled to such additional remuneration (if any) as may from time to time be determined by the Company in General Meeting. Provided that any Director who shall not have served during the whole period for which the remuneration is payable shall receive only an amount proportionate to the time served by him. Any Resolution of the Board reducing or postponing the time for payment of the Directors' remuneration shall bind all the Directors. The Directors may also repay to any Director all travelling, hotel, and other expenses incurred by him in attending Board or Committee Meetings and the Directors shall be entitled to be repaid all such expenses properly and reasonably incurred by them in and about the business of the Company.

80. The Directors may award special remuneration out of the funds of the Company to any Director going or residing abroad in the interests of the Company, or undertaking any work additional to that usually required of Directors of a company similar to this.

96. The Directors may from time to time appoint one or more of their body to be a Managing Director or Manager of the Company, and may fix his or their remuneration either by way of salary or commission, or by conferring a right to participation in the profits of the Company, or by a combination of two or more of those modes.

81. A Director may hold any office or place of profit under the Company in conjunction with his directorship except that of Auditor—and may be appointed thereto upon such terms as to remuneration, tenure of office and otherwise as the Directors may think fit and may retain any such remuneration for his own use and benefit. Furthermore, a Director may accept and hold any directorship in any other Company in which this Company is interested, with or without remuneration, and shall not be accountable to this Company for any such remuneration unless the other Directors of this Company for the time being shall otherwise determine.

The minimum subscription under the Articles of Association is shares to the nominal value of One Thousand Pounds.

The Directors of the Company are interested as follows:—

Sir Sydney Martyn Skinner has sub-underwritten 5,000 Preference shares; Sir William Kay has sub-underwritten 3,000 Preference shares; Mr. Albert Bethel has sub-underwritten 3,000 Preference shares; Mr. James Carlton Cross has sub-underwritten 5,000 Preference shares; and Mr. Harry Le Marchant has sub-underwritten 5,000 Preference shares. The rate of commission payable to the Directors under such sub-underwriting contracts is at the rate of 4 per cent. Each Director has applied for and will be allotted 500 Deferred Ordinary shares in addition to 500 Preference shares, which he has contracted to take and pay for as his qualification.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES.

LONDON MONEY MARKET.

LOAN RATES EASY, BUT DISCOUNTS FIRMER.

There was quite an abundance of money seeking employment in Lombard street on Saturday, and loans over the week-end were freely offered at 3½ down to 3 per cent., while weekly advances were granted at 3¾ per cent. For loans into July, however, 4½ per cent. was charged, and there was quite a good demand for this accommodation. From now on to the end of the month conditions will tend to become increasingly more stringent.

Bank Rate Discount (changed March 5, 1925), 5%.

60 days (fine)	4⅞ 4⅞%	Trade......	5¼	5½%
3 months	4⅞%			5½%
4 months	4⅞%	......	5½	6 %
6 months	4⅞ 4⅞%	......	3½	3 %
Loans to brokers day-to-day				3¾%
" for a week				3 %
Deposit allowance: Banks at call				3 %
Discount houses at call				3 %
" at notice				3¼%

The discount market, ignoring the temporary ease in money, and having regard to the coming end of the half-year demands, quoted bill rates distinctly firmer. Fine two and three months maturities were 4⁷⁄₁₆ per cent., four months 4½ per cent., and sixes 4⅝ per cent., while Friday's Treasuries offered at 4⅝ per cent.

No gold movements were reported at the Bank of England. Silver was in short supply, and, with India still a buyer, the price for bars advanced ⅛d. to 31⁷⁄₁₆d. per ounce for spot and 31⅜d. for forward delivery. Gold was quoted unchanged at 84s. 11½d. per ounce fine.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

CENTRALISED ASSETS.

The Centralised Assets Co., Ltd., was registered as a private company on June 18, with a nominal capital of £50,000 in £1 shares, to adopt an agreement between the Parent Trust and Finance Co., Ltd., and George du Cros as trustee for the company, to invest in any property, and particularly in debentures, shares of companies, trustee securities and mortgages; to carry on business as capitalists, prospectors, owners of factories, forests, hotels, breweries, roads, docks, shipbuilding yards, vehicles, telephones and telegraphs outside the United Kingdom, film producers, etc. The company may not, without the sanction of an extraordinary resolution, have borrowings outstanding above £350,000, nor without such sanction create and issue any debentures (with the exception that it may specifically mortgage freehold and leasehold property, and pledge temporarily securities for bank or other similar loans in the ordinary course of business), nor will it borrow money if unsecured at a higher rate than 10 per cent. per annum on the net amount actually raised. Secretary, W. G. Hadby. Registered office, 9 Park place, St. James's street, London, S.W.1.

WHISKEY PROSPERITY.

Record prosperity would appear to be indicated by the Distillers Company final dividend. The year's distribution is brought up to 20 per cent., which compares with 10 per cent. tax free. The capital, of course, has been increased threefold, to about ten and three-quarter millions, following the amalgamation with Buchanan, Dewar and John Walker. Not the least interesting point about the declaration is that it justifies completely the great advance which has taken place in the price of the shares since the beginning of this year. As the greatest whiskey combine in the world, with a practical monopoly of the trade, the shares deserve to rank on a par with those other Industrial market favourites—Courtaulds and Imperial Tobacco Ordinary. Allowing for the accrued dividend of 2s. 9d. per share, the shares return the quite satisfactory rate of 6¼ per cent. gross.

THE OUTLOOK.

Summer slackness has descended upon the Stock Exchange—a condition favouring the bears, who have made the most of the Chinese disturbances, the depressed Continental exchanges, and the hardening of money in New York, which, after all, does not amount to much. The further fall in gilt-edged Stocks is primarily due to liquidation, which means that those with spare funds have still better opportunities of investing safely. The rally in Home Rails generally is encouraging, but not surprising. A satisfactory settlement of the labour question would, of course, carry this rally much further. Home Railway Prior Charges are cheap, well secured and long dated—three points which should commend them to trustees. Even London and North-Eastern 4 per cent. Second Preference—a trustee stock yielding 6 per cent.—has ample net revenue behind it on the showing of the last report. Industrials are feeling the competition of new issues, the aggregate volume of which this week-end approximates 6½ millions, apart from other emissions in prospect. With these opportunities and those provided by the large number of recent issues now being dealt in, it is hardly surprising that the general run of miscellaneous securities are neglected, speculative interest being confined to one or two of the leading shares, which threaten to become mere gambling counters. The shake-out of weak speculators in Tobacco shares should enable the investor to get in more cheaply.

PINDENIOYA RUBBER.

At an extraordinary meeting, to be held on June 29, resolutions will be submitted that each of the 850,000 shares of 1s. 8d. each be sub-divided into five shares of 4d. each, and that the capital be increased to £71,000 by the creation of 10,000 new shares of 4d. each. The shares will then be consolidated, and every six 4d. shares will constitute one share of 2s. Accounts for 1924 show a net profit of £3,416, making available £5,284, less estate capital expenditure, £1,087, leaving £4,197. The directors recommend a 5 per cent. dividend, carrying £969 forward.

ABRIDGED PROSPECTUS.

This Company has been formed more particularly to acquire and develop the Estate known as Sungei Buloh, together with two adjoining properties in the State of Johore, referred to as "A" Estate and "B" Estate.

The properties are situate in South Johore, on the Straits of Tebrau.

Mr. J. Kenneth Swaine, the well-known Planter and Visiting Agent, visited the properties on the 24th, 25th and 26th of April, 1925. The statements in the full Prospectus with regard to the properties are based on his written report and valuation dated the 8th May, and his subsequent cables dated 8th and 13th May, 1925.

AREA.—The total grant area of the properties according to survey is 2,524 acres, of which about 1,701 acres are planted with Rubber, and about a further 221 acres are available for extension. Mr. Swaine gives the apparent ages of the trees judged by growth, as follows:—

Acres.		Acres.
408	6½ years and over.	1,701
63	6 years.	221	partially planted or suitable for planting.
464	5 "
195	4½ "	123	under young Coconuts.
231	4 "
183	3 "	479	swamp.
124	2½ "
33	younger.
1,701	acres. Total area under Rubber.	2,524	acres. Total Grant area.

The 479 acres of swamp are useless for planting Rubber. The 123 acres under Coconuts are not taken into consideration by Mr. Swaine in his valuation.

Mr. Swaine, in his cables above mentioned, states that according to the latest information the Standard Production for 1925 is likely to exceed 300,000lbs. Information has since been received that the Inspector's recommendation is 330,140lbs.

ESTIMATED CROPS AND PROFITS.—On the basis of cost of production and Crops estimated by Mr. Swaine, as given below, and assuming an average price for Rubber well below its present value, the future profits for the seven years ending the 30th June, 1926 to 1932, subject to London expenditure, are estimated as follows:—

YEAR.	Exportable Percentage	Crop	Cost of production per lb.	Selling Prices per lb.	Profit	Return per cent. on Capital
		Lbs.	d	s d	£
1925-26	75	196,938	10.92	1 9	8,271	8
1926-27	90	291,330	10.09	1 9	9,614	9
1927-28	100	386,650	8.99	1 6	14,564	14½
1928-29	100	483,550	8.68	1 6	18,001	18
1929-30	100	523,005	8.40	1 6	20,944	20
1930-31	100	555,575	8.12	1 6	22,871	22
1931-32	100	569,950	8.12	1 6	23,463	23

VALUATION.—After deducting $57,180, or £6,671, being his estimated cost of buildings and putting the properties in good order, Mr. Swaine values the properties at £82,260. This valuation is made on the basis of an average profit of 7d. per pound for 7 years, and includes a sum of £1,781 in respect of the above-mentioned area available for extension, of which some 10 acres are partially planted.

PURCHASE PRICE.—The purchase price payable in cash by the Company to the Vendors, Eastern Industries, Limited, of 65 London Wall, London, E.C.2, is the amount payable by the Vendors to the present owners, namely $651,480, and a sum of £1,250, together approximately £77,256, equivalent to £45 8s. 4d. per planted acre.

The Vendors are discharging the cost of Mr. Swaine's report upon the properties, and of the detailed survey thereof by Messrs. Swan and Maclaren, of Singapore.

The properties will be taken over from the date of completion of the purchase, namely, on or about the 30th June, 1925.

WORKING CAPITAL.—After payment of the purchase price and the preliminary expenses, estimated at £4,000, the proceeds of this issue should, in the opinion of the Directors, provide a sum sufficient for the expenditure estimated by Mr. Swaine, and for the general purposes of the Company.

Messrs. W. I. Carr, Sons and Co. have guaranteed the subscription of the 1,000,000 Shares now offered for a commission of 4 per cent. and 1 per cent. payable by the Company.

Various sub-underwriting contracts have been entered into to which the Company is not a party.

The Directors are interested as follows:—

Mr. H. B. Carritt, or his firm, have sub-underwritten 50,000 Shares. Mr. H. L. Coghlan, Mr. A. H. Doherty and Mr. A. F. Goodrich have sub-underwritten respectively 10,000 shares, 5,000 Shares and 5,000 Shares. Mr. Coghlan and Mr. Doherty are both Directors of and Shareholders in Eastern Industries, Limited, and hold therein 300 Shares each out of a total issued capital of 900 Shares.

Application will be made to the Committee of the Stock Exchange, London, for permission to deal in the Shares now offered.

Copies of the full Prospectus (upon the terms of which alone applications will be received) and Forms of Application for Shares can be obtained from the Bankers, Brokers and Solicitors, and at the Registered Offices of the Company.

London, 18th June, 1925.

This Form must be sent with remittance for the amount payable on application to MIDLAND BANK, LIMITED, Head Office, 5 Threadneedle street, London, E.C.2, or branches; or to CHARTERED BANK OF INDIA, AUSTRALIA AND CHINA, 38 Bishopsgate, London, E.C.2.

CHARGE OF WIFE MURDER.

ACCUSED MAN REMANDED.

At a Special Court before Mr. P. O'Donoghue, District Justice, at Newcastle West, on Saturday, Michael Kiely, of Knocknachigga, Athea, was charged, on remand, with the murder of his wife, Honore Kiely, on May 15.

Sergt. Sheehy stated that on visiting the house he found no bloodstains in the kitchen, where the accused man said that the woman had met her death; but there was blood in the bedroom, where the body was found.

Mrs. Doody, a cousin of the deceased woman, said that she had visited the house frequently, and had seen nothing to indicate that the couple did not live on peaceful terms. On one occasion while she was there they had a dispute.

Evidence of arrest having been heard, the accused man was remanded until Saturday next.

The Irish Antiquities and the Arts and Industries divisions of the National Museum in Kildare street, Dublin, which have been closed to the public since June, 1918, will be re-opened to-day. Last year part of the Natural History side and portion of the Irish Antiquities and the Arts and Industries sections were made available to visitors for a time, and the parts which are re-opening to-day are two of the three main divisions of the Museum.

As an illustration of the important part that the Museum plays in the public life, and as a justification for the constant plea for its re-opening, it is worth noting that in a year prior to the outbreak of the European War visitors came to the Museum at the rate of a thousand a day. In one year 350,000 visitors were recorded. Before it was recently closed the number had reached a substantial figure—between 600 and 700 a day.

THE SENATE CHAMBER.

During the six or seven weeks that have elapsed since the removal of the Senate to Leinster House a transformation has been effected, and those who visit the building will fail to recognise the chamber in which the Senate carried on its deliberations. There is now housed there a splendid collection, mainly of Irish and English furniture. Naturally, there are fine specimens on view, the most interesting, perhaps, being a magnificent fire-place of white marble, taken out beautifully in Bossi work—an art introduced to Dublin in the past century by an Italian of that name. The Clerk's office and adjuncts are occupied by the Museum's very fine collection of musical instruments. These are a most valuable and interesting lot, mainly Irish. For instance, there is a whole range of violins by Perry.

The Design on the Hollywood Stone.

There are also some fine Irish harps—notably one belonging to Lady Charlemont, wife of the great Earl of Charlemont. There is also a very beautiful harpsichord by Ferdinand Webber, bought only within the last twelve months, and which has been used on two occasions by Commendatore Esposito to illustrate harpsichord music for the Royal Dublin Society. A rare exhibit is a set of musical glasses of the early eighteenth century. The piano used by Thomas Moore for the arrangement of his melodies is also a prized exhibit.

Passing from this department into the Central Court, there is in the arts and industries division, some choice specimens covering a wide range. They include the Assyrian, Egyptian, Greek and Roman, and the ethological collections. Here are objects representing applied arts, such as furniture, silver plate, iron, bronze and brass work, pottery, porcelain, glass, embroideries, lace, etc. In these days, when there is so much agitation for drainage work, an interesting relic is a beautiful piece of silver plate, bearing an inscription that it was presented to one "Lancelot Sandys" in 1772 by the then "Dublin Society," for his work in reclaiming land.

RARE GLASS AND CHINA.

The glass section contains some rare species of glass and china. There is a beautiful exhibit of china ware, but particularly valuable are two exquisite dishes of Delft Doré made in the 17th century by Adien Pynaker—in truth, worth their weight in gold.

The Irish Antiquities Division includes the collection made by the Royal Irish Academy during the last century. In that collection all the well-known treasures of early Christian Ireland, the Ardagh Chalice, the Tara Brooch, the Bell of St. Patrick, with its Shrine, as well as other important relics of the Christian Mediaeval period in Ireland. Included also is the enormous treasure of prehistoric gold ornaments. The National Museum possesses the wealthiest collection, at any rate of gold European ornaments, of any museum in the world. The British Museum may be richer, but its collection includes Indian and Asiatic ornaments. In this division are also exhibited wonderful and exhaustive collections from the Stone and Bronze Ages. These include the specimens recently secured by the Royal Irish Academy from the Knowles' collection at Sotheby's.

Another very highly-prized addition to this division, secured during the last year, is an old chalice, dated 1494, believed to be the earliest dated specimen. Associated with the Galway families of Burke and O'Malley, it is a silver-gilt vessel of very beautiful make, exquisite craftsmanship, and delicate proportions.

THE LATEST ADDITION.

There has been added during the last day or two only an object which has long been the subject of study and interest for antiquaries. This is a great boulder, which, until its removal last week, stood at a spot a couple of miles from Hollywood, Co. Wicklow, on the way to Glendalough. Weighing over two tons, its removal was a work of great difficulty.

At first sight it will appear to be simply an ice-worn stone, but on closer examination it will be found to bear an incised design of unusual character. This design, to which attention has been directed by Dr. Goddard H. Orpen in a paper contributed to the "Journal of the Royal Society of Antiquaries of Ireland" in December, 1923, is nothing less than a conventional representation of the famous labyrinth of the Minotaur at Cnossus in Crete, and thus forms a link between Ireland and the pre-Hellenic culture of the Ægean Sea. The boulder has been brought to the Museum by the Royal Irish Academy from a point in the Wicklow Mountains, right in the track believed to have been followed by Saint Kevin when he was working his way across to Glendalough from Hollywood. The question as to the period at which the labyrinth was incised on this boulder, and by whom, naturally arises; a solution will, no doubt, be forthcoming when the learned archæologists, who are accustomed to deal with such matters, have investigated all the circumstances.

The third division of the Museum, which it has not yet been decided to re-open, comprises the Natural History Division, including zoology, botany, mineralogy, geology and palæontology. It is the fashion to separate entomology from zoology, as is done in the Natural History Branch of the British Museum, but in the National Museum in Kildare street the two are kept together, as the authorities specialise in Irish fauna, which is in itself very important on account of Ireland's geographical position as the Western outpost of Europe. In the natural history division there is one large room specially devoted to Irish animals, and the names of most of them are written bilingually—indeed, tri-lingually—English, Irish, and the scientific name.

There are, needless to say, many arresting objects here, but, perhaps, the most striking are reconstructed specimens of the great Irish deer, or elk. There are a couple of fine specimens, the larger of which shows a magnificent pair of antlers of fully twelve feet spread. It is believed to be the finest specimen extant.

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE BRIGADE.

ANNUAL COMPETITIONS IN DUBLIN.

The St. John Ambulance Brigade in Ireland had now firmly established itself as a civic institution, and had earned the confidence of all members of the community, said Sir John Lumsden, K.B.E., Commissioner, at the annual inspection and ambulance and nursing competitions of the Brigade in the grounds of Merrion square, Dublin, on last Saturday evening.

Almost three hundred members of all ranks were on parade. The competitions were carried out with characteristic earnestness and skill, and were witnessed by a large concourse of people. Both the afternoon and the venue were ideal for such a function, and the Pipers' Band of the Brigade performed during the afternoon.

THE AWARDS.

The competitions were in charge of Acting Assistant Commissioner A. J. Connor. Six teams entered for the Dublin Ambulance Challenge Cup, the gift of the Earl of Iveagh, K.P. The judges, Dr. W. C. Stevenson and Corps Superintendent J. H. Webb, decided as follows:—Jacob and Co.'s Ambulance Division 1 team, 1st; Morgan Mooney and Co.'s Ambulance Division, 2nd; and St. James's Gate Ambulance Division 1 team, 3rd.

The Irish Women's Challenge Cup, the gift of the Hon. Mrs. Ernest Guinness, was won by the Harcourt Nursing Division. The Headquarters' Nursing Division was second, and Jacob's Nursing Division third. The judges were Dr. R. J. Rowlette, Dr. R. de Courcy Wheeler, Dr. Merrick, Miss Denison and Miss Poë, M.B.E.

The Novices' Challenge Cup, the gift of Dr. Ella Webb, M.B.E., was won by Headquarters' Nursing Division. Jacob's Nursing Division A Team was second; and Jacob's Nursing Division B Team third. The judges were Superintendent T. Crowley, Miss Comyn, A.R.R.C., and Miss Poë.

The Midleton-Curtis Challenge Cup was won by the Harcourt Nursing Division squad.

The Individual Challenge Cup (women), the gift of Lady Arnott, D.B.E., was won by Mrs. Frances Burroughs (Headquarters' Nursing Division).

The Individual Challenge Cup (men), the gift of District Surgeon Seton Pringle, F.R.C.S.I., was won by Sergeant G. Moore (Morgan Mooney's Ambulance Division).

A Returns Cup, presented for the best kept annual returns in the women's section, was won by Kingstown Nursing Division; a Returns Shield, by the City of Dublin Nursing Division; and a Returns Cup for men by the St. James's Gate Ambulance Division.

At the conclusion of the competitions the ambulance and nursing divisions "fell in," and the Commissioner was received with the general salute.

COMMISSIONER'S ADDRESS.

Sir John Lumsden, the Commissioner, who was the inspecting officer, having made the inspection, congratulated all ranks on their smart turn out and on the excellent manner in which they had carried out their drill, maintaining that discipline and smartness which latterly had so characterised their evolutions when on public duty as a Brigade. The march past was excellent, he said, and quite up to the standard of previous years. He also congratulated them on their meritorious public service during the past year. The Brigade had now, he believed, firmly established itself as a civic institution, and had earned the confidence of all members of the community—certainly the objects of the Brigade were purely altruistic and patriotic, and the men and women were alone concerned with the relief of suffering given in an organised fashion, taking care not to overlap with existing organisations, always ready in every emergency and always aiming at efficiency.

During the past year at every public function where first aid might be required the Brigade had had its ambulance men and women on duty—race meetings, football matches, fetes, Tailteann Games, horse shows, cinema theatres and street duty. The ambulance huts at Foster place and Nelson's Pillar were open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., and numerous accidents, some of a very serious character, were treated, and, if necessary removed to hospital. The Ambulance Transport Service was in daily request for poor patients going to and from hospital—always free to those who cannot pay and at a nominal charge to others.

CHILD WELFARE.

The Commissioner said that he particularly wanted to mention the developments of the child welfare work, which had now grown into a very important department. Twenty to thirty poor women—expectant mothers—were given one good meal daily at 40 Merrion square for two months before their confinement and six weeks afterwards. This had proved of great help, and Miss Barrington, who was in charge, reported remarkable improvement in the mothers and general nutrition of the infants. There had been much suffering and starvation this winter, owing to unemployment, and if they had money they could have done ten, or, indeed, one hundred, times as much. As far as he was aware, the existing Civic Child Welfare Committees had, as yet, not tackled this side of this important problem, and it was hoped that they would utilise the services of a body such as the Brigade in the new schemes at present under consideration.

In the West of Ireland much distress had prevailed, and it might not be known that the Society of Friends had been for some months collecting garments and clothing for these poor, suffering and, in many instances, starving cottagers. The packing of bales of clothes had all been carried out at their headquarters by their ambulance men and women every night. Three hundred and forty-two bales had been packed, and the local district nurses had testified to the great assistance that this had been in these places.

Sir John Lumsden congratulated the Brigade on its good and efficient work at the Lourdes pilgrimage last September. He said that fifty men and nurses were with the pilgrims, and he had received from the clergy in charge the very highest praise of the kindness and efficiency displayed by all ranks. In the early part of the year the appeal for funds, so ably organised by Mrs. Maud Walsh, had produced close on £2,000, and he would like to take that opportunity of thanking Mrs. Walsh, and more particularly the public who had responded so sympathetically. In conclusion, he hoped that, now that the Brigade had a fine hall and headquarters at Strand street, better opportunities would be given for training, and that Brigade efficiency would not alone be maintained, but increased.

District Officer A. J. MacWilliam was the parade commander.

Mrs. Gerald FitzGibbon distributed the cups and prizes to the winners, and was thanked for her kindness in coming to do so.

MASKED MEN IN CORK.

SHOTS FIRED AT MIDNIGHT.

The Civic Guard and military in Cork are investigating the complaint of Jeremiah Long, 17 Cody's lane, off Blarney street, who states that at midnight on Saturday several masked and armed men held him up at Old Market place and threatened him, afterwards driving away in a motor car which came down Blarney street.

Another incident is reported from Blackpool, where, at about 12.15 a.m., shots were fired by men in a motor car, who then drove away towards Ballyvolane.

THE LATE CANON DOWNING.

The funeral of the late Very Rev. D. Canon Downing, P.P., will take place this morning to Glasnevin Cemetery, Dublin, from St. Joseph's Church, Berkeley road, after Office and Requiem Mass.

The remains were received at the church last night by the Most Rev. Dr. Byrne, Archbishop of Dublin. The Rev. J. O'Callaghan, C.C., St. Joseph's, presided at the Requiem Office, which was sung by the united city confraternities.

The attendance included:—The Right Rev. Monsignor Wall, the Right Rev. Monsignor Walsh, President Clonliffe College; the Very Rev. Canon Smith, Finglas; the Rev. James Dempsey, P.P., Clontarf; the Very Rev. John Flanagan, Administrator, Fairview; the Very Rev. J. J. O'Reilly, Administrator, Pro-Cathedral, Marlborough street; the Rev. E. McCarthy, Arran quay; the Rev. Father Gallagher, C.M., and the Rev. Father Ward, C.M., St. Peter's, Phibsborough; the Rev. Joseph P. Gorman and the Rev. James Doherty, St. Joseph's, Berkeley road.

LOCAL ELECTIONS TO-MORROW.

VOTERS' RESPONSIBILITY.

VIEWS OF THE DUBLIN CITIZENSHIP COUNCIL.

To-morrow the elections for the county councils and the urban councils in the Free State will take place.

The voter's responsibility was the main subject of discussion at the Dublin Christian Citizenship Council's annual meeting on June 18, when a resolution was passed urging upon all Christian people in districts where elections are held the duty of recording their votes for candidates who will administer public funds in the best interests of the community.

Miss D. Mellone, in proposing the resolution, deplored the ignorance and apathy which prevailed in regard to this primary obligation of citizenship. The public bodies to be elected next Tuesday would control for the next three years a number of matters that were absolutely vital. The votes then cast would decide whether infant life is to be safeguarded by a proper administration of the Child Welfare Act and by insistence on a pure milk supply. They would also decide whether the Council used to the full their powers to make school attendance a reality, and to provide school meals, medical inspection of children and public playgrounds. Voters in Pembroke and Blackrock had power to avert the total ruin which threatened their beautiful foreshore, from existing methods of dealing with sewage, and from unsightly and unsavoury refuse-dumps. In view of these things, it would be disastrous if the elections were characterised by the same lack of public spirit as the recent Rathdown Poor Law elections.

The Rev. R. M. Gwynn, in seconding the resolution, urged the importance of voting for men and women who would deal speedily and energetically with the scandal of insanitary houses. He instanced the need for such action by a vivid description of certain cottages at Finglas, with leaking roofs, damp walls, flooded floors, a flimsy partition between bedroom and living-room, and a total lack of sanitation. Six years ago they had been condemned; but the local authority has taken no steps to improve their condition, and some of them were to-day housing as many as ten adults. There was no immediate prospect of alternative accommodation; and while public bodies dawdled people were dying.

Mr. B. C. Waller urged the need for energetic support of the efforts of the Central Housing Council to arouse public opinion, and described its plans of a Housing Week in October. His appeal was backed by the Chairman (the Dean of Christ Church), the High Sheriff (Mr. Hubbard Clark) and others.

The importance of a careful study of Irish social conditions, rural as well as urban, was dealt with by other speakers; and the possibility was considered of holding a representative conference in 1926 on social problems and their solution.

LIGHTING OF RANELAGH.

A RESIDENT'S PROTEST.

Mr. W. E. Davies, 4 Montrose terrace, Ranelagh, writes in reference to the public lighting of Annavilla, stating that in view of the approaching municipal elections in Rathmines it might be appropriate to bring a matter of long-standing grievance before the electors, so that it might be remedied by the only means left open to them—namely, the polling booth.

For some considerable time, he states, the lighting of Annavilla has been nothing short of a public disgrace. During a long period the Lighting Committee did not deem the residents of this avenue worthy of any light at all, but when two petitions from the residents had been received three lamps were lit. Although Annavilla is the main thoroughfare from Donnybrook, Clonskeagh, to Upper Rathmines, it had two lamps less than the adjoining street, which is virtually a by-way, and is scarcely used by anyone apart from the residents.

During last winter, much against the wishes of the residents, the only lamp supplying Montrose terrace was removed across the road, and another was put up on the same side, against a blank wall, thereby losing 40 per cent. of their efficiency.

"Public representatives," states the writer, in conclusion, "who so flagrantly ignore the wishes of the residents immediately concerned are certainly unworthy of their further suffrages. Candidates who are prepared to take this matter up and remedy this public disgrace will receive the solid support of the residents and a large number of electors who use this thoroughfare."

RATHMINES AND RATHGAR ELECTIONS.

The polling for the Rathmines and Rathgar Urban and County Dublin Council Elections will take place to-morrow, and an exhaustive canvass has been carried out by the candidates.

Rathmines, Rathgar and Pembroke voters should not allow themselves to be confused owing to the fact that the Presiding Officer will supply them with two separate voting papers. Two elections are being held in order to save expense and inconvenience. Voters will vote for the Urban Candidates for their own ward, and also for the seven vacancies that exist in the Rathmines and Pembroke Area for the County Council.

MOTORISTS' APPEAL.

The Executive Committee of the Irish Motorists' Union has passed a resolution calling upon electors to support: (1) Members of the Union who are candidates at the local elections; (2) candidates who are pledged to provide roads suitable for modern motor transport.

SHOP HOURS ACT.

DUBLIN MERCHANTS' PROTEST

The Irish Drapers', Outfitters' and Boot Traders' Association has sent a protest against the Shop Hours Bill to every member of the Senate and Dail. The measure, which has received a second reading in the Upper House, provides for the early closing of shops in the drapery, tailoring, outfitting, house-furnishing, boot and shoe trades in the City of Dublin, and in the adjacent townships of Rathmines, Pembroke, Blackrock, Dun Laoghaire, Dalkey, Killiney, and Ballybrack.

The Association states that the measure has not the support of the majority in the trades concerned—as claimed by Senator Douglas, one of its sponsors—and that it is against the wishes of the great majority of the working class shopping public.

"If it should happen that the Dail passes this measure, we submit that one of the first effects it will have will be to swell the ranks of the unemployed, as traders will not be in a position to keep their usual number of assistants."

REPERTORY COMPANY AT THE ABBEY THEATRE.

Miss Lily Bailey, who was trained in the Tree school, is acting as producer for the Modern Repertory Company, which will appear nightly at the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, from Tuesday to Saturday of this week. The company is producing two plays by Constance Powell Anderson, "The Curate of St. Chad's," a three-act piece, which is described as "Four days in a man's life," and "The Heart of a Clown," a phantasy. Both plays have been seen and cordially received in Dublin, and they are certain of a cordial welcome during the company's present visit. Several of the names in the repertory company are well known to Dublin theatre-goers. Pol Ua Fearghail, a Gaelic scholar, is said to be a first class actor. Miss Muriel Munro has toured for several years as Peg, in "Peg o' My Heart," and as Paddy, in "Paddy, the Next Best Thing." There are also Dave Watson, Margot Brunton, Dorothy Casey, Lydia Sheehan, Valentine Roberts, Donal Ward, Joy Wilson, and Madeliene Kidd.

At Sandringham Church yesterday morning a memorial window to the late Sir Dighton Probyn was dedicated by the Rector, the Rev. Dr. Rowland Grant, and the large congregation present included Princess Victoria, who was attended by the Hon. Charlotte Knollys and Sir Henry Streatfield.

BEET SUGAR VENTURE.

QUESTION OF SITE FOR FACTORY.

(From Our Agricultural Correspondent.)

Between N. Cork and the Thurles district of Co. Tipperary there is keen competition to secure the establishment of the first beet sugar factory in Ireland. The Government has already made arrangements as to the terms upon which such a factory should be established. It now lies with the farmers of the districts concerned to rise to the occasion by guaranteeing the acreage required. Insufficient knowledge as to methods of cultivation need be no barrier, as beet cultivation is just as simple as growing mangels, and in most counties experimental plots will be grown this season. Trials have frequently shown that beet of the high sugar content can be grown easily in this country.

The problem is to get sufficient farmers within a given area to grow the quantity required to keep a sugar factory going. If every farmer in the districts concerned decided to give a portion of his holding over to the cultivation of beet, a decision as to the location of the factory could speedily be made.

Thurles, it is claimed, has many advantages in this connection. Besides being in the centre of a fertile tillage district, it has a good railway service linking up a wide stretch of country. The promoters of the movement in North Cork, having been first in the field, claim that that area would be most suitable for the purpose. This, however, is a matter which must be left to the judgment of the experts concerned.

THE OLD 101ST.

ANNUAL DINNER OF THE MUNSTERS.

"If there are only two of the old Munsters left we shall hold an Old Comrades' dinner," said Colonel D. G. Johnston, who presided at the annual meeting and dinner of the Royal Munster Fusiliers' Association at the Victoria Mansions Restaurant in London on Saturday night.

The Chairman's observation was made by way of a reply to General Doyle, who, in expressing regret at the disbandment of the regiment, said that as a result those annual meetings should come to an end some day.

THE BAND OF BROTHERS.

Colonel Johnston, in proposing the toast of "The Regiment," said that he was sorry that the Colonel-in-Chief of the Regiment (General Sir H. S. G. Miles) was unable to be present. The Munster Fusiliers had a proud and honourable history, which it would take volumes to do credit to. The regiment had never failed when called on, and it had sent forth a great number of the bravest men that ever enlisted.

"These, of course," said Colonel Johnston, "are old and well-known things, but I believe that everyone present feels as I do. Apart from the regiment's record, there was a spirit of goodwill existing between all ranks that was never stronger than now.

"In olden days," Colonel Johnston continued "the Munster Fusiliers were known as 'the band of brothers.' Thank God, we have never been anything else, and although it is a bitter disappointment to us that the regiment has been disbanded, we shall live in memory, and we have the satisfaction of knowing that we have handed down a tradition that would be worthy of any regiment."

General Doyle, responding to the toast, said that these gatherings must come to an end some day, as the regiment was disbanded, but he appealed to all ranks to swell the numbers of the Old Comrades' Association, which was doing such a splendid work in keeping alive the traditions and the spirit of comradeship that existed in the Munsters.

An interesting feature of the dinner was that two of the company who were present were Mr. A. H. Crouch and his nephew, Mr. A. S. Crouch, who are descendants of Frederick Crouch, the composer of the famous Irish melody, "Kathleen Mavoureen." True to the family traditions, they contributed a large portion of the musical programme.

Colonel D. G. Johnston presided, and among the other officers present were: Colonel Jervis, General Boyle, Colonel Bent, Colonel S. T. Banning, (Hon. Sec.), Colonel Crosbie, Colonel Drage, Major Holland, Major Gorham, Captain Day, Captain Sewell, Captain Jordeson, Captain Buey and Captain Foredick.

He paid a tribute to the successful efforts made by young missioners trained in that and other Irish Colleges in Ireland in spreading the faith of St. Patrick in other lands.

The Very Rev. P. Sheehy, D.D. (Sydney), said that he was glad to find, after many years' absence, that All Hallows College was carried on with the same old democratic and ecclesiastical spirit.

THE WOLFE TONE ANNIVERSARY.

LARGE GATHERINGS AT BODENSTOWN.

Over a thousand people witnessed the Wolfe Tone annual commemoration celebration at Bodenstown, Co. Kildare, yesterday. First to the grave of the "father of Irish Republicanism" came the Free State Minister of Defence, members of the Army Council, of the Legislature and of the public. The breaking of a tricolour flag, the discharge of three blank volleys by a firing party, a review of troops and an address by the Defence Minister, and the chief ceremony of the day had concluded.

Aeroplanes were still circling overhead and battalions marching off the parade ground when the approach of the Republican pilgrims was observed. Departing Staff officers making for their cars rubbed shoulders with uniformed women of the Cumann na mBhan. Around a bend of the road leading to the cemetery one had here and there a glimpse of marching men in civilian attire and military formation. It was a confused jumble—Free Staters and Republicans, dust and music, soldiers and aeroplanes, "hacks" and motor cars. But out of it all eventually came the Republican pilgrimage. The placing of a wreath on the tomb, the sounding of the "Last Post," and an oration by Mr. de Valera, and the second and last demonstration was over.

MILITARY CEREMONY.

Never, perhaps, have so many people gathered in the lone little graveyard. Fully eight hundred attended the military ceremony. Among the first to arrive were Mr. Blythe, the Minister of Finance, and Mr. Michael Hayes, Speaker of the Dail. Later they were joined by Mr. John O'Byrne, the Attorney-General, and by many members of the Dail and the Senate. It was a few minutes past one o'clock when the Minister of Defence, accompanied by members of the Army Council, passed into the cemetery.

After the Minister had laid a wreath—from the officers and men of the Army—upon the grave, a young officer stepped forward and broke the tricolour. His action was followed by the firing of three volleys over the grave, and the sounding of the "Last Post" by a bugler.

Immediately afterwards Mr. Hughes proceeded to the parade ground where the main body of troops had assembled in review order. To the music of the No. 2 Army Band the troops, to the number of about 800, marched past the saluting base in column of companies. Having resumed their original positions they next advanced in review order to within about twenty paces of the platform to be addressed by the Minister.

It was fitting, said Mr. Hughes, that the few remarks he was about to make should be addressed to those who represented the Army of the Irish nation, in the defence of which Wolfe Tone's life was spent.

"Soldiers!" he concluded, "let the zeal of Tone inspire you. Learn that wise counsels and daring schemes are frustrated by indecision and cowardice; that there is nothing so fatal to success as delay. Learn, above all, the importance of strenuous work. And if from time to time the labour seems monotonous, the duties tedious, and the conditions hard, remember that Tone, in the midst of his poverty and privations, consoled himself with the recollection that it is in vain for soldiers to complain."

At the conclusion of the Minister's address the Army Band played the "Soldier's Song," and this brought the ceremony to a close.

Amongst those who took part were—Major-General McMahon, Chief of Staff; Major-General Hugo McNeill, Adjutant General; Major-General Sean McKeon, and Major-General M. Brennan.

The parade commander was Colonel J. McLoughlin, and the troops participating consisted of the 5th, 15th, 8th and 26th infantry battalions, one battery of artillery, one squadron (nine aeroplanes) of the Army Air Corps under Major Molony, one company of the Army Medical Services, one military police corps, and one troop of mounted infantry.

REPUBLICAN PILGRIMAGE.

A little while after the conclusion of this first ceremony came the Republican demonstration. Mr. de Valera having laid on the grave a floral cross similar to that placed there by Mr. Hughes, a party of the Fianna Boy Scouts sounded the "Last Post."

Afterwards, in a field adjacent to the graveyard, the Republican leader delivered an address. With him were half a dozen of the Republican T.D.'s and some Canadian and Australian priests.

THE HORSE SHOW.

EXCURSIONS TO DUBLIN ARRANGED.

At a meeting of the Horse Show Committee of the Royal Dublin Society—the Hon. Mr. Justice Wylie in the chair—a resolution of condolence was passed with Captain Fowler on the death of his son.

The Horse Show official programme for 1925 was approved. Judges of breeding stock, riding cobs and ponies, and jumping competitions, etc., were appointed, as were also the stewards and veterinary surgeons.

The prizes and conditions of competition for the new class provided for horses suitable for officers' chargers were adopted, it being arranged that a remount officer will attend and purchase selected horses in this class at £120 each.

The Lady Helen McCalmont's offer of a challenge cup for a special ladies' class for hunters, to be ridden by ladies side saddle and wearing hunting costume, was accepted with thanks, and it was agreed that a replica of the cup be given by the Society to the rider of the winning horse each year until the cup is won outright.

The Director reported the arrangements made regarding the sales of bloodstock (including the provision of a new commodious sale ring) and hunter auction sales, which were approved; also the catering, motor garage and advertising arrangements (both at home and abroad), which were considered satisfactory as enhancing the reputation of the Show for efficiency.

The Director announced that the following excursion facilities will be provided by the Irish railway companies:—

(a) Week-end tickets issued on Saturday and Sunday previous to the Show, available for return up to and including the following Saturday (August 8th).

(b) Excursion tickets at single fares on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of the Show week, available for return up to and including the following Monday (August 10th).

(c) Return tickets at single fares for exhibitors on surrender of the usual form of voucher; also return tickets for men in charge of horses—no voucher necessary in the latter case.

DAMAGES FOR LOSS OF A PONY.

At Boyle Circuit Court on Saturday, before Judge Wakely, Thomas Cassidy, of Cloonerim, Ballinlough, sued John J. Gurn, of Strokestown, for £25 damages for loss of a pony and trap which had to be destroyed after defendant's motor car had collided with it and broken its leg.

The judge awarded plaintiff £17—£14 for the loss of the pony and £3 for consequential damages.

ANGLO-DUTCH CROP SALES.

As many shareholders of the Anglo-Dutch Plantations of Java have written making inquiries with regard to crops and forward sales of tea and rubber for the current year, the directors have authorised the following statement:—

The tea crop for the year ended December 31, 1925, is estimated at 9,350,000lbs., of which one-third is sold forward at 1s. 2½d. per lb. and one-sixth at 1s. 5½d., or an average of slightly over 1s. 3½d., London, for half of the crop.

The rubber crop for the year is estimated between 5,500,000lbs. and 6,000,000lbs. A new contract has been entered into with the General Rubber Co. of New York, with the elimination of the maximum and minimum prices, and covers the greater part of the crop. Of this year's total crop, the directors have made arrangements by which the price of 2,400,000lbs. is stabilised at approximately 1s. 3½d. per lb., Java. For the balance of the first grades, the price received for delivery in Java is the daily spot price for smoked sheet in London.

M. Bersin (Counsellor of the Russian Mission in London) has been appointed Soviet Plenipotentiary Minister to Austria.

THE IRISH PONY SOCIETY'S SHOW.

CAPITAL RIDING AND JUMPING.

The Irish Pony Society held its fifth annual show on Saturday last in the grounds of St. Helen's, Booterstown, which were placed at the society's disposal by Sir Harold Nutting. The weather was ideal, and there was a large attendance, particularly during the afternoon, when the jumping competitions took place. For these latter events the entries were good, and the sport provided was exceptionally keen and exhilarating. The horsemanship of the ladies, of whom there were quite a goodly number, was especially noteworthy, and evoked unstinted applause. One or two of the younger ladies were very spectacular in their style, and acquitted themselves with a rare dash. The plucky display of Miss Eileen Tuite, a very tiny little girl, whose mount refused the first jump, and also the stone wall, won admiration. No whit dismayed at the waywardness of her mount, she set him to the task persistently, and amidst warm applause completed the course. As against all this show and display, there was a splendid exhibition by Mrs. Marshall, who achieved a double success on Lady Helen McCalmont's Binty.

The judges in the pony classes were Mr. H. P. Hanly and Captain W. E. L. Eccles. Miss E. F. Bobbett and Colonel R. H. Holmes judged the small pony classes. Mr. Samuel Ewing was the judge in the harness division, and in the jumping competitions the judges were Messrs. W. J. Fennell, W. P. Hanly and Captain W. E. L. Eccles.

The hon. veterinary surgeons were Messrs. Fred. A. Heney and James Doyle.

The following were the results:—

SLEEPING IN SHIFTS.

RELAYS IN STRANDHILL LODGINGS.

When it was mentioned at Boyle last Saturday that an applicant for part of certain moneys held by the court proposed to send his invalid sister to Strandhill, a Co. Galway seaside place, Judge Wakely said: "That is where they sleep in shifts. Be sure and see you get a room for twenty-four hours, because if not, you will have to turn out at the end of eight hours and let another crowd turn in; and then they get out at the end of eight hours and a third crowd turn in. I know it, because it was proved in a case before me. That is what is called sleeping in shifts—in every sense."

NORTHERN EDUCATION ACT.

TEACHERS DEFEND THE MINISTRY.

Mr. H. A. Macaulay presided at the annual Conference of the Protestant Teachers' Union in Belfast on Saturday. He said that they, as teachers, were vitally concerned—more than any other individuals or group of individuals—in the educational welfare of their pupils and of their province. It was duty as a profession to see that the benefits of the Education Act were not sacrificed to insincerity and the political aspirations of any particular group. If religious instruction in their schools was mainly to keep alive the hostile segregation of the sects, then, as teachers, they should declare plainly that they would have none of it.

As a professional body they had stood aside in the controversy which hurled baseless and ridiculous allegations at the head of the Ministry. During its course the teachers had heard themselves libelled by inference and innuendo and found themselves catalogued with atheists and agnostics, Turks and infidels, by men whose only contribution to educational progress in many instances had consisted of that libel.

Mr. John Nesbitt, F.T.S.L., moved a resolution to the effect that the teachers undertake to continue Scriptural instruction in which they had been engaged during the past. At the same time they protested against the campaign against the Education Act, holding that there was no danger that public elementary schools would be secularised, and being strongly of opinion that in the interests of the education of the young existing schools should be transferred. Much of the agitation carried on by the clergy and their supporters against the Education Act had been manufactured.

The resolution was adopted.

The Executive Committee's report urged the teachers' claims to fixity of tenure, or in the alternative, reasonable compensation for teachers who might be displaced owing to the building of new schools or the amalgamation of existing schools. Already, it was stated, schools under clerical control were being closed in certain districts on the plea that the buildings were required for church purposes.

Abdel Krim has stated his peace terms in an interview.—(Page 7.)

SPORTING.

At Proudstown Park on Saturday South Pole won the Beauparc Plate, Island Magee the Athlumney Plate, Rising Moon the Blackwater Plate, Blue Fish the Sallypark Plate, Silpho the Donaghpatrick Plate, and Montpelier the Amateur Plate.—(Page 10.)

At Windsor Mint d'Or won the Great Exhibition Three-Year-Old Handicap.—(Page 10.)

FINANCIAL.

There was a plethora of loanable credit in Lombard street on Saturday, and loans over the week-end were offered down to 3 per cent. Discount rates were distinctly firmer. Among exchanges, Italian lira improved.—(Page 4.)

The Little Foxes.

All circumstances—halcyon weather, conditions of public peace, the active good-will of great railway and shipping companies—combine to attract visitors to Ireland: all except one. The nuisance of the Free State's tax on imported clothing has received wide advertisement in the British Press and is likely to do much harm. The Government recognises the danger and has announced its readiness to make matters smooth for tourists, but its readiness seems to be in excess of its power. Some time ago the Minister for Finance indicated that the examination of the visitors' luggage would be a mere formality. In the hands of the Customs officers, however—though the victims pay general tribute to their politeness—it remains a disagreeable, and sometimes an expensive, ordeal. Again, Mr. Blythe said last week that the payment of duty on personal luggage, sent in advance, would be refunded when the personal nature of the luggage was established. Here, too, there is a hitch; for it seems that, when the visitor is most anxious to take his ease at his inn, he and his clean shirts or pyjamas may find themselves many miles apart. We print to-day two letters of complaint from tourists. In one case there was trouble about a package of laundry forwarded from London. In the other case the tourist's luggage, sent in advance, was detained at the post of entry, and he collected it at the cost of a journey of one hundred miles by road. Even if hardships of this kind are abolished, the tax still will be a nuisance. There seems to be no remission of the duty of 15 per cent. on new clothing imported by tourists. This regulation will be resented by women of all countries, and what man will choose a holiday-ground in his wife's despite?

The protective experiments on which the Free State Government has embarked are designed to stimulate the growth of native industries. Have the existing duties secured this result, or are they likely to secure it in the near future? We see no signs of any large revival of native industry as the result of the new duties. The most important and most onerous of them—the boot tax—has increased the price of all kinds of boots in the Free State, but has not diminished, and is not likely to diminish, our huge imports from Great Britain. We foresee no different outcome of the tax on imported clothing. Even if the new duties had begun already to foster native industry, another question would remain. Would such improvement, even on a considerable scale, compensate the country for the manifest disadvantages of the new duties? The first of these disadvantages has been a definite increase in the cost of living, which has been felt most quickly by the poorer classes of citizens. They have gained a slight relief from the reduced taxation of tea and sugar, but an entirely disproportionate burden has been added to their slender budgets by the new duties on boots and clothing and furniture. A further disadvantage of these duties is the administrative nuisance of which not only English and foreign visitors, but all classes of our people—manufacturers, merchants and private citizens—are making bitter complaint. Delays at the Customs are embarrassing trade in every part of the country, and the new duties have multiplied the difficulties of commercial intercourse between North and South.

We shall be the last to under-rate the work of the Free State Government. It has a record of solid achievement, in exceptionally difficult and dangerous circumstances, of which any Government in Europe might be proud. We regret the more an intellectual weakness which may be defined, perhaps, in terms of paradox. The Free State Government is bringing to its task at the same time too much of the quality of imagination and too little of it. Ministers have vast visions of enterprises that will put the State in the forefront of human progress. They think in terms of millions of pounds about the German Shannon scheme and the Belgian sugar-beet scheme. These things, however, are of the future, and the average citizen is neither a prophet nor an idealist. His mind is concentrated on the small, but multitudinous, affairs of daily life—his business, his taxes, the education of his children, his amusements, his necessary communications with the world. We wish that Ministers would come down from their Pisgah heights and would try to see matters with the eyes of the man-in-the-street. That exercise of imagination, though pedestrian, might have profitable results. Ministers would discover that, while the average citizen is waiting for the larger blessings, he is perplexed sorely by the smaller trials. His taxes, on the whole, are increasing; protective duties have increased his cost of living; his children are the victims of idealogues in the schools; he is harassed by daily pinpricks in the shape of Customs restrictions and postal delays. Unless the Government becomes sympathetic and alert, these grievances may beget political discontents of a disconcerting and, perhaps, formidable kind.

Fascism at Bay.

Much alarm has been caused in Italy by the sudden fall of the lira. After about two years' comparative stability Italian currency began to fall last week, and one day it tumbled down nearly ten points. The downward movement for the present seems to have been checked, but confidence has been shaken badly, and there is a widespread fear that the lira may depreciate still further. It is impossible to attribute this development to any particular cause; but the fall in the value of the lira is due, in part, at any rate, to the growing belief that the day of the Fascisti, and more particularly of their leader, Signor Mussolini, is drawing to an overdue close. Outwardly Italy is peaceful. People are working; there is little unemployment and the country has a general air of prosperity. Beneath the surface, however, there is a bitter resentment, which dare not be expressed, of the tyranny that is masquerading under the name of government. Since the murder of the Socialist deputy, Matteotti, the Fascisti have abandoned all pretence of democracy. Recently a decree was promulgated giving the Government power to dismiss any civil servant whose views might happen to be contrary to those of the ruling clique. Gradually, but surely, every non-Fascist (and there are many) is being elbowed out of the public service. The Fascisti are consolidating their position throughout the country by the simple process of getting rid of all their opponents, and the fact that Parliamentary government has ceased to exist in Italy prevents the people from making any constitutional protest. Signor Mussolini is doing precisely what he chooses to do. The law, if there be a law, does not worry him. Some weeks ago three university professors had the temerity to lay a wreath at the foot of Garibaldi's statue in Florence on the anniversary of the Matteotti murder. They were arrested without ceremony and kept for three days in prison. On the other hand, bands of Fascisti parade the streets singing songs in glorification of Matteotti's assassin, and nobody interferes with them in any way. Italy to-day is being ruled in a way that would have put the despots of the Middle Ages to shame. The Fascist system respects no institution that is not of its own creation or does not suit its immediate purpose. It tolerates the King and maintains courteous relations with the Vatican purely for its own ends. Behind all this show of constitutionalism, however, lies the grim reality of destruction. Fascism is the apotheosis of force in its crudest and most blatant form. It carries the germs of disaster in its being, and, sooner or later, Italy will overthrow it, as she overthrew the Austrian yoke more than fifty years ago. Until Fascism has been discarded the Italian people cannot hope to enjoy that stability which they have earned so well. Their currency never will be sound while they continue to be governed by a man who laughs at the law and sets Italy's proudest traditions at defiance.

Slow Motion.

The French have a distinctive way of doing everything, from the writing of an opera to the making of an omelette. Now they have discovered a novel way of going on strike and an equally novel method of strike-breaking. About a week ago the employés in the motor omnibus and tramway services of Paris declared what they termed a grève perlée. The idea was not to cease work, but to comply so strictly with the letter of the law in their daily tasks that transport in the city would become a farce. Everything, in consequence, was "slowed down," rather on the model of the slow motion cinematograph. Drivers crawled along at the minimum rate of speed, pledging themselves not to pass one another in the street. Conductors issued tickets as lazily as possible, with the result that the whole street traffic of the most speedy city in the world was reduced to a condition of chaos. The strike is still in progress, and neither the transport companies nor the public authorities seem to be able to do anything to stop it. The public, however, has decided to take the matter into its own hands and is paying the strikers back in their own coin. If conductors are slow in collecting fares, the passengers are even slower in paying them. Travellers on trams and omnibuses have resorted to all sorts of devices to increase delay. Purses cannot be found at the right moment. Coins fall on the floor with disconcerting regularity. People suddenly discover that they have no smaller change than a hundred franc note to pay for a journey that costs a few sous. It is all very amusing; but the strike is costing Paris 100,000 francs a day, and it is quite possible that tramways and omnibuses alike may be taken off the streets in the course of this week. The only people who are enjoying the strike are the taxi-drivers—possibly, the greediest representatives of their tribe in Europe—who are doing a roaring trade at the expense of disgusted citizer

The Cruise of the Saoirse.

Last Saturday Mr. Conor O'Brien returned to Kingstown Harbour with his little ketch, the Saoirse, after an exciting voyage round the world. Two full years were occupied in the journey, the story of which has the true Elizabethan flavour. The Saoirse completed her cruise under her own sail. Her master scorned auxiliary engines, preferring to brave the hazards of the Southern Ocean without such adventitious aid. The love of adventure continues to be one of the most marked characteristics of our race, and it is refreshing in an age of mechanical monotony to find that the old spirit which made Irishmen pioneers throughout the world is not dead. The little Saoirse has added to the fame of Ireland in a score of ports from Recife to Auckland and back again. She has shown the Free State flag—which, incidentally, is still without international recognition—wherever she has gone. The last stage of Mr. O'Brien's voyage has all the elements of a thrilling schoolboys' tale. Stricken with sun-blindness, and with an ailing Tongan as his sole companion, he was forced to sail the weary miles between Pernambuco and the Azores under conditions of extreme hardship; but he persevered and reached Horta safely, although he was unable to distinguish the buoys at the harbour's mouth. A worthy welcome awaited the brave adventurer at Kingstown, and those who have been following his wanderings with keen interest in every country which he visited will join with us in congratulating him heartily on his safe return to his home port.

OBITUARY.

DR. E. J. M'WEENEY.

We announce with regret the death, at the age of 61, of Dr. Edmond J. McWeeney, Professor of Pathology and Bacteriology in University College, Dublin, who passed away last Saturday morning, after a long and trying illness.

The eldest son of the late Mr. Theophilus McWeeney, at one time a prominent figure in Irish journalism, Professor McWeeney was born in Dublin in March, 1864. He was educated at the Catholic University School, and subsequently at the College de St. Bertin, St. Omer. In the Royal University of Ireland he won one of the first University scholarships in modern languages. At University College, Dublin, in 1884, he obtained first class honours at the B.A. degree examination, being one of the first group of graduates of that University whose academic career had begun with its foundations. In the same year, at the age of 21, he won the University Studentship in modern languages. Having graduated in Arts, he gave undivided attention to his medical studies. In 1887 he received the honours degrees of M.B., M.Ch., and M.A.O., and in the same year the M.A. degree.

Entering the University of Vienna in 1888, he made a special study of pathology, and in the following year went to Berlin, where he studied bacteriology under Koch.

Dr. McWeeney then returned to Dublin, where he took the M.D. degree in 1891, and three years later won the first Medical Studentship of the Royal University.

From 1891 to the present year Dr. McWeeney was at the head of the department of Pathology and Bacteriology at the Medical School of University College. A tireless worker, he was familiar with the scientific literature of the Continental medical centres, and his contributions to medical literature were numerous.

Among the public positions which Professor McWeeney held were those of Bacteriologist to the Local Government Board, Crown Analyst in Ireland, Pathologist to the Mater Misericordiae Hospital and to the Coombe and the National Lying-In Hospitals.

In addition to the degrees of his own University, he held the Fellowship of the Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland, the D.P.H. of the Royal College of Surgeons, the Fellowship of the Academy of Medicine, and of several other medical societies.

CANON J. A. CAREY.

Canon J. A. Carey, M.A., Rector of Bangor, died last Saturday morning after a long illness. A native of Cork, Canon Carey passed from the Grammar School of that city to Trinity College, Dublin, where he graduated B.A. in 1903, and took his M.A. degree in 1906. In the former year he was appointed to the curacy of Belfast Cathedral. In 1912 he was appointed to the rectorship of Whitehouse, and four years later was selected for that of Bangor. Through his efforts the Abbey Church, Bangor, was re-opened for Divine Service.

Canon Carey also succeeded in raising money for the introduction of a beautiful organ in the newly-built parish church and the erection of a smaller organ for the Abbey. The Canonry of Down Cathedral was bestowed upon him on the death of Canon Harding in 1922. He was a member of the Diocesan Council, a representative to the General Synod and a diocesan nominator for Down.

Canon Carey married a daughter of Mr. Nicholl, chemist, High street, Belfast.

DR. WILLIAM MONYPENY.

The death occurred, unexpectedly, of Dr. William Monypeny, Shaftesbury square, Belfast, yesterday. Dr. Monypeny had one of the most extensive practices in the city. He was a native of Portadown, and his wife is a cousin of Captain the Right Hon. Herbert Dixon, M.P., and Dr. Dixon. Some time ago Dr. Monypeny and Dr. Dixon were victims of a serious motor accident, from the effects of which Dr. Monypeny never fully recovered. He is survived by his wife, a son and daughter. Miss Monypeny, who, like her brother, is a medical student, is well known in hockey circles, and has played as a representative of Ulster in many interprovincial matches.

MR. W. A. M'VICKER.

The death occurred last Saturday, at his residence, 45 Wellington Park, Belfast, of Mr. W. A. McVicker, director of Messrs. Joseph Blair and Co., hardware merchants, Church lane, Belfast. To Mr. McVicker belonged the honour of founding the Boys' Brigade in Ireland. It was in the year 1888 that he saw in the Boys' Brigade a means of instilling into the rising generation all that was best and noblest in life, and in that year he founded the 18th Belfast Company of the Boys' Brigade, of which company he remained captain until his death.

Sir George has lived in the reigns of five Sovereigns, and has been presented to them all. He is godfather to one of Princess Mary's children.

SIX HOURS OF UNABRIDGED SHAW.

For the second time on any stage, Mr. George Bernard Shaw's "Man and Superman" was produced in its entirety at the Lyceum Theatre, Edinburgh, on Friday night. Exactly ten years ago this month it received its first and only other unabridged performance in the Lyceum Theatre.

The great feature is the third act, entitled "The Philosophy," including the scene in Hell as dreamed by Jack Tanner.

The production was a remarkable success. The performance lasted from 5.30 until 11.30. Mr. Esme Percy took the parts of Jack Tanner and Don Juan.

The Pope will forgo his summer holiday in view of Holy Year, as his Holiness will be granting audiences to deputations of pilgrims throughout July and August.

LONDON LETTER.

THE PEACE PACT.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
SUNDAY NIGHT.

The coming week will be a very interesting one in the House of Commons; for it must centre round the debate on the peace pact on Wednesday. A Cabinet meeting is to be held to-morrow morning to consider the whole question and the attitude which the Government shall adopt on this most important matter. The Cabinet, contrary to present custom, will meet at the House of Commons. During the debate on Wednesday the leaders of the three parties are expected to take part, since both Mr. Ramsay Macdonald and Mr. Lloyd George intend to speak after Mr. Chamberlain. It is certain that the House will be packed by members, and virtually all the available space in the public galleries has been allotted. The Peers' Gallery and that set apart for the Diplomatic Corps will be occupied fully for this debate.

It is unlikely that the great debate on the pact on Wednesday will carry matters very far; for they are as yet only speculative. Long and wearisome negotiations are likely before any decisions are reached, and it is possible that Germany may ask for a conference with the Allies. Such a conference is not looked upon with favourable eyes by either this country or France, but it is admitted that it might be the best possible way of bringing negotiations to a favourable conclusion. It may be well on into next year before any definite conclusion is reached and Germany becomes a member of the League of Nations.

Communism in England.

Lord Birkenhead, speaking at Watford yesterday, made rather a curious offer to the Socialists when he said that "if they want an election on the Russian issue, they can have it." The last election was won outright on the Russian issue; for the Government came in on a tide of anti-Socialism, and its supporters generally have expected rather more activity than has been visible in dealing with the Bolsheviks and Communists, who are so busily engaged in trying to disrupt our civilisation. It is said that the Russians and their Communist supporters are more active at present than they have been for years, but there seems to be little corresponding activity on the other side. It is possible, of course, that the authorities know best about the situation, but loyal subjects of the State resent having to listen to the seditious "spouting" of Communists in public places and remain without redress.

Unemployment.

London to-day was paraded by a number of Red Flag processions to draw attention to unemployment. The processions were generally composed of quite well-dressed and well-behaved working men, obviously in their Sunday best garments, and utterly lacking signs of hardship or want of food. It is, as a matter of fact, one of the most curious features of the situation that, in spite of falling trade and stagnant industries, expenditure among the working classes continues to increase. The Bolton Wakes, the holiday season in Lancashire, are an indication; for the banks there are paying out to the extent of £300,000 this year to the mill hands and factory workers. This is the heaviest sum paid for many years, and quite £50,000 more than last year; yet it is claimed that there are many thousands of unemployed in Lancashire.

Income Tax.

By accepting an amendment allowing professional men to make a deduction in income tax for depreciation of professional plant and machinery, the Government will confer a benefit, though not a large one, upon a heavily taxed class. Although primarily intended to permit doctors to allow for wear and tear of their motor cars for income tax purposes, the new clause has a rather wide interpretation, and under it all professional men will be able to claim for the expense of the replacement of obsolete machinery or for motor cars employed in their professional work. The clause is really a compromise between the demand that doctors should have some concession with regard to the motor car tax and the law which compels them to pay at the full rate. They are still to pay the full tax, but they are to receive a small concession, which is based upon a reasonable system and is to apply to other professions.

Dull Stocks.

Several reasons are put forward to account for the dull conditions which have prevailed for the past two weeks in the gilt-edged section of the Stock Exchange. There has been talk of dearer money and of a flood of new capital issues, but a more potent cause has been fears that the disturbances in China might spread, and an idea that some further conversion scheme is pending. So far as can be gathered, no new conversion plans are under consideration at present, and, should any scheme be introduced later on, the terms are not likely to be unfavourable to present holders. There has been no weakness, but the course of the market, with some fluctuations from day to day, on balance has been in a downward direction. Such a course is not unusual at this time of the year, and it is considered that, as soon as the outlook in China assumes a brighter aspect, the markets will show a satisfactory response to the improved conditions.

The Irish Club.

The Irish Club dinner, on July 6th should be a very interesting function; for the principal guest will be the Duke of York, while Sir James Craig will represent Northern Ireland. Lord Glenavy and Lord Mayo will represent the Free State Senate, and, if Mr. Cosgrave cannot conveniently get away from Dublin for the dinner, he has promised to send two representatives. The Irish Club in London is a neutral ground on which all sections of Irish opinion may meet and discuss Irish matters.

The British Uniform.

The British officers' Service tunic has been chosen as the uniform of several Continental armies. Most of the military bodies of the world have adopted it, with some slight modification of certain details, and now comes the news that it has been chosen as a pattern for a new uniform for the Paris police. The tunic of the police is to be modelled closely on the lines of the British pattern, with breast and side pockets, but is to have a high, closed collar. The distinctive feature of the British tunic is the pouch-type of pockets and the "pleated patch" breast pockets. This provides four capacious receptacles, each with a large holding capacity, with the advantage that they set moderately flat when not fully packed.

The American Invasion.

The American tourist invasion will reach its high-water mark in the next fortnight, and it is estimated that no fewer than ten thousand will arrive in the next few days. Bookings to Europe, in any case, would have been heavy, but they have been greatly increased since the beginning of the heat wave in America. Several of the large hotels in the West End are fully booked up, and are declining further applications for accommodation for the next few weeks. All the visitors, however, are not of the wealthy class; for quite a number are taking advantage of the new third-class cabins which have replaced the old steerage.

According to the Soviet Commissary for Finance, a new loan of three hundred million roubles is shortly to be floated to provide funds for long-term credits to Russian industry.

MORE INCIDENTS IN CHINA.

JAPANESE OFFICIAL SHOT DEAD AND ROBBED.

STRIKE SPREADS.

BRITISH MARINES REPLACE STRIKERS AT CANTON.

MORE incidents have occurred in China, and the only hopeful news is that the strikers at Shanghai are quarrelling amongst themselves. Elsewhere, however, the strike is spreading and the general situation shows no improvement. Correspondents last night reported the following developments:—

SHANGHAI—Wharf coolies attacked by strikers; bankers and shopkeepers terrorised and prevented from re-opening. More troops arrive.

HONG-KONG—Chinese crew desert British ship; Boy Scouts replace Chinese attendants at hospitals; strike of Chinese servants in European houses.

CANTON—Mr. Nakadi, Japanese treasurer, shot dead and robbed. Chinese in the Concessions on strike. British marines running ice plant and essential services.

CHUNGKING—Situation improving somewhat.

MUKDEN—Regiment mutinies and damages station on Mukden-Peking Railway.

The situation in Shanghai (says our Correspondent) has taken a more serious turn by the unions of students and labourers bringing pressure to force the Chinese Chamber of Commerce to rescind their earlier order opening the shops and native banks on Monday. The Chamber of Commerce last night was forced to reverse its order and send out instructions for the shops and banks to be closed for another week. There is a widely-circulated rumour that the Soviet has remitted a million dollars to Shanghai for the purpose of strengthening the strike leaders.

The feeling against the Japanese is becoming more acute.

THE CAUSES OF THE TROUBLE.

IN view of the fact that there are one hundred Irish missionaries in China, the grave situation which has arisen there will be watched in this country with particular interest, not unmixed, perhaps, with a little anxiety.

We have been able to secure a statement on the situation by one who has been in close contact with the missionary movement in China for many years and is now on a visit to Ireland from Changsha, in the province of Hunan (Central China). The visitor is the Rev. Charles D. Little, of the Wesleyan Mission.

Mr. Little declares that, in his opinion, the only hope for China lies in its gradual acceptance of Christianity, together with strong government and the advance of education, transportation and industry. "Conscious of her Government's desperate financial straits, of her impotence as an international Power, and shamed by her internal cancerous disorders, China has sought someone to blame, and she has found the scapegoat in the unhappy stranger within her gates."

THE FIRST RIOTS.

The present trouble, Mr. Little informed our representative, began on May 15, when, in a Japanese mill, first a Japanese manager and later a Chinese employé were killed. Immediately afterwards demonstrations began by students, who took over the cause of the employés. Some of them were arrested by the police. Outside the police station to which they were removed there was a large hostile demonstration by the students, who refused to obey an order to disperse.

There were cries of "Kill! kill!" and it seemed as if an effort would be made to overpower the police and rescue the prisoners. Unsuccessful in their attempts to disperse the crowd, the police, after due warning, obeyed an order to fire, causing casualties—six reported as killed and twenty-one wounded.

ANTI-BRITISH DEMONSTRATIONS.

This affray on May 30th, our informant declared, was the signal for the propagation of indignation and anti-foreignism all over China. The hatred of the student body had previously been confined to the Japanese. They now became equally anti-British. The second riot broke out at a place called Chinkiang, where the British Consul had to appeal for gunboat protection, as has since happened in Canton, Chung King and Swatow.

A more serious outbreak occurred on June 11th at Hankow—about 595 miles up the Yangtze—where the Chinese mob broke into the British concessions, destroyed the seats along the river front, and then made a concentrated attack upon the armoury. The defenders of the armoury—naval men and volunteers—were completely outnumbered. They tried first to disperse the crowd by the hose-pipes of the fire engines. This failing to have any effect, a volley of blank shots was fired, but still the crowd would not give way.

The situation then assumed such an ugly aspect that the naval officer commanding the defenders was compelled to open fire on the attackers with a Maxim gun—result, two killed and fourteen wounded.

CONSULATES BURNED.

The next riot was at Kinkiang, 150 miles below Hankow. Both the British and Japanese Consulates were attacked and burned, as were also a Japanese bank and other foreign property.

Kinkiong is the landing point for the largest hill station, or hill resort, in China, having resemblance to Simla in India. The safety of the 600 foreign women and children, including the two foreign schools there, has now, however, been assured by the despatch of some hundreds of Chinese soldiers by the Governor of the province.

Orders prohibiting further student propaganda and processions have been issued by the Governors of Hupeh (Hankow area), Hunan and Chekiang, but, except in these places, Mr. Little says "practically nothing is being done by the Chinese Governors and their officials to stay this rising tide of student propaganda, which is strongly anti-foreign and chiefly directed now against Britain."

The Chinese race, as a whole, he mentions, has had, since the "Twenty-one Demands" of 1915, a deep-rooted hostility to Japan, and has always regarded Britain with some disfavour as Japan's former ally, though not in regard to these "Demands."

THE CAUSES.

Asked to explain the causes of the present trouble, Mr. Little replied that, perhaps, the chief cause of the eruption was China's long-cherished and once justifiable animosity towards Japan, coupled with the chaos and corruption which had been disintegrating China increasingly since the close of the Great War. Moreover, Communism, repulsed from Western Europe in the past three years, had turned to China as a more hopeful field for its activities. The student soil of China had become remarkably suited to Bolshevik propaganda. China's leaders have "sown the wind and reap the whirlwind." In 1922 a notable Communist manifesto denounced the "imperialism" of the foreign Powers and the "imperialism" of their own military governors and called upon the populace to revolt. To-day, said Mr. Little, the clever Communists had seized their opportunity to concentrate all their activities and propaganda against what they termed the "Imperialistic Powers." It was true, he remarked, that certain Powers formerly had imperialistic designs upon China, but of late years every country—most certainly Britain and Japan—had sought to live in peace with her in order that they might pursue commercial and industrial enterprise and development. The militarists in China, conscious that a revolution against their tyranny was long overdue, had astutely joined the students in raising the cry, "Down with the foreign Powers," hoping thus to continue, if not to increase, their power.

RELIGIOUS REFORMATION.

But what Mr. Little believes to be the most fundamental reason of the present outbreak is the impact, especially the intellectual impact, of the West upon the East." The new wine has burst the old bottles. China, he asserted, had been shaken to its foundations by the new knowledge in many fields of learning, especially in science. "Her thought has been rudely revolutionised, and even her religions have been profoundly shaken and have conspicuously failed to stand the test of modern destructive criticism and undergraduate iconoclasm."

The Chinese, like the Indians, he observed, were passing through a Renaissance, or Renascense, somewhat similar to that which arose in Europe and brought the mediæval ages to an end. The religious reformation had exercised a steadying moral effect upon Europe, and the need of China to-day was a great religious reformation to accompany its intellectual re-birth. China had been loosed and had drifted from her old religious moorings. Every ethical and religious tradition and section, no matter how ancient or august, was being critically challenged. Much that was invaluable to the old China had been scrapped by hot-headed young China as worthless before anything had been accepted that would take its place. Even free love had its advocates.

FINDING A SCAPEGOAT.

"Conscious of the Government's desperate financial straits," Mr. Little went on, "and her impotence as an international Power, and shamed by her internal cancerous disorders—brigandage, militarism, opium, and official corruption—China has sought to blame someone, and has found the scapegoat in the unhappy stranger within her gates."

Asked if economic or industrial conditions were as bad as has been represented by the British Labour Party, he replied that the industrial aspect of the question, in view of the larger issue, was comparatively "a mere bagatelle"—the opening pawn in the Communist game that was now being played. The issue is essentially political and racial, not industrial. Its font is Communism, and it is, therefore, anti-foreign and anti-Christian. Everyone—especially the missionaries—deplored the fact that economic conditions were extremely bad all over China. The working conditions in the Shanghai mills were such as would not be allowed in Western countries, yet, in face of competition, were better than in other mills under purely Chinese management in many parts of China.

Mr. Little here mentioned that the National Missionary Council in Shanghai had secured the establishment of a commission of investigation, which had recommended certain reforms. These recommendations would form the subject of legislation. The delayed ratification of that proposed legislation had not made any essential difference. Political agitations and outbreaks in China had been growing steadily worse for the past two years, and few, if any, foreigners in China were entirely surprised by the recent outbreaks.

MISGUIDED NATIONALISM.

Asked to account for the rapidity with which the movement had spread, Mr. Little replied that that was, in the main, attributable to the great solidarity of the Chinese, a strong spirit of misguided nationalism, considerable powers of organisation, and a vicious campaign of gross mendacity. A profound source of regret was the fact that the Chinese leaders were now intractable. Thus the question of a settlement was "a matter of extreme concern to all the foreign Powers." "Any further outbreaks in China," he declared, "may lead to international complications of very serious import."

With regard to the position of the missionaries in China, Mr. Little said that he had just received two letters reporting cabled news that those in Hankow were "all in safety," as also those in the China Inland Mission.

CRITICAL SITUATION.

Asked if there was much fear of further outbreaks, he said that it was impossible to prophesy. Anything might happen, but the outlook at the moment was "critical, if not desperate." It was unlikely that Chang Tso-lin—formerly a mere uneducated bandit, although a successful general now—would be able to cope with the situation, the handling of which required Napoleonic skill and a stronger backing from the people. He was quite convinced that the policy of supporting Chang Tso-lin in his efforts to re-establish order was the proper one for the foreign Powers to pursue—for China's good, not less than their own.

In reply to a question whether he had any hopes for China's future, Mr. Little responded: "My only hope for China lies in her gradual recognition of her Saviour. 'I am the Way, the Truth and the Life.' With her non-Christian religions undermined and disintegrating, China cannot work out her own salvation except through the aid of moral and religious forces, which can come to it, not through Bolshevist atheism, but through vital Christianity."

IRISH MISSIONS.

To-day Christianity was leavening the thought of China, and "its ultimate future in China," added Mr. Little, "is as bright as the promises of God."

It is of interest to note that the Irish missionary societies in China to-day are the important "Maynooth (Roman Catholic) Mission to the Far East," centred in Hanyang (Hankow, Central China); the Dublin University Mission, in Fukien (on seaboard), and the Irish Presbyterian Mission in the far North Manchuria. The total number of foreign missionaries of all denominations in China is about 7,500, and total foreigners 282,491.

The current China Year Book shows that the total Protestant community of Chinese Christians is about one million, whilst the Roman Catholic community numbers 2,208,800, out of a population estimated at over four hundred millions.

OFFICIAL SUPPORT FOR STRIKERS.

CANTON, Sunday.

The Civil Governor of Canton, Dr. Hu Han-Min, has requested the merchants to contribute to the funds of the strikers in Canton and in Hong Kong, while the gambling houses, which have been closed since the war, have been taken over as quarters for the strikers.

All the Chinese have left Shameen, except the police, telegraph and post office officials. Approximately 1,500 Chinese are on strike, but there are no disorders. Many women and children have left for Hong Kong.—(Reuter.)

CHINESE RAID LEGATION.

REMARKABLE PARIS INCIDENT.

MINISTER FORCED TO SIGN PAPERS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
PARIS, Sunday.

A PARTY of about 100 young Chinese forced their way into the Chinese Legation this afternoon, overpowering the porter, and setting a guard to prevent any warning from being carried to the authorities. The whole party arrived at intervals in taxis, and an advanced guard of about 30 were able to enter the building before the porter noticed anything amiss.

When he attempted to obstruct the invaders, he was promptly seized by two Chinese, while another locked the door to prevent any of the staff going for help. The whole party then advanced into the office of the Chinese Minister, whom they forced to sign the following documents:—

(1) A proclamation to the workers, students, business men and all classes of Chinese society, declaring that he (the Minister) sympathised with their struggle against the Imperialists.

(2) A telegram to the "Republican Daily News," saying—"The revolt in Shanghai has aroused a movement for unity throughout China which proves that our people has awakened and is determined to fight Imperialists. I send you my heartfelt sympathy, and hope that you will unite yet more closely in order to fight the Imperialists and achieve the complete liberation of our people."

(3) A letter addressed to the Prime Minister of China.

(4) An order that the invaders should be allowed to depart in peace.

The police, who by this time had been informed of what had happened, arrived and arrested a young Chinese in occupation of the porter's lodge. He was brought before the Police Commissioner, but refused to give the names of his companions.

It would appear, however, that the demonstration was partly engineered by Communists, and several Frenchmen were observed among the raiders.

The Police Commissioner is accordingly making inquiries into the matter, while the Chinese who was arrested has been remanded.

One of the letters presented for signature to the Chinese Minister was addressed to M. Painlevé, the French Premier, and contained a statement of the Chinese case, followed by an appeal to the French people for the evacuation of China by foreigners.

Another letter was to the Paris Press, in which the Minister protested against the pressure of foreigners in China, and declared his sympathy with the Shanghai rioters.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN'S SPEECH.

RECEPTION AT PEKING.

FROM "THE TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.
PEKING, Sunday.

Mr. Chamberlain's speech in Parliament, of which a verbatim report has been received, has made a good impression here, and the ordinary foreign remark on it is that it is highly conciliatory. One native newspaper, notoriously anti-foreign, performed the remarkable feat of making a good translation on the night of the arrival of the speech, and reproducing the complete text next morning, with the single comment—"Now is the time to declare war on England," being the usual Oriental inference that any desire to propitiate indicates weakness.

It has caused some surprise that Mr. Chamberlain dwelt so much on the Labour conditions, presumably meaning labour in foreign-owned mills. No such questions exist here. The Japanese mills at Shanghai where the present trouble arose, are managed with extreme consideration for the Chinese employés, who have no ground for complaint, and are infinitely better off than workers in Chinese mills in the same neighbourhood. In fact, it is safe to say that in all foreign mills and factories throughout the country labour conditions are, beyond all comparison, superior to those under Chinese management.

It is noticeable, in regard to the present strikes at Shanghai, that none of the workers asked for better conditions. Their object is purely political.

The part of Mr. Chamberlain's speech which appeals most to the British out here is that wherein he promises to protect the life and property of British subjects, and to hold the Chinese Government responsible for any damage, without weakness, hesitation, or doubt. As regards protection, at present it is quite inadequate; for there are not sufficient British ships on the Chinese coast to go round. No doubt, the Japanese Navy would come to British assistance in a grave emergency, but the universal opinion of British residents is that we should not be dependent on others when we are well able ourselves to provide naval reinforcements.

At Shanghai the situation shows no improvement, while a similar situation is fast developing at Hong Kong. The trade of both places is practically suspended, which means that the foreign commerce of the Yangtsze basin waterways and in Kwangtung and its hinterland is at a stand-still. Consequently the Customs revenue, which is the prime security of the debt of China, is not being collected. Upon foreign trade depends all foreign interests, vested or otherwise. Unquestionably the military authorities, with a show of firmness, could end the agitation and strikes everywhere, except in Kwangtung, and it is high time that they were approached.

THE SAOIRSE'S WELCOME.

THE SCENES AT KINGSTOWN.

MR. CONOR O'BRIEN'S ADVENTURES.

YACHT TO COME UP THE LIFFEY.

ON June 20th, 1923, at 4.30 p.m., Mr. Conor O'Brien set sail from Kingstown Harbour on a voyage round the world. Last Saturday, precisely two years after his departure, the little Saoirse pushed her nose around the head of that same harbour at the very moment when the clock of Kingstown Town Hall was striking half-past four.

TAKEN IN TOW.

The Saoirse arrived in Wicklow Harbour last Friday night, and set off for Kingstown at the turn of the tide—about 4 o'clock on Saturday morning. When she reached Killiney Bay, however, there was a fresh head wind dead against her, as well as a strongly running tide, and Mr. O'Brien was forced to drop anchor and stow his sails.

A motor launch, lent by Mr. J. E. Mills, and navigated by Mr. T. Casement, went down the Bay in search of her, and, having been told by Mr. O'Brien that the Saoirse could not reach Kingstown to time under her own sail, he decided to tow her to her mooring some five miles away.

The journey began at about half-past three, by which time the presence of the Saoirse in Killiney Bay had been announced in Kingstown, and every available yacht went out to meet her.

150 CRAFT IN THE BAY.

There must have been nearly one hundred and fifty craft of various kinds in the Bay. The weather was glorious, and the trim little yachts made a brave show, with their flags fluttering signals of welcome in the freshening breeze. As the Saoirse made her way slowly along the coast a Free State aeroplane, piloted by Major Molony, Officer Commanding the Baldonnel Air Force, circled above her, flying sometimes so low that it seemed almost to skim the top of the Saoirse's mast.

She had to pick her way through the great concourse of yachts, motor launches, waterwags, row boats, and even trawlers that studded the Bay in her honour. As Mr. O'Brien, who was at the wheel, was recognised by passing boats, cheer after cheer was raised, to the obvious delight of Kiao—officially, Mr. Joseph H. Percival—the Tongan native, whom Mr. O'Brien signed on in the South Sea Islands to accompany him on the most perilous stage of his voyage round Cape Horn.

A PRETTY PICTURE.

The milk-white sails of the scudding yachts made a pretty picture against a lovely sky, and the gay colours of the countless flags with which they were dressed sparkled joyously in the sunlight. The Saoirse herself was endimanchée, and few who did not know would have guessed that she had just girdled the globe. The faithful Kiao had his decks as spick and span as those of a man o' war. Her hull was neatly painted. Everything was ship-shape, and the Tongan himself, in a gleaming white shirt, was the proudest man in Irish waters.

As soon as the trip from Killiney Bay started Mr. O'Brien ran up the ensign of the Royal Irish Yacht Club, under which he had sailed the seven seas, and also flew a much-patched Free State tricolour, which he had shown in every port.

KINGSTOWN'S WELCOME.

Thus bedecked, the Saoirse entered Kingstown Harbour, greeted just outside the Mole by a call of welcome on a Sea Scout's bugle, and as she turned in by the firing of a maroon from the shore. For a few moments the din was terrific. The mail boats and all the other steamers in the harbour blew their sirens time and again; the sharp crash of maroons offended delicate ear drums, and above all could be heard the hoarse cheers of the thousands of people who swarmed along the piers and thronged the wharves.

The Saoirse was made fast to her buoy in a few moments. The two launches darted into the shore, and brought off the Reception Committee, and in a few minutes Mr. Conor O'Brien was being borne on the shoulders of his admirers to a waiting motor car, having first been carried more or less solemnly around the railed-off enclosure to the notes of "Let Erin Remember," played by the Free State Army band, under Lieutenant Duff.

A procession of motor cars, headed by a travelling tableau, symbolical of the Saoirse's trip, was formed on the Marine road. The Kingstown Urban Council welcomed Mr. O'Brien officially, and then the party set off for Dublin, where Mr. O'Brien was entertained to dinner in the evening by the United Arts Club.

MANY ADVENTURES.

told in full. The voyage was full of exciting incident. The collision with a whale in mid-ocean; the shipping of the rat which amused itself by eating all the buttons of Mr. O'Brien's clothes; the springing of the mainmast at a critical stage of the trip—all these, and many other details of a unique adventure, in which peril jostled fun in breathless succession, remain to be described. But the passage from Pernambuco to the Azores deserves to be chronicled at length as a splendid example of endurance.

SUN BLINDNESS.

When, after many vicissitudes, Mr. O'Brien finally left the Falklands en route for home, with the worthy Kiao as his sole companion, his eyes began to trouble him, and when he reached the Brazilian port he could hardly distinguish the harbour buoys. His friends tried to dissuade him from going further, but Mr. O'Brien was determined to complete his voyage and set sail at the earliest opportunity.

He was suffering from a form of sun-blindness, which got steadily worse, and when he was about a thousand miles from anywhere—twenty days out from Pernambuco—he became almost completely blind and was unable to come on deck during daylight. To make matters worse, Kiao developed a serious rupture which partly incapacitated him, and as, at any rate, he knew nothing about navigation, Mr. O'Brien's plight was anything but enviable.

TELESCOPE AS READING GLASS.

He devised a system, however, which worked fairly well. During the day Kiao was propped up with cushions at the wheel, while Mr. O'Brien remained in the charthouse and directed operations, and at night he came on deck himself. His difficulties were increased considerably by the fact that he had no reading glasses, and in order to read his charts he was forced to dismantle his telescope and use one of its lenses as a magnifying glass.

Half-way across a Japanese steamer was sighted, but she carried no doctor, and the weather was so bad that the Saoirse was unable to get alongside. Finally, however, Horta was reached in safety, Kiao was taken to hospital, and Mr. O'Brien had his eyes treated. One of his sisters, an accomplished yachtswoman, was in Lisbon at the time, and, hearing of her brother's troubles, sailed at once for Horta, where she joined him and helped him to bring the Saoirse home.

KIAO A TAXI-DRIVER.

Mr. O'Brien's plans for the future have not yet been made; but Kiao, who in private life follows the calling of a taxi-driver in Tonga, wants to get home as quickly as possible, and will leave for New Zealand at the first available opportunity.

The Saoirse will be brought up the Liffey to-morrow, probably under her own sail, and it is proposed to give the public an opportunity of inspecting her at a nominal charge. The proceeds will be given to the Royal Lifeboat Institution.

CHEERS FOR BOAT-BUILDER.

MR. O'BRIEN'S RECEPTION AT KINGSTOWN.

"Three cheers for the men that built the boat." Fully ten thousand people were cheering Mr. Conor O'Brien as he stepped on to Kingstown Wharf. This was the generous response Mr. O'Brien made, as, broadly smiling, he came up the stone stairs into a surging crowd.

As the Saoirse appeared round the East Pier head at 4.30 every ship and club mast broke into bunting. Maroons were fired and the steamers' sirens were sounded.

A few minutes later the Saoirse dropped anchor, and Mr. O'Brien came ashore at the west end of the wharf, where he was received formally by the Kingstown Urban Council, which was represented by Mr. J. M. Devett, P.C., Chairman; Mr. Edward Kelly, Vice-Chairman; Sir Thomas and Lady Robinson, Mr. Sean O'hUadhaigh, Mr. M. F. O'Brien, Dr. Patrick Merrin, Miss Cantwell, Mr. C. Neville Cook, Mr. E. J. Mallins, Mr. J. J. Triston, Acting Town Clerk; and Mr. John Walters.

Mr. Devitt, in a brief speech in Irish, welcomed the yachtsman, on behalf of the Council, on the termination of his great adventure.

Mr. O'Brien expressed his thanks, and while he was shaking hands with the Councillors the crowd surged in, and in a trice he was being chaired shoulder-high and carried around the enclosure.

Eventually he succeeded in reaching his motor car, and, as it passed the Town Hall, a lady managed to toss a bouquet of flowers into his car. With an acknowledging smile the sailor picked them up and carried the bouquet throughout the journey to Dublin.

About a hundred cars followed in procession. Amongst the occupants were Mr. O'Brien's sisters, who had arrived at Kingstown on board the Saoirse.

THREE WEEKS OF SUNSHINE.

FARMERS OVERTAKING ARREARS OF WORK.

TWO YEARS' SUPPLY OF TURF SAVED.

Yesterday was Midsummer Day, and the glorious weather which began with the opening of June continued.

The sunshine came when it was most needed, and has enabled farmers to overtake arrears of work in the fields. In some districts two years' supply of turf has been cut and won, and during the past three weeks some of the turf that was cut last year has also been saved.

Perhaps we are too lavish in our praise of the fine, sunny days we are enjoying; but that is very natural when the present month's record of sunshine, temperature, and rainfall is compared with that of the last few years. The month opened with a little rainfall—just enough to lay the dust on the city streets, but sufficient to cause perturbation to farmers, who regarded it as an omen of another bad season. But the 2.2 m.m. rainfall on June 1st was not too bad, for on the same day we had 8.8 hours of sunshine, and city dwellers began to long for the seaside or the cool of the meadows.

On the following day there was just the tiniest trace of rain—our expert puts it down at .4 m.m.—but there was considerably less sunshine.

There followed two perfectly dry and sunny days. Heavy clothing was discarded, and even the pessimists said that at last summer had come.

On the 9th and 10th of the month the temperature reached the maximum of 75, and on both days there was well over twelve hours' sunshine in Dublin and its environs. June 11th saw a fall of two degrees in the temperature, but a compensating increase of an hour's sunshine, the figure being 13.2. With the 14th came .2 m.m. of rain, and on the 16th just a trace. Though the temperature fell slightly on succeeding days the good weather up to yesterday was well maintained.

It is too early yet to forecast the result of this year's harvest, but the good weather is having an excellent effect all over the country.

POLAR FLIERS SURPRISED.

"SHOWERS" OF MESSAGES OF CONGRATULATION.

BY WIRELESS.
KING'S BAY, SPITZBERGEN, Saturday.

SHOWERS of congratulatory telegrams from every corner of the world have been pouring in on Captain Amundsen, as the leader of the expedition, and also on each individual member.

The immense number of these messages is causing the fliers considerable surprise, as they do not realise the extent to which the world was interested in their adventure and debated their fate during their long absence.

When Amundsen picked up a bunch of telegrams to-day he remarked, with astonishment: "This is even more than in 1911," referring to the congratulations he received when the world knew that he had reached the South Pole.

All six explorers, in fact, are quite overcome by this sign of the world's sympathy, and they asked whether there was not a mistaken impression abroad that they had actually reached the Pole.

Captain Amundsen is now engaged in writing his article on the flight. Its words are simple, but they bear eloquent testimony to the superhuman efforts made by the explorers to extricate their machine.

While Amundsen and Ellsworth are remaining here, the Heimdal left at two o'clock this morning, taking Riiser Larsen, Dietrichson, Omdal, and Feucht to Lady Franklin Bay to pick up the 'plane. They will probable arrive there this afternoon, and fly the 'plane down to King's Bay when the weather permits.

SUNDAY.

'Plane N 25 arrived here 7.30 p.m., after successful flight. All well.

CAT BURGLAR CAUGHT.

ARRESTED ON FIRE ESCAPE.

Two Manchester policemen, after an exciting chase over roof-tops in broad daylight yesterday, arrested an alleged cat-burglar, who was found climbing up the rainspout of a silk warehouse in Silver street. By climbing on to the roof of a neighbouring six-storey building, the police surprised the man near a broken skylight. He made a dash for the fire escape, but, at great personal risk, the police jumped on the roof of a four-storey building below, and arrested him on the fire escape.

FRENCH LINER DELAYED.

FIGHTING AMONG CREW AFTER SHORT-LIVED STRIKE.

LE HAVRE, Sunday.

The liner La Savoie, on the Havre-New York route, was unable to leave yesterday afternoon, as part of the crew struck work and left the ship. A little later many of the strikers returned on board and measures were taken to get the vessel away. At one o'clock this morning, however, La Savoie was still at her berth, for, when the strikers returned to the ship, quarrels developed and there was some fighting among the members of the crew. The police had to be summoned to restore order. The three ringleaders were arrested, and the ship proceeded on the afternoon tide.—(Reuter.)

LATE NEWS.

SOUTH AFRICAN FARMERS' TOUR.

IRELAND TO BE VISITED.

The Times, in a leading article says:—During the next six weeks a party of six South African farmers, representative of every province in the Union, and also of Rhodesia, are to make, so far as is possible in the time, a thorough study of the varying conditions and methods of farming in Great Britain and Ireland. In view of the fact that they are following the precedent set by other of their countrymen, who engaged in a similar tour in the summer of 1914, it may be taken for granted that they do not share the opinion, said to be held in some quarters, that this is the worst farming country in the world. If they see nothing else worth looking at, they will at least be able, as happened in the case of the party which was here on the eve of the war, to feast their eyes on the green luxuriance of our British grass.

As in the war, the men of South Africa rallied in their scores of thousands to help our Armies to fight for the life of the Empire, so now this handful of them come here to-day to inquire and to learn, and perhaps to teach, something about the peaceful art of farming; but also to study in what way and by what exploitation of British and African agricultural methods and markets, by what organised flow of British settlers to African soil, the strength and wealth and food-producing capacity of the two countries, as parts of the same great Imperial Commonwealth of sister nations, may be developed and increased.

BENGAL AND INDIA.

MR. DAS'S SUCCESSOR.

In a leading article The Times says:—The death of Mr. C. R. Das at a moment when he seemed to be contemplating a policy of co-operation with the Government of India may prove an event of great importance in the internal history both of Bengal and of the Indian Empire. The dead leader has left many disciples, but none is clearly indicated as his successor. A keen struggle for the vacant leadership is inevitable. It may result in profound divisions among the Swarajists of Bengal.

Mr. Gandhi is obviously attempting to compose party differences, and has, moreover, publicly appealed for the definite adoption by all parties and communities of a policy of reconciliation in memory of the dead leader. A similar appeal has been launched by the veteran of many political struggles, Sir Surendranath Banerjee, who may, perhaps, be the more successful. As Mr. Bepin Chandra Pal, whose alarming candour still makes him something of an enfant terrible in Indian politics, has seized the occasion to point out Mr. Gandhi's influence has never been as great in Bengal as in other provinces. National feeling in the narrower sense is more highly developed in Bengal than elsewhere in India. Whatever his caste or creed, the non-Bengali is always regarded there as something of a "foreigner."

Under the present system of Parliamentary representation in India special constituencies have been created for the minorities, of whom the Moslems are the most important. The principle of minority representation might easily be pushed to dangerous, if logical, conclusions by its supporters, and the more thoughtful representatives of Indian Islam will be well advised to restrain their less experienced brethren from making extravagant demands. Whether the strengthening of Moslem communal feeling and its reaction on the Hindu community will ultimately affect Bengal cannot yet be foretold. Even if it fails to do so it will none the less affect the rest of Hindustan, and may quite conceivably give an entirely new orientation to Indian internal politics.

REVOLUTIONARY AGITATION.

The Daily Telegraph, in a leader on Lord Birkenhead's references to the growth of revolutionary agitation, says:—All this is the plain truth, and it is not surprising that members of the Government, whose knowledge of what is in progress is more extensive than other people's, should insistently urge it upon the public minds. It is the fact that the Bolshevik organisers of social wreckage, disappointed in their hopes as regards the rest of Europe, have fixed upon this country as the weak spot of civilisation. We do not covet the unshakeable peace of mind of those who declare that there is nothing that need disturb us in the activities of Communism in this country at the present time.

THE SECURITY PACT.

The Times states that on Wednesday, when the Foreign Secretary will deal for the first time with the proposed pact of security, Mr. Macdonald and Mr. Lloyd George will take part in what promises to be a very important debate. Lord Oxford proposes to open a debate in the House of Lords on foreign affairs on July 6th.

GERMAN CRISIS.

CABINET MAY SPLIT ON SECURITY PACT.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
BERLIN, Sunday.

Herr Stresemann is facing the toughest battle of his political career over the security pact, and a Cabinet crisis is imminent.

The German Nationalists are unwilling to accept the security policy view of the French conditions in M. Briand's answer to the German memorandum. Unless Herr Streseman's determination to go through with the security plan is broken, the Nationalists intend to leave the Cabinet as soon as the new Customs law is passed.

This decision, however, has made him all the more eager to bring to a successful termination the negotiations towards European peace. He has declared privately that unless he is succesful he will resign.

MOTOR BOAT DESTROYED.

EXPLOSION FOLLOWED BY FIRE.

An explosion on a motor boat, which afterwards took fire, and burned fiercely for three hours, until it finally blew up and sank, provided a thrilling spectacle for the people living on the Holderness coast last Saturday night.

The identity of the vessel was not revealed until messages were received from Spurn Head some hours later. At about 7 a.m. a small boat containing three men landed at Spurn. They were Skipper Arrow, Raven street, Hull, master and owner of the motor boat, Mayflower; his brother and a deck hand, who left with the Mayflower the previous day for Aldborough. The motor boat was to be used in running pleasure parties for short sea trips.

After passing Withernsea a fire broke out in the engine room, and burned fiercely until 11 o'clock, when an explosion occurred, and the little vessel sank. A deck-boat was launched, and in this the crew succeeded in reaching Spurn, a distance of 16 miles.

SALE OF POLO PONIES.

NEW YORK, By Mail.

The string of 15 ponies, which Mr. Louis L. Lacey, the Argentine polo player, and captain of last year's British International team, has been playing at Meadow Brook since his arrival from South Africa, in the spring, was sold at auction on June 8 for a total of 20,250 dollars.—(Reuter.)

INDISPOSITION OF MARSHAL JOFFRE.

VERSAILLES, Sunday.

Although Marshal Joffre has a slight temperature, his indisposition is following a normal course, and his condition gives no cause for alarm.—(Reuter.)

Sir William Lettes has been elected president of the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders.

Sir Herbert Barker, who is going to America to receive the first and only honorary degree of Doctor of Osteopathy, conferred by Kirksville University, is still suffering from lacerated muscles, due to his recent diving accident.

PEACE TERMS IN MOROCCO.

INTERVIEW WITH ABDEL KRIM.

OFFERS TO FRANCE AND SPAIN.

"INDEPENDENCE"

CORRESPONDENT UNDER FIRE.

THE tentative peace offers to France and Spain by Abdel Krim have been brought to Tangier by our Special Correspondent who has returned from the Riff country. These he has been authorised by Abdel Krim, the Riff leader, with whom he had several long interviews, to present to the French and the Spanish Governments.

Abdel Krim wants peace with France, with practically the same borders as those provided in the Treaty of Algeciras, on condition that the independence of the Riff is recognised. It is expected that he is willing to modify his demands to the evacuation of Tetuan.

ABDEL KRIM'S TERMS.

WHY HE IS FIGHTING FRANCE.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
TANGIER, Sunday.

AFTER a series of adventures I have returned from the Riff, where I inteviewed Abdel Krim, whose war against France and Spain is disturbing the balance of power in the Mediterranean, and consequently that of Europe itself. I have brought back tentative terms of peace, which I am authorised officially to present to the Spanish and French Governments, as well as authentic details of the military and economic and political situation in the interior.

In addition to this, Abdel Krim told me for the first time his reason for attacking the French.

The hostilities against Herq created a war on all fronts of the Riff, making a visit there considerably more difficult than ever, and the trip was not accomplished without a certain amount of personal risk and adventure.

UNDER FIRE.

I was helplessly adrift for six hours on the Atlantic in an eighteen-foot launch, in which latter I ran the Spanish patrol, ten warships being sighted en route.

While hugging the shore to avoid detection of the patrol, I was the target for numerous volleys of Riffian bullets. I crossed "No Man's Land" from the Riffian to the Spanish positions under a rain of rifle bullets, at a point where orders had been given to refuse overtures for a truce, no matter under what pretext.

For four and a half hours I was blindfolded by the Spaniards, when taken as a spy under close guard from the frontal post to the section base, and not only heard the whizzing of bullets about me when unable to see where I was going, but experienced the sensation of being ordered to stand where I was, forbidden to converse, and hearing the guard load rifles on command as before an execution.

But the Commandant-General greeted me cordially at Melilla, and General Primo De Rivera, as soon as he heard of my presence at Melilla, placed a hydroplane at my disposal to bring me to Tetuan, where I talked to the Spanish Dictator for four hours yesterday. But that is another story.

ABDEL'S HEADQUARTERS.

I was first received by Abdel Krim on June 9, and in one of a series of headquarter buildings in the Agadir region, from where he is directing the war on three fronts. The headquarters were an isolated building between Bades and Izamouren, built in the form of a corral, about 30ft. square and 15ft. high.

The building contained two storeys, and was constructed of small stones, with poles for girders. Branches covered with clay and mud composed the roof. On both sides of the building dug-outs were located, where Abdel Krim and his retinue refuged from aeroplane bombardment.

Abdel Krim's room was not more than ten feet wide, and ran the entire length of one side of the building. There were three small "cubby" holes for windows. On the wall hung five Spanish rifles, an officer's revolver holster, and a Spanish field telephone, with connections to all fronts.

On this telephone Abdel Krin spends about 18 hours daily, issuing orders. In obtaining entrance to Abdel Krim's G.H.Q., I was astonished at its simplicity.

Outside were only two guards, inside none. Nor did Abdel Krim's attire distinguish him from an ordinary Riffian. He was wearing a brown tweed-like bernouse, ordinary Moroccan slippers, in which he slips his bare feet, and a white tarboosh. Yet he stood out from his retinue.

INTERVIEW WITH ABDEL KRIM.

Abdel Krim's face is full, but oval in shape, and sufficiently Arabic to justify his claim of being a direct descendant of the Prophet. In fact the contour of his face and physique is rather that of an Arab than a Riffian. His eyes are large, but usually Gleaming through narrow lashed eyelids. The full whiteness of large even teeth was augmented by a cropped beard and moustache.

Abdel Krim greeted me warmly, shook hands in the European fashion, and motioned me to sit down on rugs at the farther end of the room, which I did after removing sandals worn over golf stockings. He gave an order over the telephone, then squatted down beside me. I noticed he limped a little, and learned later that his lameness was in consequence of a jump when trying to escape from the Spanish fort at Melilla, where he was held a prisoner in 1919.

Abdel Krim asked me in Spanish what brought me to the Riff. I was unable to understand his queries in Spanish, and after this the conversation took place in French, through an interpreter, but frequently Abdel Krim replied to my questions without waiting for the interpreter, and sometimes corrected the interpreter, showing he knows the French language considerably better than generally suspected.

THE PEACE TERMS.

I was told to address him as his Highness,

but as the soldiers referred to him as "The Sultan," I observed a similar courtesy. I began by explaining that the object of my visit was to learn why he had attacked France; what his peace terms were; what his political and economic intentions, if successful, were; his attitude to foreigners holding concessions in the Riff; and as much news as he might wish to give regarding the results of the operations in the Wergha.

He answered every question at length, now and then saying, "Let me think a moment."

In a nutshell, Abdel Krim offers peace with France, with practically the same borders, provided in the Treaty of Algeciras, on condition that the independence of the Riff is recognised. He demands the old boundaries of the Riff, including Ceuta and Melilla.

But Krim, I was given to understand, is willing to modify later the demands to the evacuation of Tetuan, in recognition for the complete independence of territory then in his possession.

NO WISH TO BE SULTAN.

Abdel Krim protested that he—not the French—was fighting on the defensive, and laughed when I told him that the French newspapers were charging him with attempting to capture Fez and proclaim himself Sultan, if not Caliph.

"I have enough trouble in the Riff without hunting it abroad," he said. "I have never had any intention to take Fez, nor have I any ambition to be Sultan of Morocco, or to the Caliphate. That is nonsense."

But here is his story:—

"My motive—first I fought Spain because we do not recognise the Treaty of Algeciras, partitioning the Riff into a protectorate area, and abolishing the independence which was heretofore acknowledged by all the Great Powers. The result is what you can see for yourself, at least part of the Riff is independent.

"Until recently I was on the best of terms with France. But for the last two years France has expelled my representatives, arrested and beaten my couriers, and confiscated my merchandise which was crossing the border.

QUARREL WITH THE FRENCH.

"Ever since the independence movement began, I have invited France to delimit the frontier. Every request was refused. In 1923, Lyautey invited me to send a representative to Rabat. I did so, but his presence was ignored. Then General Chambrun informed me that the French were advancing their outposts beyond the Wergha, and he ordered my soldiers to withdraw from that region, where they were marketing.

"As my hands were full at that time with Spain, I complied with the order. But early in April of this year I received another order that my troops, who were marketing in the Beni Zeroual territory, which has always been Riffian, must withdraw from this region.

"Even had I wanted to comply with this request, I would not have had time before the French aeroplanes dropped bombs upon my men. Voila, that is why I was forced to go to war to protect the rights of the Riffians. My motive is purely defensive. We demand that the Riffians shall be respected in the French zone, as we are willing to respect French rights in the Riffian zone. The bombardment was the culmination of aggravations which forced me reluctantly to make preparations to defend my country."

DISCUSSIONS WITH FRANCE.

Should you then be willing to make peace with France on the boundary which is specified in the Algeciras Treaty? I asked.

"Our arms now will decide the frontier," he responded. But next day Abdel Krim told me—"I am always glad to discuss terms of peace with France. You can invite France to send their responsible representative to me, and if France wants peace there is no obstacle as to the frontier, although we are in a better position than ever to discuss this. However, if she wants war, we are ready—it will mean disaster for France. When France advanced towards us, we were forced to defend ourselves, and we are ready to fight until death."

Regarding Spain, Abdel Krim is less desirous of peace.

"You can inform General Primo de Rivera," he told me, "we are demanding that Spain shall recognise the complete independence of the Riff, including Ceuta and Melilla."

But I learned later that Abdel Krim is willing to make peace on the condition that only Tetuan is included. I confirmed the report that both Spain and France sent a peace feeler into the Riff at the beginning of this month.

PEACE FEELERS.

I saw a copy of a friendly letter which Marshal Lyautey relayed through the French outposts, which began by asking Abdel Krim if he needed doctors, then inviting him to send a representative to Rabat, and ending by detailing the grievances of France.

Abdel Krim admitted that General de Rivera had relayed peace conditions also—through the Spanish outpost—but declared that he ignored the communication because it was improperly presented.

"The agent merely read out the list of conditions from an ordinary piece of paper. They were even unsigned, and I have forgotten what they were," Abdel Krim told me.

From other sources I was told that Spain offered to evacuate Tetuan, also to furnish money to the Riffian Government for Government service and public improvements, on the condition that Abdel Krim recognised the Spanish protectorate and incorporates Spanish advisers in his Government.

General Rivera told me yesterday that he had merely authorised the outpost to inform Abdel Krim that he must recognise the Spanish protectorate; that Spain is here as a friend and not out for conquest, but to help in the economic and social development of the country, to build roads, railways and schools.

FIGHT FOR HUMANITY.

I told Abdel Krim of the French statement, that they are fighting for humanity.

"No one fights for humanity by bombing villages and killing non-combatants, women and children," he replied. "One fights for humanity with doctors, teachers and charitable works. If they want to fight for humanity let them send doctors here."

He explained, however, that the doctors did not care for the wounded. His losses fortunately are not heavy, and he has only a comparatively few wounded. He needs doctors to improve the sanitary and hygienic conditions of the villages, and to wage war against typhoid and other diseases.

I asked Abdel Krim concerning the atrocities, and informed him that the bodies of French soldiers had been found mutilated.

"Never has a single one of my soldiers mutilated a body," he retorted emphatically. "If bodies have been mutilated it is certainly by tribes who have been venting their rage because of aeroplane bombardments; but the Riffian soldier is absolutely innocent of this barbarity."

Abdel Krim disavowed any hope or belief in a confederation of Arab States.

"The Riffian movement is not religious, not racial; but patriotic," he insisted.

I asked him what form of Government the Riff intended to adopt if the Powers concede independence of the Riff.

"It will rest like it is"—which, after some questioning, meant the absolute monarchy advised by the "best minds" in the country. He wants compulsory schools in the Riff.

CONCESSIONS.

Economically, Abdel Krim said that the Riff would be willing to concede the present rights in mining, railway and other concessions, or private property holders outside the present Riff boundaries. That means that Spanish interest would keep the rich iron mines at Melilla, and the railways, but the Riff Government ignores any claims for concessions in the territory held by Abdel Krim.

He denied that there was any German influences in the Riff, asking me if I could see any, or if I was able to find a single man on his staff who even spoke the German language.

There would be no advantage for Riffians to lose their lives fighting for freedom merely to sacrifice it to another Power.

TWO MEN DROWNED.

FATAL END TO A FOOLISH PRANK.

Two young men, Thomas Butler, of Jamestown, and Patrick McKay, of Dumbarton, were drowned in Loch Lomond yesterday. They were travelling in a motor launch with about forty others, when they climbed over the stern into a small boat which was being towed.

McKay, in endeavouring to haul the boat closer to the launch, caused it to swerve. Grasping the flagpole at the back of the launch, he pulled it out altogether and fell overboard, upsetting the boat. Butler sank at once, and McKay, after swimming a little, also disappeared.

THE PRINCE AT PRETORIA.

ILLUMINATIONS AND PROCESSION.

FROM THE PRESS ASSOCIATION'S SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

PRETORIA, Sunday.

Pretoria's effort last night beat all previous illuminations during the Prince's tour. Every building and church, and a square four times the size of Trafalgar square, was decked with vari-coloured bulbs.

As soon as the town was lighted up there was a procession of scores of cars, representing all the branches of Pretoria's activities, the most attractive item being a "DH 9," mounted on a lorry-like platform, the wings sweeping just clear of the dense crowds. The aeroplane was a blaze of lights. The cheering lasted a whole twenty minutes.

Afterwards the Prince attended a dinner given by the Administrator, at which were present 250 representatives from different parts of the Transvaal.

The Administrator, in the course of a very eloquent speech, expressed regret that his itinerary prevented them from taking the Prince into the heart of the bush and veldt to enjoy the hospitality of the farmers, who said that the Prince was one of themselves. Ours is a simple people, continued the Administrator. They have learned from the old Voortrekkers to ride, shoot, and speak the truth. We have recognised the same characteristics in you during your tour in South Africa.

The Prince, in thanking the Administrator for his speech, expressed appreciation of the great gatherings of school children, which had been a feature of the tour. He deeply regretted that he was unable to see more of the smaller towns and the splendid veldt, but he had gained much knowledge from the informal conversations he had had—far more, indeed, than from more formal addresses of welcome. Some of his happiest experiences had been at small, wayside stations not on the programme, where he had been able to mix with those who came to greet him at all hours of the day and night.

The Prince added—"I shall always remember this feature of the tour, which encourages me in the hope that some day I may be able to return to South Africa." After prolonged cheers, the Prince concluded:—"Gentlemen, it is no polite platitude when I say that I will do my best to come back."

This morning the Prince reviewed 3,500 ex-Service men at the close of an open-air Service, and then drove to the memorial erected to the memory of the late President Kruger, where he laid a wreath. The ceremony was quite private, for no announcement of it had been made, and only two members of his staff accompanied the Prince. He subsequently planted a tree in the grounds of Government House.

STONEHENGE PILGRIMAGE.

DRUIDS AND OFFICIALS AT VARIANCE.

The annual pilgrimage to Stonehenge, on Salisbury Plain, was made by an unusually large number of people yesterday morning in the hope of seeing the first rays of the rising sun light up the slaughter stone in the centre of the circle.

The visitors, however, were disappointed, the eastern sky being obscured by a cloud until after the sun had passed the requisite spot. Some excitement was occasioned by differences between officials and latter day druids, who, it is stated, had been granted permission by the Office of Works to hold midsummer solstice services within the circle.

When the crowd had lined up for admission previous to sunrise, it is alleged that the son of one of the druids obstructed the passage of spectators. The former complains that he was seized by officials and thrown over the turnstile. During the altercation a section of the crowd rushed the barrier.

MR. GODFREY ISSACS' ESTATE.

Mr. Godfrey Charles Issacs, of Lyne Grove, Virginia Water, Surrey, formerly managing director of Marconi's Wireless Telegraph Co., Ltd.; the Marconi International Marine Communication Co., Ltd., and the Spanish and General Corporation, Ltd., and a director of allied wireless concerns, who died on April 17 last, aged 59 years, formerly a Jew, but later a convert to Roman Catholicism, left unsettled property valued for probate at £195,490, with net personalty £139,426. He left £500, his household and personal effects to his wife for life, with remainder equally between his sons, Marcel Godfrey Isaacs and Dennis Isaacs, and the residue of his property as to one-half to his wife absolutely, and one-half upon trust for her for life, with remainder as to £10,000 upon trust for his grandson, Richard Marcel Isaacs, and the balance upon trust for his two sons in equal shares.

STATE'S DUTY TO MAKE WORK.

Mr. J. R. Clynes, speaking at Southsea, Hampshire, yesterday afternoon on unemployment, said that a stage had been reached where the State must assume the responsibility of being the reserve employer now that private enterprise had failed in its function. That doctrine was preached many years ago by the present Chancellor of the Exchequer, and they must press it with greater energy than ever. If the country decided to add half as much to the amount now paid for nothing and organised productive and useful service, at least one-half of the unemployed would be set to profitable work.

PARTY TUNES BY BANDS.

ORANGEMEN ATTACKED AT CLYDEBANK.

Riotous scenes occurred on Saturday night at Clydebank, following an Orange demonstration. Rival parties came into conflict, and a series of mêlees followed, during which a constable was seriously injured. The police made six arrests.

Party tunes were played by the bands, and this apparently roused the ire of certain Catholics, who made a rush for the Orange banners. On the return journey to the station a crowd again attacked the Orangemen. So alarming was the situation that the night police force was summoned. The constables formed up into two lines to protect the demonstrators, but a shower of missiles, including bottles, created a stampede.

Special trains were waiting to convey the Orangemen, who were accompanied by women and children, and when the first train passed along the highway stones and bottles were hurled at it. Several windows were smashed, and minor injuries inflicted.

Subsequently the police cleared the danger zone, and the remaining special trains got away without mishap.

On the arrival of the excursionists in Glasgow further attacks were made, but the police dispersed the rioters.

RAND MINERS' WAGES.

PROSPECTS OF SETTLEMENT.

(FROM A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

JOHANNESBURG, Sunday.

The Central Branch of the Mine Workers' Union yesterday evening decided by a majority vote in favour of the suggestion of the moderates for a settlement of the wages dispute by coming to terms with the Chamber of Mines, and to meet the Chamber again.

It is believed that the Chamber offered increases on a sliding scale—namely, 1s. for men earning £1 and over, and more for those paid on a lower scale, the increases to date from the beginning of last April. Other branches of the Mine Workers' Union will be deciding shortly, and it is considered that they will be guided largely by the opinion of the Central Branch.

GREEK FINANCIAL MEASURES.

NO NEW PAPER MONEY.

ATHENS, Sunday.

The Government has introduced a bill in the National Assembly, by which all debts in gold, contracted before December 31, 1922, and which, by the law of January 7, 1923, were to be settled in paper money, must now be paid in gold within certain time limits. The law, which is applicable to bank deposits, is also retrospective for debts already settled either in whole or in part in paper by virtue of the law of 1923. The National Bank of Greece will pay in bonds, redeemable in 10 years' time, bearing an interest at 3 per cent., and these bonds will be accepted by the bank as security for loans. In the course of the discussion in the Assembly yesterday evening on the policy followed by the Government on the question of currency, the Minister of Finance and the Premier declared that the Government had decided to avoid the issue of new paper money.—(Reuter.)

THROUGH WALL OF FIRE.

GIRL'S HEROIC EFFORT TO SAVE FRIEND.

A girl's dash through "a wall of flame" in order to save her companion was described at an inquest at Greenwich last Saturday.

Rose Wade, it was stated, was working in a flock factory at Plumstead when a machine caught fire, and her clothes became ignited, and she fell. Lillian Payto, dashing through what she described as a "wall of flame," attempted to get Wade away from the fire. As she did so a half-filled bag of flock, hanging above, fell upon her, knocking her abck. She got to her feet, and again taking hold of Wade by the shoulders succeeded in dragging her to a place of safety, and then fainted. Wade died later from the effects of burns.

A verdict of "Accidental death" was recorded.

SELLING BY CINEMA.

A picture theatre and a church have been borrowed for the first British Advertising Convention, which is to be held next month at Harrogate.

"At present the cinema is being used far too much for selling American goods," Mr. G. E. Turner, organiser of the publicity film section of the Convention, said in London. "We do not want to bar American goods, but we want every film manager to awake to the fact that the publicity film can be used to sell British goods, and we think that the cinema has not been used for this purpose to a sufficient extent by British firms.

"At Harrogate we are to have a two hours cinema session. We shall show several publicity films produced for big advertisers and one of the Convention itself. The cricket match between a team of London delegates and the Leeds and Bradford Publicity Clubs is to be screened, too, as also the reception by the Mayor of Harrogate and the arrival of delegates at the church service to be conducted by the Dean of Windsor."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A YACHTSMAN'S THANKS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Permit me, as a British yachtsman sailing from Cowes, a few remarks on a recent cruise to the more remote corners of Ireland. After a passage of about twenty hours from the Isles of Scilly, we made Cork Harbour on the 11th May, where we spent a day before proceeding to explore the coasts of West Cork and Kerry. Limerick was reached on the 19th and Lough Derg on the 20th May.

The main object of the expedition was the pursuit of trout with the mayfly. We were a fortnight behind our scheduled time, but the mayfly is a true Irish gentleman and had waited for us, being a fortnight late himself. So all was well. Sport, however, was not quite up to the usual standard, but still was great fun and worth the trouble. The fishing over, a visit was paid to the upper waters of the Shannon, and a point was reached which is, I suppose, about two hundred miles from the mouth of the river.

Now, alas! "Grania" has reluctantly turned his head for home. Nothing could have been kinder or more delightful than her welcome, even in the more unfrequented parts—often warmest where least expected. I mention this in view of the reluctance of some of my brother yachtsmen to visit this country for fear of insult to our flag, which naturally we are disinclined to lower for any man, even if this were legal. Personally, I arrived flying the White Ensign, and continued to fly it everywhere I sailed. Not only was there no sign of unpleasantness of any kind—I had never anticipated any—but everyone seemed to combine to make our stay agreeable.

Two suggestions I would make: Could not the Free State Government do something to restore the stock of trout to its pre-war excellence? Could not something be done to relax certain irksome Customs and postal rules? I refer to those dealing with British parcels. A case in point might be of interest. A parcel arrived from England at a Southern port just after the yacht had sailed, addressed to one of my guests on board. Some question about import duty arose. There ensued an aggravating and futile correspondence and a delay of about a month, after which it was returned without warning to the laundry in London who sent it; and my guest is still gasping for some badly-needed summer clothes. Such incidents do not encourage hesitating tourists to the Emerald Isle.

I should, perhaps, say that I have found the port officials (both of the Customs and harbour masters) the embodiment of efficiency and courtesy—equal, if not superior, to any in Europe. I would add a word of appreciation of that exceptionally fine organisation, the Shannon Navigation Department of the Board of Trade. Its officials, high and low, and its general arrangements leave nothing to be desired from the point of view of the stranger yachtsman. Indeed, he will find many other kind friends anxious and able to help him. They are sportsmen all.

Finally, I would say that I intend, if I may, on sailing from this hospitable shore, to fly their Tricolour as a small token of regard for the kindly, well-bred people of the West and South.—Yours, etc.,

R. J. PURCELL.

CLOTHES AND THE CUSTOMS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I have been reading the reply given to Major Myles by Mr. O'Higgins in the Dail. The latter says that "payment was generally waived if the luggage was collected by the owner when delivered." I know that to be the case, but, even if it were not, one would not mind so much. The great point to my mind is that the luggage is not delivered. It is held up at the port, or post, of entry, and not sent forward to the destination on which carriage has been paid. I decided to spend my holidays in the Free State some weeks ago and sent a very normal supply of clothes—one small trunk—on in advance. I had eventually to travel one hundred miles by road to collect this trunk at the post of entry.

In common with Mr. Kelly, I must say that the Customs officials were, one and all, courteous in the extreme, and did everything to facilitate me when I called. It is apparently the officials "higher up" who are at fault—possibly the Minister for Finance. At the same time, courtesy—welcome enough as it is in these days—is little compensation to a tourist for having travelled one hundred miles for his clothes, having previously spent over a week trying to find out where the trunk was. It might just as easily have been three hundred miles, had I been in Cork or further South.—Yours, etc.,

SMALL HOLDINGS FINANCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I wish to call attention to one serious aspect of the Government's scheme for the creation of small holdings—that is, the scandalous under-payment for the land acquired for that purpose. I know of one case where £15 an acre was paid for good land and others where £12 an acre was paid for medium store land. In such cases the Land Commission annuity had to be redeemed, which diminished the cash received. Thirty pounds an acre was paid about this district in 1907 (the last year of a big scheme of labourers' cottages) for every one acre and ten perches of middling store land. On the above basis one would probably get £10 or £12 an acre, less redemption money.

This is a capital levy on one class in the community, and, worse still, it is confiscation—I refrain from using a stronger term. Confiscation is a vicious principle to establish. Once it is set in motion, no one is safe, and, above all, it is dishonest. I reckon that, if my land were taken, I would get a net payment of about £7 an acre. Yet my last two years' income tax returns, accepted by the Surveyor of Taxes, show an annual profit of 25s. an acre. What are the Farmers' Party and the Farmers' Union going to do about it?—Yours, etc.,

"FARMER."

THE LIFEBOAT COLLECTION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Will you again allow me to direct the attention of the people of Dublin to the annual appeal on behalf of the noble and humane cause of the lifeboat, in connection with which the Special Effort Committee are organising their Flag Days on Wednesday and Thursday next, when, with the assistance of the lady helpers and others, the "man in the street" will be appealed to? The Institution's fleet of lifeboats stationed round the British Isles now consists of 220 lifeboats, of which 50 are motor boats. There are stationed on the Irish coasts 25 lifeboats, of which seven are the very latest type of motor lifeboat.

In this connection it may be mentioned that the Institution placed a new motor lifeboat at Portrush last year at a cost of £7,500, and the expenses of adapting the station will be £2,500. The Dunmore East, Co. Waterford, new motor lifeboat has just been completed at a cost of £7,300, and has been delivered to the station. It has also been decided to supply Clogherhead Station, Co. Louth, with a new motor lifeboat and tractor, for which the estimated cost is about £5,500, and many hundreds of pounds will also require to be spent in adapting this station. It is quite safe to say that the Institution have spent, and are proposing to spend in the near future, over £22,000 on these three Irish stations alone, apart from the maintenance of the other twenty-two lifeboats on our coasts; so that it is the duty of the people of Dublin and of the Free State generally to give generously towards the support of the good work.

The Special Effort Committee are gratified by the response which is being made to their appeal in the form of remittances sent through the post, as well as by collections organised by the managers of factories, workshops, offices, hotels and restaurants, and every section of the friends of the lifeboat can now have the opportunity of helping. I shall be pleased to acknowledge contributions of any amount which may be sent to me here.—Yours, etc.,

ARTHUR WHEWELL,
Chairman Special Effort Committee,
Royal National Lifeboat Institution

DUBLIN DANCE BANDS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—In comparing London with Dublin dance bands it is generally overlooked that the average number of players engaged in Dublin dance bands comprises only five or six, whereas London bands, fulfilling special engagements in Dublin or broadcasting from London, usually consist of twice that number. This is, of course, a very much greater number of professional musicians to select from in London than in Dublin. With the advent of the broadcasting station in Dublin, in the musical programme of which dance music will, no doubt, constitute a "necessary evil," I am sure we can muster a dozen or so performers who, by reason of regular practice and constant playing together, will give a good account of themselves and compare favourably with cross-Channel dance bands.—Yours, etc.,

W. A. MANAHAN.

THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT ELECTIONS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Sir Simon Maddock, in his excellent letter concerning voting on the 23rd inst., has made one surprising omission. He forgot to mention the existence of women candidates and neglected to call upon women voters to support them. Women, as a whole, are in favour of working the existing Constitution in order to promote child welfare, housing and other social reforms. The forthcoming elections give a good opportunity for practical feminists to demonstrate the fitness of experienced business women for public life. I confidently call upon women of all parties to come to the pool on Tuesday next.—Yours, etc.,

MARY MULNEY.

CONNAUGHT.

Debt-Paying at 3 a.m.—Richard Breehan, Doughill, Strokestown, was found not guilty at Boyle last Saturday of a charge of attempting to rescue two cows and a horse which had been seized on account of a decree. Police concealed themselves in the pound, and at 3 a.m. Breehan entered and went towards the shed in which the stock was housed. Outside were two disguised men, who ran away when challenged. Breehan said that he went there to redeem the seized stock.

Woman Burglar.—A sentence of three months was recorded against Margaret Flanagan, Carrowmore, Croghan, at Boyle last Friday, for burglary at the house of the late Patrick Shannon, Carrowmore. The judge directed that the sentence should not be enforced, if the defendant is of good behaviour for twelve months.

New Telephone Exchange.—Roscommon County Board of Health has been informed that on the strength of the support promised from Roscommon, a telephone exchange is to be established in the town.

New Links at Roscommon.—The members of the Roscommon Golf Club have secured seventy acres in Moate Park, the property of Lord Crofton, within a quarter of a mile of the town, on which they are laying down a nine-hole course, to be opened on June 29th.

LEINSTER.

Holiday-Maker Injured.—John Gallagher, who has come to this country from America for a holiday, and is staying at Geashill, King's County, has been seriously injured in a motor car accident at Moydrum, County Westmeath. The car in which he was travelling ran into a heap of stones and overturned. Charles Claffey, a cyclist, who was passing at the time, was knocked down and injured. James Corcoran, Tullamore, the driver of the car, has been remanded on a charge of reckless driving.

Weapons of Defence.—At Thomastown, Co. Kilkenny, last Friday, Thomas Kelly, Mall street, and James Kelly, Grennan, were remanded on charges of assaulting Thomas Kelly, Jerpoint Abbey. Thomas Kelly, who is an uncle of the prisoners, said that at 11 o'clock on the previous night he saw the accused men enter his garden. He asked them what they wanted, and they replied that he was the means of breaking up their fishing crew. He told them to clear off, and when they refused he got his gun and fired a shot through the window to frighten the prisoners. The prisoners tried to enter by one of the windows. They caught his gun, and tried to wrench it from him. Mrs. Kelly said that she threw water on, and spat at, the prisoners.

Death of Father Murray.—The Rev. Martin Murray, Graiguenamanagh, Co. Kilkenny, died last Thursday at the age of 80 years. Father Murray was in Australia for many years. He returned recently to his native town in poor health.

New Potatoes.—New potatoes at Tullamore market, grown locally, brought 4d. per lb.

Dispensary Doctors' Residence.—The Local Government Department has given permission to the dispensary doctors at Athlone, Rooskey, Ballyleague and Aughrim to live outside their districts, as no unnecessary inconvenience will be caused to sick people.

MUNSTER.

Fire Rescues in Cork.—Cronin's grocery shop, 11 Blarney street, Cork, was seriously damaged by fire in the early hours of last Saturday morning. People living in upper rooms were rescued by means of ladders. Adjoining premises were saved by the efforts of the brigade.

Agrarian Trouble.—Thomas McNamara, Ivy Hill, was remanded on bail of £100 and two sureties of £50 each at Ennis last Friday on a charge of unlawful assembly at Coor, when a gate on the Beechpark estate was torn off its hinges and thrown into a river and a length of wall pulled down. Shots were fired at 1.15 a.m. on the occasion, and police who went to the scene searched houses in the neighbourhood. McNamara was found in his house wearing wet clothes. A pair of boots in the house corresponded with footprints found near the damaged wall.

Dilapidated Workhouse.—A Local Government Dept. report to the Co. Board of Health states that the sanitary arrangements in the County Home at Thurles are unsatisfactory; there are gaping holes in the roof and many broken windows. Several rooms are dark and depressing. The report adds that the condition of the place does not help to brighten the declining years of the aged and infirm who live in it. There are 102 men, 125 women, and 41 children in the institution.

ULSTER.

Railway History.—Samuel Bingham, of Stranorlar, Co. Donegal, who has retired after forty-three years' service with the County Donegal Railways Joint Committee, drove the first train that ran to Killybegs.

A witness, at Boyle, who was asked "What are you by way of business," replied, "An old-age pensioner."

Michael Dowling, Wolfe Tone street, Kilkenny, an attendant in Kilkenny Asylum, was found dead in his bed last Saturday morning.

Mr. Joseph Devine, of Salthill, Galway, well known in the West as representative of Messrs. Avery and Co., Ltd., weights and measures suppliers, died suddenly at Lahinch, Co. Clare, last Thursday.

NORTHERN IRELAND.

Moira Cottage Rents.—A proposal made at a meeting of the Moira, Co. Down, Rural Council, to increase the rents of the labourers' cottages by 2d. a week, and to erect ten more houses, found no seconder. There are 129 labourers' cottages, let at from 1s. 3d. to 2s. 4d. a week, in the rural district.

Belfast Motor Accidents.—Robert Calvert, aged 40, of 11 Hemp street, was knocked down by a motor car on the Albertbridge road, Belfast, last Saturday, and died later in hospital. Thomas S. W. Jordan, aged 17, The Rocks, Ballygowan, while riding a bicycle at Saintfield, collided with a motor car, and sustained fractures of both legs.

Savings Certificates.—During the week ended June 13 the sales of Northern Savings Certificates numbered 15,337. Since April 1, 1922, 2,880,089 certificates have been sold and £1,800,055 invested. Repayments to date amount to £189,842, in addition to £6,522 accrued interest.

Valuable Co. Down Land.—Six acres in the townlands of Tullyherron, near Waringstown, Co. Down, held at the yearly rent of £2 5s., under Lord Clanwilliam, have been sold by auction for £350.

Mr. John McCandless, of Lisroan, Coleraine, hardware merchant and sanitary engineer, of Coleraine and Portrush, left personal estate in Great Britain and Northern Ireland valued at £5,655. The testator left his property specifically on trust for his children and their issue.

The body of Eileen Winters, aged 15, 1 Artana street, Ormeau road, Belfast, was found in the Lagan last Saturday. She had been missing since the previous Monday. There is no suspicion of foul play.

Francis Carleton, aged 69, of 80 Agincourt avenue, Belfast, an ex-member of the Royal Irish Constabulary, died in the Botanic Gardens last Friday while listening to the police band.

NEW ISSUES.

RAYON MANUFACTURING COMPANY, LIMITED.

Lloyd's Bank, and branches will receive applications for 300,000 7½ p.c. Cumulative Preference Shares of £1 each and 300,000 Deferred Ordinary Shares of 1s. each in the Rayon Manufacturing Company, Ltd., makers of fine-grade artificial silk yarns. The company has entered into a contract for the purchase, at the price of £75,000, of freehold factories, equipped with modern power and lighting plant, situate near Ashstead, in Surrey. It is anticipated that the first unit will be in operation by October next, and that the present factories will be running to full capacity by December of this year. The directors have satisfied themselves that the profits available for distribution on the first full year's working will cover the dividend on the preference shares between three and four times over. Applicants for preference shares will be entitled to have alloted to them one deferred ordinary share for each preference share allotted. An influential directorate has been secured, and the technical Committee includes Mr. Frank Cousins, formerly production manager at Courtaulds, so that the shareholders should get a fair run for their money. The amount retained for working capital appears rather small. The issue has been underwritten at 4 p.c. and a fee of £3,500. The list will close on or before Wednesday. Applicants should use the form attached to the prospectus on Page 4.

BRITISH SUGAR MANUFACTURERS, LIMITED.

Applications are being received by Barclays Bank, Ltd., head office and branches, and British Linen Bank head office and branches in respect of an issue of 350,000 shares of £1 each at par in British Sugar Manufacturers, Ltd., a company formed to construct and operate a beet sugar factory at Wissington, on the River Wissey, South-West Norfolk, about five miles from the town of Downham Market, and 15 miles from the port of King's Lynn. The factory, which will be one of the most modern and extensive in England, will have a capacity to treat 600 tons of beet roots per day. Its construction is already so far advanced that its completion in time to deal with this year's crop is assured. The net profits of the first season's working are estimated at £71,235; during the next two years the net profits are estimated at £107,025 per annum, showing an average annual net profit for the three years of £95,095, being over 27 per cent. per annum on the entire capital of the company, which solely consists of £350,000 Ordinary shares. There are no founders or Deferred shares, debentures, or mortgages.

Three-year contracts for the supply of beets, covering the requirements of the company, have been arranged with experienced and successful growers in the neighbourhood. There is a ready market for the company's sugar, the demand being far greater than the supply, for the present annual consumption of sugar in England is nearly two million tons—most of which is imported. Last year the total beet sugar production of Europe was over 7,000,000 tons. It has been proved that the weight per acre and the sugar content of beet grown in England are equal, if not superior, to those of roots grown on the continent of Europe. The subscription list closes on or before Friday next, and applications may be made on the form which will be found attached to the prospectus on page 4.

SYNTHETIC AMMONIA AND NITRATES, LIMITED.

The Bank of England will receive applications for £2,000,000 5 p.c. Guaranteed Debenture stock of Synthetic Ammonia and Nitrates, Ltd. The stock is repayable over the years 1930 to 1945 by the operation of a sinking fund of £125,000 per annum. The company was formed in June, 1920, for the purpose of carrying on the business of the fixation of atmospheric nitrogen and the manufacture of its drivative compounds. The directors hold 1,300 ordinary shares (fully paid), and the whole of the remaining capital is held by Brunner, Mond and Co. The proceeds of the present issue, together with other moneys, will be devoted exclusively to the erection of additional buildings and plant, capable of producing and converting a further 150 tons of pure ammonia per day, making, with the output from the plants already completed and now in course of extension, a total output of 200 tons of pure ammonia per day, equivalent approximately to 270,000 tons of sulphate of ammonia per annum. The stock is guaranteed as to principal and interest by His Majesty's Government, under the provision of the Trade Facilities Acts, and the price of issue is £98 per cent. It is a trustee stock. Applications must be for sums of £100 or multiple thereof. The list will close on or before Wednesday, and the stock will, no doubt, be heavily subscribed. Applicants should use the form attached to the prospectus on Page 4.

SUNGEI TUKONG RUBBER PLANTATIONS, LIMITED.

The lists will open to-day for an issue of 1,000,000 shares of 2s. each at par of the Sungei Tukong Rubber Plantations. The company has been formed to take over the Sungei Buloh estate, together with two adjoining estates in the State of Johore. The total area is 3,524 acres, of which 1,701 acres are under rubber. The crop for 1925-26 is estimated at 196,938lb., costing 10.92d. per lb. Based upon a selling price of 1s. 9d. per lb., the profit for that year is estimated at £8,271, giving a return of 8 per cent. on the capital of £120,000, while during the following six years the profits, with rubber at 1s. 6d. per lb., are expected to increase to £23,463, yielding 23 per cent. All the directors are connected with successful plantation companies, and the properties have been favourably reported on by Mr. J. Kenneth Swayne, who states that the standard production for 1925 is likely to exceed 300,000lbs. He values the properties at £82,260, and the purchase price is £77,256. The Midland Bank and the Chartered Bank of India will receive applications for the shares and applicants should use the form on page 4, and note that the lists will close on or before the 24th instant.

U.S. MARKETS.

STOCKS CLOSED FIRM.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, Saturday.

Stocks opened firm, and the satisfactory trade news, continued cheap money, and pool operations combined to advance speculative favourites sharply. General Motors duplicated the year's highest level, and United Cigar made a record high price. Public Utilities, Automobile Accessories, American Agricultural Chemical Prefd., and Investment Railroads were the strongest. Pierce Arrow Prior Prefd. broke 15 points, however, on an official denial of the merger reports. The market closed firm. Government Bonds steady; Railroad Bonds steady. The day's sales totalled 660,000 shares. Money on call dull and nominal. Sterling exchange steady. Silver ⅛c. higher at 68⅞.

NEW YORK COTTON.

COTTON opened steady, but 4 to 7 points lower, owing to cable advices being disappointing and Wall street houses selling. The market reacted, however, owing to the improved conditions of the cotton goods trade, buying by trade interests, the daily weather reports indicating need of moisture, an unfavourable weather forecast, bullish private crop accounts, covering of shorts, and a better demand of a public character. The closing was steady, 10 to 26 points up. Spot quiet at 10 points advance. New Orleans spot 15 points higher.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Saturday.

WHEAT opened steady, ⅛c. up to ⅛c. down. Declines followed, influenced by bearish cable advices, favourable weather in the North-West, and realising sales, but the market rallied on predictions of less favourable weather, a better cash demand, and commission house buying. The downward movement was resumed later on a predicted increase in receipts, lower North-West markets, expected larger weekly world's shipments, small seaboard clearances, and the disappointing export enquiry and outside demand. The market closed easy at 1c. to 1⅞c. fall. Spot steady.

CORN at the opening was irregular and ⅛c. lower, values receding owing to favourable weather and crop reports and liquidation, but a reaction set in in sympathy with wheat and on commission houses buying and shorts covering. Prices fell back again, however, on the slow cash and outside demand, and the market finished easy, 1⅛c. to ⅛c. down. Spot, No. 2 mixed, unquoted.

MAYPOLE DANCING.

FESTIVAL AT LORD IVEAGH'S GROUNDS.

Over two thousand people were present at the annual Folk Dancing Festival, which was held on Saturday in Lord Iveagh's grounds by the National Women's Health Association of Ireland. From three o'clock on mothers with children and babies in arms arrived in a continuous stream, until it seemed as if even the spacious grounds at their disposal could hold no more.

As soon as the fifteen groups from different schools and babies' clubs had been manœuvred into position round their maypoles the dancing began to the music of the Artane band, and went on energetically for two hours, in spite of the heat, which did not seem to trouble the performers in the least.

The prizes were distributed by Lady Aberdeen, who received a warm welcome when she arrived with Sir William Thompson. The first three prize-winning groups were Whitefriar street School, the Civic Playground, and St. Laurence O'Toole's Babies' Club.

Lady Aberdeen, in congratulating Mr. J. M. Lang and the other organisers, said that it was agreed that there had been the best turn out of members that day of any year since the festival was first held.

The children were then supplied with a well-earned tea, before being collected by their respective parents to go home—the only item in the day's programme which they undertook with any reluctance.

The King has approved of the appointment of General Sir Herbert E. Blumberg, Royal Marines, as Honorary Colonel-Commandant of the Chatham Royal Marine Division, to date, 21st June, in the vacancy created by the retirement of General Sir William Adair, Royal Marines.

Canon Jackson has been nominated to the Incumbency of the Union of Kilcommon and Kilmore Erris.

At an ordination held recently in Waterford Cathedral the Rev. J. G. Russell and the Rev. A. H. Stanistreet were admitted to the order of the priesthood.

MR. RONALD M'NEILL.

The condition of Mr. Ronald McNeill and Mrs. McNeill was stated last night to be unchanged.

CRICKETER INJURED.

STRUCK BY FALLING SHEET OF LEAD.

A curious accident which occurred in Villiers street, London, on Friday evening was responsible for the absence of Mr. Young, the Somerset cricketer, from the match with Surrey on Saturday. With some other Somerset players, he was walking after dinner when a sheet of lead fell from a house and struck him in the stomach. His friends took him to Charing Cross Hospital, where he is reported to be going on satisfactorily.

It is probable that an X-ray examination will be made to discover whether he has received internal injuries.

RATHMINES BILLIARD ROOM BURNED OUT.

Thompson's billiard room, 44 Rathmines road, Rathmines, was destroyed by fire in the early hours of last Saturday morning. The Rathmines Fire Brigade and the brigade from Portobello Barracks were engaged, but the flames had obtained so strong a hold that it was impossible to save the place. A telegraph pole fifteen yards away was scorched at the top by the flames. It was stated on Saturday that the building contained fourteen billiard tables and the usual furniture, and that the damage, estimated at about £2,000, is covered by insurance.

ALFRED LESTER LEAVES £37,000

Mr. Alfred Edwin Leslie (professionally known as Alfred Lester), of 2 Ladbroke terrace, Holland Park, W., the well-known "doleful comedian," who will be especially remembered for his performances in "The Arcadians" and "The Bing Boys," who died at Madrid on May 6 last, aged 50 years, a native of Nottingham, left estate of the gross value of £37,779, with net personalty £37,561. He left £500 to the Actors' Orphanage Fund; £500 to the Actors' Benevolent Fund; £200 to the Music Hall Benevolent Institution; £200 to the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals; £200 to the Dumb Friends' League; and £100 to the Canine Defence League.

Alfred Lester left an estate rather larger than that usually left by successful actors, as distinct from managers and proprietors. The more noteworthy theatrical estates of recent years are those of George Wild Galvin (Dan Leno), £10,994; Mrs. Matilda Alice Victoria Dillon (Marie Lloyd), £7,334 (net personalty nil); Dame Genevieve Ward, £9,354; Wal Pink, £1,204; Sir Charles Hawtrey, £1,180; H. B. Irving, £39,176; and Sir John Hare, £30,056.

LADY ASTOR AND DRINK.

"A JOB FOR A PRIME MINISTER."

Speaking in Edinburgh last night in connection with the World's Women's Christian Temperance Convention, Lady Astor said that she was relieved that her speech was not being broadcast. She would rather help a dozen people who were really in earnest than 1,200 who were merely curious, and she was so used to rebuffs in political life that one or two more made no difference. She referred to men who became peers because they sold drink, and said that no matter what good they might do with their vast fortunes they could never undo the damage they had done in making them. Why did not all the party leaders get together and say that they would not be dictated to by any trade? The Prime Minister had said that he was ready to fight vested interests. Well, she would give him a job, and when he thought of it he would realise that it was a job for a Prime Minister.

"THE BELVEDERIAN."

For past as well as for present students of Belvedere College one can well imagine that the annual appearance of "The Belvederian" is an important and looked-for event. Former pupils get news of what their class-mates are doing in the various parts of the world to which fate has drawn them, while the present generation find their achievements, whether in the study halls or in the field of sport, duly chronicled. There are numerous illustrations in the issue of 1925, and a number of special articles on topical subjects, which many outside the ranks of Belvederians may read with interest and profit.

Special mention may be made of the article by "Criticus" on "The New Intermediate Programme." This writer, who obviously knows his subject, admits that a change in the intermediate education system was overdue, but he makes no secret of his conviction that the new programme has blemishes, some of which are vital. The division of schools into three clases, A B and C, according to the extent to which they use the Irish language, fails to meet his approval. "Criticus" says:

"The time has not yet come for teaching extensively through the medium of Irish. . . . If attempted on a large scale it would mean that our education would be inferior to that given in other countries. To impart knowledge through the medium of Irish it is necessary that the teachers should speak Irish fluently. In almost every Irish school there are teachers who are proficient in their own subject, but their fluency in Irish is not sufficient to teach through its medium. Besides, there are very few Irish text-books to be had up to the present, and to teach a subject without a text-book is a hopeless undertaking."

ASCOT REVIEW.

SILVO'S SUCCESS IN FRANCE.

COLTS OF PROMISE.

ST. LEGER PLANS AND PROBLEMS.

(FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Sunday Night.

It is very pleasant to be able to record the victory of another Irish horse in the Grand Steeplechase de Paris, which Silvo won this afternoon, joining that small but select band which includes such great names as Troytown and Jerry M. His joint owners, Mr. Walter Midwood and Sir Edward Elgar, and his trainer, Mr. Percy Whitaker, are most heartily to be congratulated on taking this race, which needs a lot of winning, and has in the past eluded some of the very best 'chasers. A Grand National may be always a little beyond Silvo, but this time he has really come into his own and set the seal on his fame. To Mr. Whitaker must be given all the credit for having brought the horse to Liverpool to run with distinction in the Grand National and kept him fit during the intervening months so as to win this race.

The end of Ascot is to all intents and purposes the end of a season in English racing. Except for the Eclipse Meeting at Sandown and Goodwood, there is nothing of really great interest until we begin the autumn campaign at York in the last week in August. After Ascot the great majority of the best horses in training go into comparative retirement, and will be making but fitful reappearances in easy races. This is a policy enunciated by that great Yorkshire worthy, John Scott, whose record in training winners of the St. Leger will probably never be beaten, and who attributed his astonishing series of successes in the Doncaster race to the fact that he always gave his horses a rest during the summer.

Interest in the St. Leger has been stimulated a good deal by the results at Ascot last week. The defeat of Manna in the Ascot Derby was something of a blow to a great many people, and it certainly suggested that the colt may have a weak spot. It was not, however, any disgrace to see him beaten by Solario, who was receiving 10lb., for Sir John Rutherford's colt had finished in front of him when they met at even weights in the Middle Park Stakes last year. The exact distance by which Solario beat Manna last week was two lengths, and this suggests that at even weights Manna would have won comfortably.

The way in which the Derby winner weakened when he raced up to Solario in the straight made one, however, a little dubious about his stamina, and did not strengthen the conviction that he will get the mile and six furlongs at Doncaster. The Ascot race suggested that, brilliant colt as Manna is, he has decided limitations, and served to bring Solario into further prominence as a likely St. Leger horse. Sir John Rutherford's colt shaped like a genuine stayer in the race; for Beary rode him throughout with a good deal of confidence and made all the running on him. When his jockey called on him for an extra effort to beat his challenger he responded in the gamest possible fashion and drew away without an effort.

Solario's Good Performance.

It was a very good performance and entirely justified the high estimate that many people formed of Solario last season. The colt has developed slowly, and I think that last week he was at his best for the first time this year. One would like to see him take a chance in the Grand Prix de Paris against Bellfonds and Co. next Sunday, but it has been decided not to send him across the Channel, and, though he may be given an easy race at Newmarket during one of the July meetings, his main objective from now onwards will be the St. Leger.

The Manton plans regarding the Leger may have to be drastically revised in consequence of the results of last week. It was very much hoped that Cross Bow would have won his race, in which case he would have been the main hope of the stable at Doncaster. Instead of taking on Manna and Solario in the Ascot Derby, he was started in the St. James's Palace Stakes over a mile, and the result was rather disastrous, for he was run out of it by Zambo. It may be that he does not show at his best over a mile, but the result was certainly disappointing to all connected with him. His stable companion, Miss Gadabout, who was regarded as a St. Leger possibility, was also beaten in her race, and it may be that, after all, Saucy Sue will be the hope of the stable next September. Cross Bow is to be sent to run in the North Derby at Newcastle on Tuesday, but, as the opposition is likely to be moderate, the race will not tell us much more about him than we know already.

Saucy Sue is not likely to run again before Goodwood, where she has several engagements. One of them is the King George Stakes, in which she could oppose Diomedes. This will be the next race of Mr. Beer's colt, and, even if Saucy Sue did run against him, I am not so sure that Lord Astor's filly would have it all her own way. It would certainly be a good race, for both are entirely genuine—indeed, so genuine that it is doubtful whether either would have anything extra to pull out.

An Ascot Feature.

The two-year-old races during the past week have been of quite exceptional interest. I cannot remember an Ascot where more good young horses appeared, and although a number of necessity had to be beaten, we saw during the week a great many future winners. I think first place among the two-year-old colts of the season has to be given to Lord Derby's Colorado, who won the Coventry Stakes on Tuesday. This Phalaris colt is assuredly a good one, and it may be a long time before he is beaten. He won his race in the best possible style, and he had some very good-looking youngsters behind him, too. The winner of the New Stakes on Thursday, Buckler, is also likely to prove himself a good colt. He looked well beaten a furlong from home, but he was putting in some really good work at the finish. And although a lucky winner as the race was run, it is probable that if he meets Monk's Way again this season he will beat him. The first appearance of Amilcar, the colt for whom the Aga Khan paid 9,700 guineas last year, was disappointing. He does not appear to have gone on the right way since he made a meteoric appearance in the sale ring at Doncaster last year, but he was running untried last Thursday, and it is likely that he will show improved form later in the year.

Except for one important event, the Northumberland Plate, at Newcastle on Wednesday, the present week's racing is a very quiet one. It is likely that there will only be a small field for the Plate, and it will not take a great deal of winning. There is a considerable amount of doubt whether Kentish Knock will be sent, as he developed boils last week. If he were started I am of opinion that he would win it easily, for the severe two miles at Gosforth would suit such a good stayer as he undoubtedly is. His penalty for winning the Gold Vase only brings his weight up to 8st. 1lb., which is not an excessive burden for a high-class three-year-old. It is doubtful whether Mr. Bliss will stay the distance, and although Obliterate ran a good race in the Manchester Cup, he also may find it a little too far for him. Crewe ran well enough at Ascot and is sure to stay the course, but all J. Jarvis's horses seem out of form, and I hesitate to recommend him. Ribblesdale ran a good race at the last York meeting, and he and Miss Connie are the hopes of the Yorkshire stables; but I am more taken with a pair who are lower down in the handicap, Wild Scot and Chapeau. The latter mare is very genuine, and as she likes the hard going I think she has a good win and place chance.

Windsor Racing.

Yesterday's racing at Windsor did not help much towards the getting out of a bad Ascot. There did seem a good thing in the opening race, the Nimble Two-Year-Old Plate, in Blackwood, who had won all his five races this season. To dissolve a partnership the colt was sold on Friday evening to the Maharajah of Rajpipla, the young Indian potentate who owns Labadens, to whom Donoghue acts as Mentor so far as his racing interests in England are concerned. Donoghue rode the colt here, and a shade of odds was always laid on him, with the Yarmouth winner, Miss Joan, the only one backed against him. Blackwood ran rather disappointingly, and the filly finished well in front of him, but both were beaten by Silver Crag, a colt by Silvern, who is trained by Stanley Wooten, and he started at the long price of 100 to 7. It was only in the last stride or two that he got up to win by a head from Miss Joan, who had made all the running. Except for the odds-on chance, Mountain Eaglet, not a single favourite won during the afternoon. Major McCalmont's colt, Silver Sword, was very much fancied for the chief race of the day, the Great Exhibition Three-Year-Old Handicap, and he started joint favourite with Done Up. The latter ran moderately. Silver Sword did better, but in spite of the vigorous challenge of Beasley, he could not reach the Spearmint colt, Mint D'or, who drew clear when they had gone half way, and beat Silver Sword by half a length.

Sam Pickering won the Two-Year-Old Selling Race with Waveworn, who made all the running and beat the favourite, Vipond, easily, and his filly, Dilemma, dead-heated with old Dunkirk in the other selling race. Cundell, who trains the Ascot winner, Glen Andred, won the sprint race, the June Handicap, with Niloak, who beat Oriel easily by three parts of a length.

The only racing to-morrow afternoon is at Folkestone, where IMPERIAL EAGLE may win the Three-Year-Old Handicap, ARRIVAL the Stanford Maiden Plate, and HIGHBROW the Maidstone Welter Plate.

THE IRISH DERBY.

WEEK-END WORK OF SOME OF THE CANDIDATES.

The four English-trained candidates for the Irish Derby at the Curragh on Wednesday next have arrived at headquarters: Zionist is accommodated at his owner's (the Aga Khan) stud, at Sheshoon, and Sparus and Warminster are at Waterford Lodge. On Saturday, St. Donagh covered seven furlongs at a steady pace, and Warminster did some light work in company with J. T. Rogers's Larkspur. Brighter London was sent the full Derby distance, accompanied by his stable companions, Voltoi and Grave Fairy. The son of Jackdaw, who was ridden by Jos. Canty, strode out freely, and pulled up fresh and well. The spin was in no sense a trial, but the pace was fast, and Brighter London finished a long way in front of Voltoi, with Grave Fairy, from fifty to a hundred yards off, third. What weights were carried by the trio we do not know, but it seemed that Brighter London was conceding to each of the others substantial poundage.

It is unfortunate that Rogers's second candidate, Starman, is still coughing, and, of course, if he is not at his best he will not be saddled; but Larkspur has escaped infection and is well. In the circumstances, Starman may be regarded as a doubtful starter.

PROUDSTOWN PARK.

TREBLE EVENTS FOR MESSRS. ARNOTT AND HARTIGAN.

SILPHO'S EASY WIN.

The weather was beautifully fine at Proudstown Park on Saturday, and there was a good attendance in all departments. Naturally the going was on the hard side, and runners were not very numerous, but the racing proved most interesting. The features were the treble events scored by Messrs. H. M. Hartigan and M. Arnott, who split up the card between them, and D. Ward and Mr. C. Balding each steered two winners.

Half a dozen turned out for the Beauparc Hurdle, and so open did thhe issue look that 3 to 1 was betted on the field, three of the runners being backed at this price. Backers sized up the situation very well, for the trio most fancied filled the leading positions, Scut': Pole scoring by a head from White Hill, the pair being followed home by Tommy Lad. Petit Beau made the early part of the running, but he was done with after half the journey had been completed. Neither Revol Mine nor Dinia ever looked like scoring.

Island Magee, unplaced to Horatius at the Park, picked up the winning thread again when she won the Athlumney Plate, and never was the issue in doubt. Corn Slopes, who was very much fancied, made the running for about three furlongs, but was then beaten, and afterwards Island Magee always had the measure of the disappointing Lady Silvern. Both these races were selling plates, but there was no bid for either of the winners.

Rising Moon made amends for the race he won and lost through disqualification at Longford by capturing the Blackwater Plate. For this he was in most demand, and won very easily from Kilbarry, who, now with the going to his liking, made a bold bid for victory. Lady Eva Forbes's horse was in front over the last fence, but he swerved badly in the run home, and was readily run out of it by the son of Rising Glass. Moonst— fell at the third fence, but Southern Girl performed well, and was in front for something more than half the journey. Take Notice ran moderately.

Blue Fish won her second race of the week when she took the Sallypark Plate, Mr. Rogers' mare having previously won at Kells on Wednesday. On this occasion she had only Sulphuric Acid to beat, and did so in a canter. There was no betting on the event, but nominal odds of 10 to 1 were offered against the loser.

Perhaps, the smartest performance of the day was that of Silpho, in the Donaghpatrick Steeplechase. The son of Corcyra had won earlier in the week at Longford on the flat, and he shaped now over fences in the style of a most polished jumper. Indeed, his display was quite exhilarating, and it will be strange, indeed, if he does not go on to further victories at this branch of the sport. He jumps well, has speed, and apparently stays, for he finished as fresh almost as when he went out. The gelding was bought for 1,800 guineas as a foal, and had tip-top form as a two-year-old in England; but took a dislike to racing. Since being "added to the list," however, he has sobered down, and is now most tractable. Lucky May looked like giving him some trouble, but she was beaten when she fell at the last fence. None of the others ever entered into the argument, and Ballinamore, who was second, was 25 lengths behind the winner.

Silpho's win pointed to the great chance held by Montpelier in the Amateur Plate, for the latter had beaten Major Holliday's horse at the last meeting here. Still, it was possible to obtain evens about Captain Brassey's son of Zria, who very readily accounted for the opposition. Letham was in front for a mile and a quarter. Details:—

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

Imparat was struck out of the Irish Derby on Saturday.

Terceira colt is engaged in the Monkchester Stakes at Newcastle on Wednesday.

Major Seagrave, the English motorist, abandoned the Grand Prix Endurance Trial at Le Mans, at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. After a 10 hours' run De Courcelle is leading, with 932 kilometres 148 metres.

Capt. Sassoon, a patron of E. Martin's Epsom stable, has bought through the Irish Bloodstock Agency the four 'chasers Ballystockart, Never Ready, Golden Rebel, and Transit.

American patrons of 'chasing are buying extensively in Ireland just now, and the Irish Bloodstock Agency has completed the first portion of a commission entrusted to them by purchasing for a client in America the two useful performers Coypou and Soot, who have left Ireland for New York.

The following trial took place on the Limekiln Trial Ground, Newmarket, on Saturday:—R. W. Colling's Terceira colt, 1; Lady Teazle colt, 2; Trim Top, 3; Warmaiden, 4; The Doll, 5; Frusquin's Pride filly, 6. Distance five furlongs. Won by three parts of a length; a bad third.

ROGERS'S Larkspur was sent a mile at a rattling pace; Warminster pleased in a six furlongs gallop.

FORDRED'S St. Donagh travelled well in a seven furlongs gallop.

FOLKESTONE

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME AND SELECTIONS.

The Folkestone racing authorities have succeeded in compiling for their first summer fixture a programme of quite formidable aspect, the subscriptions to to-day's card being no fewer than two hundred and thirty. The prevailing drought makes it likely that the going will be firmer than most horses care for, and with the prizes of very moderate value the sport is not likely to be of high importance. Perhaps the Three-Year-Old Handicap will create most interest. Gay Christian's runaway success at Wolverhampton three weeks ago was quite an impressive one, and Tabor's charge has a good chance. Magnus may be noted, and also the useful Jess. Among the light-weights Turkish Holiday, Dobby Horse, and, perhaps, Lucky Man call for attention; but it seems on the book that Gay Christian should win. The Chatham Handicap, a sprint race, will suit very quick starters, of which Valeda is one, but she is a doubtful runner. Scottish Prince, Some Slip, and Gay Canopy all have chances. It is a dangerously open race, which a hot favourite, securing a smart send-off, may satisfactorily solve; but with such a contingency only post-bettors are concerned, of course. Selections:—

Deal Plate—Bennett's selected.
Westenhanger Plate—Verneuil II.
Three-Year-Old Handicap—Gay Christian.
Stanford Plate—Arrival.
Chatham Handicap—Scottish Prince.
Maidstone Welter—Nightingall's best.
DOUBLE—Gay Christian and Verneuil II.

POLO.

AMERICAN ARMY DEFEAT BRITISH ARMY.

BRILLIANT PLAY AT HURLINGHAM.

The United States Army team won the first of the series of international polo matches for the Army Championship, the game taking place on Saturday at Hurlingham in the presence of a very large attendance. The visitors scored eight goals to the British team's four.

Before the game began the members of the two teams were presented to the King, who, accompanied by the Queen, the Duke and Duchess of York, and Prince Henry, watched the match with great interest. Captain Rodes and Major Wilson played brilliantly for the winners, and Mr. W. S. McCreery, who scored three goals, was the best performer on the British side. Although the first to score, the British side were soon in arrears, the visitors maintaining a substantial lead from the second chukkar to the end.

The British Army opened well, W. S. McCreery scoring the first goal, but Rodes soon equalised and then, following some hard riding, added a second goal.

In the second period W. S. McCreery got away and scored a second goal for the British team, but this was quickly followed by two goals to the visitors, Rodes getting a third and Major Wilson the fourth. The Americans had much the better of the play up to this point. Their superiority increased as the second chukkar proceeded, and Major Wilson got another goal, to give his side the comfortable lead of three goals.

The third chukkar saw the British team in a better light, Captain Dening making repeated good attacks, and eventually W. S. McCreery got his third goal of the game, the Americans then leading by 5 goals to 3.

Another goal by Major Wilson in the fourth chukkar widened the gap again, and the same player nearly added a seventh goal, hitting the post with a forceful shot. Major Wilson fell during this chukkar, but escaped injury. A seventh goal was obtained for the Americans in the 5th chukkar by Major Wilson, but Major Beard created a surprise when he failed to score from a 60 yards free hit. A goal by Captain R. L. McCreery for the British team served to maintain interest in the play.

The sixth chukkar saw a noticeable slackening in the pace, but the British team lost a good chance when Major Boles failed to score from a free hit. Neither side, however, hit accurately at this stage, nor was the riding so hard. The score remained unaltered, despite some persistent pressing by the British team.

The seventh chukkar saw Captain Rodes get yet another goal, and with this score the game ended. The Americans well deserved their success, and they finished in excellent condition, their ponies having served them very well, indeed. Teams:—

British Army—Captain R. L. McCreery (12th Lancers), 1; Mr. W. S. McCreery (12th Lancers), 2; Captain J. P. Dening (Indian Army), 3; and Major D. C. Boles (17-21 Lancers), back.

United States Army—Major A. H. Wilson, 1; Captain C. H. Gerhardt, 2; Captain P. P. Rodes, 3; and Major L. A. Beard, back.

ALL-IRELAND CLUB.

The week-end programme at the A.I.P.C., Phœnix Park, was made up of a match and several practice chukkars. The weather was beautifully fine, and a large gathering watched the play. The teams for the match were Rovers and Wanderers, both of whom were well mounted. On handicap there could not have been much between them, but Wanderers showed superiority after the first chukkar, and won by 5 goals to 2.

For the winners, Mr. Slocock and Captain Daly played a hard game, while Mr. Shackleton was sound at back. Mr. Trench was not as brilliant as usual, though his striking was good. The Rovers were disorganised at times, but individually they all played well. Mr. Larminie, in his new position at back, played a good game, and he got splendid support from Mr. Johnston. Mr. Lillis is an improving player, and, on a couple of good ponies, he shaped very well. Mr. Arnott played his usual dashing game.

WANDERERS (5) v. ROVERS (2).

Rovers opened the scoring in the first ten minutes, a good back-hander by Mr. Lillis being turned to account by Mr. Arnott. Wanderers then kept up the pressure till Mr. Trench equalised and the same player, after a grand round gallop over more than half the ground, put his side into the lead. The ponies were then changed, and play was resumed at midfield. Early in the second period Mr. Slocock got in a grand gallop, which nearly brought about a score, the ball being cleared from the goalmouth by Mr. Larminie. The third goal was not long delayed, as shortly afterwards Captain Daly and Mr. Slocock got clear of the field, and the latter wound up the movement by scoring. Wanderers thus led at the half-way stage by three goals to one.

Captain Daly twice sent wide early in the third chukkar. After a break-away by Mr. Arnott had been checked, Captain Daly returned in possession and crossed to Mr. Slocock, who registered his side's fourth goal. Rovers were pressing at the change of ponies. Wanderers made the pace in the final chukkar, and the Rovers' goal was subjected to a severe bombardment. The ball was, however, sent wide several times before Mr. Larminie effected a clearance to midfield. Rovers then had an innings, and Mr. Johnston hit through from close range. This was followed by a goal for the others, scored by Captain Daly from far out. The hitting all round was good, considering the bumpy nature of the ground. Teams:—

Rovers—Mr. F. Lillis, Mr. T. Arnott, Mr. Johnston, and Mr. J. P. A. Larminie (back).

Wanderers—Captain R. Daly, Mr. E. S. Slocock, Mr. J. A. B. Trench, and Mr. J. W. Shackleton (back).

Umpire—Major Kirkwood.

To-morrow—Practice at 4 o'clock.

FRENCH GRAND NATIONAL.

PARIS, Sunday.

The Grand Steeplechase (French Grand National) was run at Auteuil this afternoon, and resulted as follows:—

SILVO (Mr. W. H. Midwood)...F. Rees 1
LAUTARET ......Herve 2
HYDRAVION ......Barre 3

Le Claive (Head) was fourth. Fourteen ran. Meissonnier, Rambour, Christy Minstrel, and Lagobette fell, while Jourdan, Le Moujik, Cassisei and Mexican Eagle dropped out.

Betting.—Reserved Enclosure—25 francs SILVO, 14 francs for a place; 38.50 francs Lautaret, 17.50 francs Hydravion. Open enclosure—12 francs, 15.13 francs, and 8.50 francs, respectively.

A large crowd, which included the President of the Republic, the British Ambassador, Lord Crewe, and M. Deselves, President of the Senate, was present at the Grand Steeplechase run at Auteuil this afternoon. At the preliminary canter the English horse, Silvo (F. B. Rees up) was most fancied, the betting being 25 francs and 14 for a place, stake 10 francs. In the second round Hydravion (Barre) was leading Silvo at the water jump in front of the grand stand, and subsequently Silvo and Hydravion drew away from Peauviel, Lautaret, Christy Minstrel, and Meissonnier, the last two falling shortly afterwards. At the last jump Silvo took the lead while Lautaret on the flat gained the second place from Hydravion, the English horse winning by two lengths, and the same distance separating second and third. The victory of Silvo, which Rees piloted with great judgment, was warmly applauded by the crowd.

CRICKET.

LEINSTER AND DUBLIN UNIVERSITY DRAW.

FAST SCORING BY PHŒNIX.

Though there was little chance of a definite issue being arrived at, the second day's play in the Leinster-Dublin University match, at Rathmines on Saturday, provided some interesting cricket. As a result of Friday's play Leinster made 31 for two wickets in reply to the 'Varsity total of 260, and thus when play was resumed on Saturday they required 130 runs to save the follow-on, with eight wickets in hand. At one period it looked as if the home side would fail to save the follow-on, as with G. Browne, Reddy and Ganly giving little trouble, five wickets were down for 47 runs. The remaining batsmen, however, came to the rescue, and the total eventually reached 223 before the last wicket fell. Trinity going in a second time had two hours' batting, and in that time scored 163 for six wickets. The match thus ended in a draw, but the 'Varsity take the League points for a lead on the first innings. Harrington, Nash and Penny all batted splendidly for Leinster. The first-named got 50 in an hour, scoring all round the wicket and hitting six boundaries. He was missed badly in the slips early in his innings, but otherwise batted without fault. Nash got 35 in free style, and in partnership with Penny, who made 33, put on 56 for the sixth wicket. Carey and McMahon bowled with most success for the 'Varsity. A. W. Kelly was the chief run-getter for the students in the second innings. Batting only forty minutes, he knocked up 35, included in which was six boundaries.

Phœnix scored an easy victory by 160 runs over University College on the Phœnix Ground. Batting first on a fast wicket, the home side put on runs rapidly—the first hundred in fifty-five minutes, 150 in an hour and a quarter, and 200 in an hour and fifty minutes, the innings closing for 232 as the result of just two hours' play. Hutton and Buttenshaw put on 50 for the first wicket, Hutton going first for a well-played 24, and Buttenshaw remaining to reach 39, his hits including six 4's. A. P. Kelly and Crawford put on 48 for the third wicket, Kelly batting freely fifty minutes for 44 (including seven 4's). Culhane had three wickets for 20 runs and Cussen three for 39. The University College innings was very tame by comparison, lasting an hour and a half and realising only 71. Cussen, who was unfortunate in being run out—on a clean field and smart return by Crawford—showed an excellent defence, wanting only a little more scoring force behind it, and McCarron got top score with 17. Allen had four wickets for 18 runs and Harvey three for 24.

Clontarf and Pembroke met in a Senior League tie at Castle avenue, and a low-scoring game resulted in a win for the home side by 43 runs. The wicket was fast, but it kicked a lot, especially at the lower end, and several players took nasty knocks from rising balls. Clontarf batted first, but lost Tyndall (16), Buxton and Boylan for 57. J. G. Aston hit out and had 5 fours in his contribution of 29, half the side being dismissed for 65. O. Sweeney (17), J. C. Montgomery (15 not out), and James Sweeney (11) helped to take the home total to 122. Dunn had 3 wickets for 15, Ruddle 2 for 19, Bonass 2 for 34, and Hirst 1 for 36. For Pembroke, Aylward (21) and Hirst (10) helped to put up 36 for 3 wickets, but half the visiting side were out for 45. Wickets then went cheaply, S. Murray (10) being the only other double, and the innings ended at 79. Pemberton took 6 wickets for 39, and Seymour 4 for 28.

KENT COLLAPSE.

272 BY HOLMES AND SUTCLIFFE.

Considering how good wickets now are there were some strange batting collapses on Saturday. At Edgbaston Kent disposed of Warwickshire for 137, of which the Hon. F. S. Calthorpe made 69, but failed badly in reply, and could only total 42, Calthorpe claiming 6 wickets for 17. Other low-scoring games were Notts v. Middlesex, Northampton v. Glamorgan, and Worcestershire v. Derbyshire. Holmes and Sutcliffe gave Yorkshire a splendid start against Leicestershire; and Cambridge University ran up a score of 543 against Sussex bowling, weakened by the absence of Tate, who was being rested.

FRENCH LADIES' OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

AN AMERICAN VICTORY.

VERSAILLES, Saturday.

The thirty-six holes final for the French Ladies' Open Championship, at La Boulie, on Saturday, ended in a win for Miss Glenna Collett (Rhode Island, U.S.A.), the present Canadian and former American Champion, over Mlle. Simone Thion de la Chaume (St. Cloud, Paris), the French Native Championship holder, and the present holder of the British Girls' Championship, by 3 and 1.

On the first round the American held a lead of three holes at one stage, but Mlle de la Chaume played in such improved fashion on the homeward journey that at the end of the first eighteen holes the players were square.

In the afternoon some exceptionally fine golf was shown on either side. Miss Collett regained her three holes' advantage, but thereafter her lead was reduced. Eventually, when she was dormie two, she got a fine three at the seventeenth, which won that hole for her and the championship.

LAWN TENNIS

CHAMPIONSHIP NOTES.

THE IRISH TEAM IN VIENNA.

(BY F. GORDON LOWE.)

The Eastbourne ground makes an ideal setting for an international match, and is becoming a popular venue for encounters of this character. Our Davis Cup match against France will take place there shortly after the Wimbledon meeting. The great struggle, which finished at Devonshire Park on Thursday, between England and the young American team, proved to be one of the best contests ever seen on these famous courts. The match drew a record crowd, who were quick to sense the sparkling tennis that was to come. The general arrangements were excellent, under the able direction of Mr. Horn, a former Cambridge president, who refereed the match. The Americans, Hennessey and Casey, must be congratulated on their very fine show. They had only been in England for ten days, hardly a long enough period in which to acquaint themselves with their new surroundings. Casey, in addition, had never played a match on a grass surface before.

The English team, however, certainly made good in this match. Each man "did his bit" towards their ultimate victory. In the first game Wheatley found the devastating service of Casey too much for him, but I imagine that once an adequate reply has been found to this deadly weapon the rest of Casey's strokes are not as formidable as those of his compatriot, Hennessey. Wheatley entirely atoned for his defeat on the first day by helping Godfree to win the doubles. In partnership this new English pair combined well, and for this reason were able to beat the American pair, who, though individually better, have had little experience of the double game. The lobbing of the Englishmen and Wheatley's fine smashing were the principal factors which brought about their success.

Wheatley again failed in his single against Hennessey, though not without a great struggle. The American was playing a good deal better than he did in his match with Gilbert. The issue turned on the result of the last match of the series, in which Gilbert defeated Casey in three close sets. Great nerve is required to play and win this last match when there is so much depending on it. Gilbert, as he has often proved before, is just the man for this job, a determined fighter up till the last point is played. It seemed a pity to bring Kingsley down to Eastbourne for this match, if there had never been any intention of playing him in the doubles.

THE AUSTRALIAN LADIES.

Th match at Roehampton between the Australian and English ladies proved to be a good deal closer than the critics anticipated. Each side won two singles, and the issue depended on the four doubles, three of which were won by England. The fact is that the Australian ladies, headed by Mrs. Harper and Miss Boyd, are a much stronger team than was thought at first. With more experience outside their own country, these ladies should be able to hold their own against any team. One of the secrets of Colonial success is that they seem able to rise to an occasion better than we can over here. Mrs. Harper's victory over Miss Fry was noteworthy, especially as the English girl had just beaten her previously in the tournament. The great surprise of the series was Mrs. Utz's defeat of Miss Harvey. In this match the Australian lady showed a greater knowledge of the game than she had previously done, either in England or on the Riviera.

WIMBLEDON.

Looking through the Wimbledon draws, one misses the name of Ritchie, who at fifty-five is still winning tournaments. The famous veteran has been a familiar figure at Wimbledon for many years Then, again, Kingscote and Woosnam are not entered. Both are too young to give up a game at which they excel. Zerlendi, famous for a six hours' match which he played at Antwerp in 1921, has returned to the fray. To prophesy is always dangerous. A casual glance, however, at the draw for the Men's Championship, which has worked out fairly evenly, would suggest the names of Cochet, Hennessey, Borotra, Barclay, Feret, Anderson, Lacoste and Jacob reaching the last eight. On form, Borotra should reach the final of his half, but to accomplish this the Frenchman may have to play Hennessey, who beat him last year in the American championships.

The outstanding players in the other half are Anderson and Lacoste, and one or other, perhaps the former—for he beat Johnston in 1923, and Johnston beat Lacoste last year—should reach the final. Other players whose doings will be watched with interest are Gobert, Gilbert, Von Kehrling, unfamiliar with a grass surface; Timmer, of Holland, Spence, Casey, Washer and Morpurgo, with his unusual service delivery.

The draw for the Ladies' Championship has worked out most unevenly, for Mlle. Lenglen, Miss Ryan, Miss McKane and Mrs. Beamish are all in the top half. It will be left to our younger school in Mrs. Lycett Miss Fry and Miss Reid Thomas to make good in the lower half. In this same half are also Mrs. Harper, Mme. Billout, Miss Harvey, and several more of our younger players. That Mlle. Lenglen and Miss Ryan should clash in the second round is, indeed, unfortunate. This match, which should take place towards the end of next week, may prove to be one of the best of the meeting, and it is sure to draw a record crowd. The French girl, who is in better health this year, though never very strong, is an odds-on favourite for the event.

ANTIQUATED METHODS.

Every other country, including America and France, has realised long ago that the "blind" draw is not the best and fairest method to adopt for deciding the championship. The unfortunate draw in the ladies' singles is a good instance of what to expect when these antiquated methods are persisted in. In France it is a rule that the leading players must be placed in the draw according to merit. They earn their position through their own prowess at the game. The two leading players are placed in different halves. The player ranked third is drawn in the same half as No. 2; No. 4 finds himself in the opposite half. On the whole, these methods have worked out satisfactorily on the Riviera and elsewhere, and there have been few complaints. In the American Singles Championship of 1921 Tilden and Johnston clashed in an early round. The United States L.T.A. decided that, in the best interests of the game, this should not occur again, and the system of the blind draw was abolished for ever.

AUSTRIA v. INDIA.

It was unfortunate that the Irish Davis Cup team did not meet with the best of treatment during their match with Austria at Vienna. A hostile crowd, bad decisions, and umpiring seem to have been their lot. This is not at all the spirit in which Davis Cup matches should be played. It is to be hoped that Mr. Scroope's report will be forwarded to the proper quarters. Austria's next match against India was conducted under the most friendly relations; and Jacob, the All-India captain, said that Count Salm in particular could not have been more sporting.

The doings of Scroope and Meldon, who have drawn Utz and Mishu respectively, will be watched with interest at Wimbledon.

FITZWILLIAM CLUB TOURNAMENT.

Major C. F. Scroope had an easy victory in the final of the Fitzwilliam Club Singles Championship at Wilton place on Saturday, defeating V. Allman Smith in straight sets—6-3, 6-4, 6-1. Allman Smith was unlucky to have to meet an opponent who was at the top of his form, for he played a plucky game throughout. Scroope has rarely played better, his deep cross-court drives being very accurate.

The Doubles Championship final was somewhat disappointing, as the L. A. Meldon and E. A. McGuire combination had an off-day, and, although making a good fight in the third and fourth sets, never recovered from a bad start. L. A. Meldon was completely out of form, and time after time his hard hit drives found the net. McGuire played well at times, but his return of service was not up to the standard. Mahony and Mack played well in the first two sets, which they won easily, but had to fight hard to go out in the fourth. Details:—

Men's Championship Singles.—Final—C. F. Scroope beat v. Allman Smith—6-3, 6-4, 6-1.

Men's Doubles Championship.—Final—A. St. J. Mahony and J. S. B. Mack beat L. A. Meldon and E. A. McGuire—6-3, 6-3, 3-6, 10-8.

Ladies' Handicap Singles.—Final—Mrs. Bianconi (minus 15.1) beat Mrs. Beatty (minus 15.2)—9-7, 4-3 (retired).

Men's Handicap Singles.—Final—W. G. Marshall (minus 4) beat P. A. Ryan (minus 15.1)—6-4, 6-1.

INTER-CLUB COMPETITIONS.

The feature of the Inter-Club competitions this season has been the consistent form shown by the Mount Temple teams. On Saturday, in Class II., the second team disposed of Glenageary II. in convincing fashion, winning all nine matches. The club has now won in all three sections, and has qualified for the finals.

Class I.—Grosvenor beat Clontarf by 5 matches to 4; Clontarf w.o.; Dublin University, scr.; Lans-

TRINITY WEEK.

INTER-CLUB CONTEST.

THRILLING RELAY RACE.

NEW IRISH RECORD.

The annual inter-club contest in the College Park on Saturday, which brought to a close Trinity Week, provided some capital sport for a small company, but the one thrilling finish of the afternoon was in the relay, which was about the most exciting race of its kind seen in Dublin for a very long time.

It was a struggle between Clonliffe Harriers and Dublin University, for the third team, Harps, did not enter into calculations, and a desperate finish was fought out all the way down the straight by Norman M'Eachern and W. Gregan, the former of whom was given a good send off when A. Love completed the third lap in 51 2-5 secs. It looked as if the Clonliffe crack would have an easy win, but for the last hundred yards or so he was tackled in the most resolute style by Gregan, and to shake off the 'Varsity runner M'Eachern had to finish as seldom he had to finish before, with the result that when he broke the tape the Irish record of 3 mins. 35 2-5 secs. for the race, made by Clonliffe in 1921, was lowered by 3 secs. It was a highly meritorious achievement of the young Clonliffe team, which included the former schoolboy champion, R. G. Hamilton, who was making his debut among the seniors on Saturday, and performed very creditably, indeed.

Another interesting feature was the high jumping. In this L. Stanley was not seen at his best. He shook the bar at 5ft. 10ins., but he won for the D.M.P. with 5ft. 11ins., D. A. Quinlan, however, excelled himself by clearing 5ft. 10ins., and so gained a valuable point for Trinity, who won the contest by 12 points to the nine scored by D.M.P. and Clonliffe, Harps' aggregate being two points and Dublin City's one point.

In the three miles the brothers C. C. and G. N. Walker cut down the big field in grand style, and with a mile to go they had the race to themselves. Clonliffe had another excellent win in the half-mile, which M'Eachern won easily, and the same club was to the fore in the mile, in which J. N. Peatt ran a well-judged race. The Trinity pair, D. Cussen and R. R. Woods, occupied the scoring positions in the final of the 100 yards, but while Cussen won fairly comfortably, Woods and J. Eustace had a great set-to for second place, the verdict being a matter of inches. Woods also put in a good performance in the final for the 220 yards, but was beaten a couple of feet by his clubman, M. Gregan, and in the run off of the 440 yards Ian Stuart always had too much pace for his solitary opponent, T. Travers. Results:—

100 Yards—First Heat—D. J. Cussen (Dublin University), 1; J. Eustace (Croke), 2; A. Love (Clonliffe), 0. Won by a foot. Time—10 2-5 secs. Second Heat—R. R. Woods (D.U.), 1; F. Wedick (D.M.P.), 2; J. J. Ryan (Harp), 0. Won by a foot. Time—10 3-5 secs. Third Heat—R. G. Hamilton (Clonliffe), 1; R. J. Lewis (Donore), 2; G. Cooper (Pembroke), 0. Won easily by a yard. Time—10 3-5 secs. Final—Cussen, 1; Woods, 2; Eustace, 3. Half-way down Cussen went out, and won by a yard and a half. It was a fine finish between Woods and Eustace for second place, the 'Varsity man making a great effort in the last ten yards, and getting the verdict by inches. Time—10 1-5 secs.

Half-Mile—N. J. McEachern (Clonliffe), 1; T. Travers (Harp), 2; F. Cahill (Donore), 0; D. O'Brien (Harp), 0; F. Ahern (Clonliffe), 0; D. M. Carson (Dublin University), 0; J. Pike (do.), 0. Two hundred yards from home McEachern deprived Carson of the lead, and passing the Pavilion the Trinity man was also headed by Travers, but the latter could make no impression on McEachern, who won easily by six yards. Time—2 mins. 2 secs.

One Mile—J. N. Peatt (Clonliffe), 1; J. J. Conaghan (Dublin City), 2; J. Nalty (Dublin City), 3; J. J. McGilton (Clonliffe), 0; S. Daly (Dundrum), 0; R. N. Hilliard (Dublin University), 0; W. L. Convell (do.), 0. With a little more than two laps to go, Peatt drew out for a good lead of Conaghan and Nalty, and won easily by 20 yards; 10 yards. Time—4 mins. 39 2-5 secs.

220 Yards—First Heat—M. Gregan (Dublin University), 1; C. O'Connor (D.M.P.), 2; P. Deegan (Dundrum), 0. Won easily. Time—24 1-5 secs. Second Heat—R. R. Woods (Dublin University), 1; R. Harold (Dublin City), 2; M. O'Brien (Harp), 0. Won by a yard. Time—24 3-5 secs. Third Heat—R. G. Hamilton (Clonliffe), 1; J. J. McGloughlin (Donore), 2; S. Cooper (Pembroke), 0. Time—24 2-5 secs. Fourth Heat—A. Love (Clonliffe), 1; H. Delaney (Croke), 2; J. Thompson (Pembroke), 0; J. Vaughan (Donore), 0; — Sharkey (D.M.P.), 0. Won by half a yard. Time—24 2-5 secs. Final—Gregan, 1; Woods, 2; Hamilton, 3. Gregan led all the way, and won a fine race by 2 feet; inches. Time—23 4-5 secs.

120 Yards Hurdles—First Heat—W. Shanahan (D.M.P.), 1; J. B. Neligan (Dublin University), 2. Second Heat—D. A. Quinlan (Dublin University), 1; M. Navin (D.M.P.), 2. Final—Shanahan, 1; Quinlan, 2. Shanahan had the worse of the start, Quinlan getting away a couple of yards in front, but Shanahan overhauled him half-way down and won comfortably by two yards in 16 3-5 secs.

High Jump—L. Stanley (D.M.P.), 5ft. 11in., 1; D. Quinlan (Dublin University), 5ft. 10in., 2; W. Shanahan (D.M.P.), 5ft. 9in., 3; J. B. Neligan (Dublin University), 0.

440 Yards—First Heat—T. Travers (Harp), 1; R. Harold (Dublin City), 2; J. Peatt (Clonliffe), 0; F. Johnston (Pembroke), 0; Sharkey (D.M.P.), 0. Won by six yards. Time—54 secs. Second Heat—I. Stuart (Dublin University), 1; S. Hennessy (Dublin City), 2; F. Ahern (Clonliffe), 0; J. Thompson (Pembroke), 0; J. J. McGloughlin (Donore), 0; H. Sherran (Harp), 0; P. Williams (Croke), 0. Won easily by five yards. Time—53 2-5 secs. Final—Stuart, 1; Travers, 2. Only two ran. Won by three yards. Time—55 secs.

Three Miles—G. N. Walker (Clonliffe), 1; C. C. Walker (do.), 2; B. Keaney (Dublin City), 3. Also ran—S. Daly and H. Brogan (Dundrum), E. Kelly and D. O'Brien (Harp), D. Hannon and K. YACHTING.

SAOIRSE'S RETURN.

Because of Saoirse's return from her world's cruise and of the welcome sailing men desired to give to Mr. Conor O'Brien when he was coming back into the bay and harbour, from which he had started on his venturous trip two years before, there was no racing at Kingstown on Saturday until the late afternoon. Instead of the usual matches the local yachting fleet, with plenty of visitors, went to the Southward to meet the Saoirse, most of them picking her up in Killiney Bay, and accompanying her up to harbour. It was quite a remarkable sight in its way through the number of yachts and boats under sail or power, particularly as they were beating up through Dalkey Sound against wind and tide—one reminiscent, indeed, in the sunlight of what regattas were like in the old times.

Full details of the reception given to Mr. Conor O'Brien are given elsewhere in this issue, but a few remarks here on the boat herself will not be out of place—on her appearance, for example, and on the feat which she was the means of accomplishing. That she is not a yacht in the accepted meaning of the word—that is to say, that she does not present the daintiness, the trimness that one expects in the yacht proper—everybody must know. She was designed and built, however, for very different conditions than those of summer seas, even such summer seas as we know them in our climate. Seaworthiness and utility and great strength were manifestly the first conditions for a craft which had to meet and conquer the great oceans in all their moods.

How well she came through the ordeal her presence at Kingstown now testifies. Think what she has seen and think of those vast stretches of turbulent waters in the Southern Atlantic and Indian Ocean, of the Southern Pacific and of the Horn, the Cape of Storms, that she has passed. No one would guess what she has been through to see her now quietly tied up to a yawling buoy off the Victoria Wharf. That square-sail yard of hers, however, strikes the note of her individuality. So do the high top-sides. Go on board and view the living quarters of her crew. There is a homely air about her saloon or cabin, but what must have been life below in the Tropics or in gales of wind. Taking her as she is on her return, she does not show in the least, relatively small as she is, the strain and stress of her lengthy voyage.

SEAPOINT BOAT CLUB.

Both the R.A.Y.C. and the D.B.S.C. postponed their week-end programmes to dates yet to be fixed, while the S.B.C. postponed theirs some 3½ hours, and were fortunate in finding a grand breeze from W. by N. in the later afternoon. The starts were made from the back of the West Pier, Kingstown.

CLASS I.—Handicap. Second Tie for Captain's Prize. Start 7.5 p.m.

	*H'cap. Mins.	Finish:— H.	M.	S.
Mercia III. (2nd)—Mr. W. J. Smalldridge	6½	8	46	28
Bonita — Messrs. Hartnell and McGoogan	3½	8	46	49
Sho Shi (winner)—Mr. F. P. Douglas	8½	8	49	6

Alethea—Mr. J. Kelly	8½	8	55	4
Rita (3rd)—Mr. W. Sinnott Glenn	11	8	55	49

*Handicap: Minutes per hour.

They started on a dead turn to windward to the first mark, where Mercia led, with Bonita close up. A reach fetched the South Bar, and from it they reached free to harbour, Bonita going to the front on this leg. On the beat up to the line Mercia overhauled Bonita, and held the lead to the finish. It was one of the finest races Mercia has yet sailed.

CLASS III.—B.R.A. Dinghies. Handicap for marks and special prize. Start 7.55. Finish:—

	H.	M.	S.
Seamew (2nd)—Mr. W. B. Conyngham, 40 secs.	8	31	41
Redshank (winner)—Mr. W. S. Glenn, 1 min.	8	31	42
Ibis—Mr. J. Wallace, scr.	8	31	43

The boats sailed a special course of one round, and made a splendid finish.

HOWTH SAILING CLUB.

Three 17-footers started at 3.35 p.m. on Saturday in a light N.W. breeze, which freshened before the close of the race. Bobolink led at the start, with Silvermoon next, and the order was unchanged at the first mark. Echo worked out a lead on the beat on the next leg, but did not retain it long, Bobolink again going to the front, a position she held to the close. Echo and Silvermoon had a great struggle for second place on the second round, till the latter got there, and held it to the finish, which was timed:—

	H.	M.	S.
Bobolink (winner)—Mr. R. N. Guinness, 1 min.	5	56	47
Silvermoon (2nd)—Mr. W. Beckett, 2 mins.	5	58	4
Echo—Mr. R. Hall, scr.	5	58	59

ROYAL NORTH OF IRELAND CLUB.

Four races were sailed, the Island Handicap and Fairy classes doing one round, or long course, and the Lakes two rounds of the short course. The north-westerly breeze was fresh at the start, but fluky afterwards, the conditions on the longer journey being a beat to No. 1 buoy, a broad reach to Rockport, a beat to Carrickbank and a reach home. The Lakes had a beat, a reach and a run. The officer of the day was Mr. J. E. McErrel, assisted by Mr. T. Hardy. Times:—

HANDBALL.

DUBLIN G.A.A. CHAMPIONSHIPS.

A fine list of matches was carried through in Clondalkin yesterday, when the Intermediate championship semi-final, a senior match, and the first match in the Intermediate Inter-club League, were played. In the semi-final match T. Forde (Round Towers) put up a plucky fight against L. Gavin (Round Towers) who forced the pace and gained most of his aces on strong tosses. He will meet W. Cooke (Round Towers) in the final.

The Senior Hard-ball Championship match between L. Slicker (Metropolitans) and J. McGrath (Civic Guards) was a long-drawn-out contest, as it took the full seven games for the decision. The tossing was very good, and from 6-12 McGrath won the first game, 21-14. The next two games were all in Slicker's favour, and his tossing was very difficult and his placing perfect. In the fourth game McGrath made a great pull up by his strong tossing when, after being behind 7-17, he won the game, 21-19. Slicker went all out for the fifth game, as he was under the impression it was the final game, and from a lead of 15-3 he won 21-15. The rubber, however, was the best of 7 games. Although Slicker led, the play was very even to the last ace, when Slicker was in three times for game-ball, but failed to get it. The Metropolitan player was "off" in the deciding game, as his hand gave trouble, and McGrath won on the scores—21-14, 14-21, 16-21, 21-19, 15-21, 21-20, 21-9.

R. McGinn and W. Fetherston started well for Clontarf against Clondalkin by winning the first game, 21-11, but in the remaining games the home players had the better of the tossing and Wall was particularly brilliant. McGinn played well and has improved a lot. Clondalkin (C. Stynes and W. Wall) won on the scores 11-21, 21-12, 21-6, 21-15. The tossing of P. Kiernan and the play of Stynes were the winning factors for Clondalkin in the second match against R. Keogh and M. Redmond. The first game was won by the latter pair in two innings, as after Kiernan had tossed ten aces Keogh responded with bringing the Clontarf score to 17 by strong tosses into the left. Redmond added an ace on a rally, and lost his hand on the next return by failing to kill. The Clondalkin pair only added an ace, and Clontarf won the game 21-11. The Clondalkin men were a better combination, and Kiernan kept up the strong tossing, but Clontarf did not toss as well as in the first game, and the Round Tower pair won the rubber by winning the next three games—21-14, 21-15, 21-15. The third match was all in favour of Clondalkin, as Clontarf had to play two juniors, and the locals won 21-3, 21-3, 21-6.

A start was made in the G.A.A. Junior Inter-Club Soft-ball Championships at the Depot, Phœnix Park. The first matches were between University College "A" and St. Audoens "A" and after three rubbers the students had the best of matters by two rubbers to one. In the second contest Civic Guards "B" beat University College "B." Results:—

G. Grainger and J. Siney (St. Audoens) beat J. O'Neill and C. Macken (University)—17-21, 21-18, 21-16.
J. McCaffrey and P. Fox (U.C.D.) beat W. Moran and T. Lowrey (St. A.)—21-16, 20-21, 21-18.
S. Clarke and D. McCarthy (U.C.D.) beat C. Earl and T. Redmond (St. A.)—21-3, 21-1.
Guards E. W. Long and M. Keaveney beat J. O'Donnell and M. Delaney (U.C.D.)—21-19, 21-15.
Guards J. Forde and M. J. Morgan beat J. Steward and P. McWilliams—21-7, 21-5.
Sergt. M. Solan refereed and J. Henry (Intermediate champion) marked.

GAELIC GAMES.

DUBLIN RETAINS LEINSTER CHAMPIONSHIP.

A scintillating game, changing rapidly in outlook, Kilkenny leading by 10 points to nil after fifteen minutes; rapid goaling by Dublin almost balancing at the half-way; continued Dublin success for twenty minutes of the second half-hour; a great Kilkenny revival in the last exciting quarter when the issue was in serious question, and excitement intense. These were the features of yesterday's game at Croke Park, when Dublin hurlers retained their provincial championship.

In perfect weather conditions, before a big assembly, the hurling was high class. Kilkenny, hitting freely, fed a very capable forward line, and Power, on Kilkenny's left, came across to trap Tobin's passes and beat Dublin's back line for goals and points. For fifteen minutes Kilkenny seemed invincible. Power and Dunphy treated the opposition lightly when Kilkenny led by 10 points to nil. The visitors seemed to have worn themselves out during this period, and Dublin settled down to very good hurling. Wall, the Dublin captain, had been playing nervously in the back-line, but he found his game after a serious tussle with Power and Dunphy. Thenceforward he played very capably, holding up very difficult rushes. Gill was a very sound and clever quarter liner. Having cleared well, he fed Banim, who sent a fast ground shot to the net. The Kilkenny keeper was weak, and Howard, from a pass by Regan, goaled again. Aylward was now prominent for Dublin. He drove many frees into the area. Banim doubled one for a goal, and, though Kilkenny were hurling well, the margin at the turnover was negligible.

Kilkenny—2 goals 5 points.
Dublin—3 goals 1 point.

The scoring of 11 points to 10 fairly represented the play in a very even game, where Daly had brought off some great saves for Dublin. The Metropolitans were best in the re-opening. They beat the Kilkenny men in races for possession. Aylward lobbed a ball from beneath the stand, having carried it on his hurley for 40 yards. The Kilkenny goalkeeper misjudged the ball, and it found the net behind him. Racing out on the right Howard crossed to Ryan (substituting Banim injured), and the Limerick man got in to centre to crash a fine ball into the net. When O'Neill and O'Regan added goals for Dublin the game seemed over, but Kilkenny came along with a grand rush. Long hitting helped them, and a great rush brought a goal. Tobin added a point, Grace shot a low ball from a free over the bar, and Kilkenny were within a goal of the leaders. It was a great game now with Kilkenny forcing the pace. Grace tried hard to equalise, but Daly, Bannon and Kill held off determined attacks. Dublin rather luckily retained the championship against a rapidly improving county. Final score:—

Dublin—6 goals 4 points (22 points).
Kilkenny—4 goals 7 points (19 points).

Mr. McCullough (Wexford) refereed.

Two junior games filled the programme. Leading at the interval Wexford hurlers were well beaten by Offaly in an interesting hour's hurling.

Offaly—6 goals 4 points.
Wexford—3 goals 5 points.

The junior football match was level at half-way, with three points each, and better shooting by Wicklow in the last half got tem into the second round.

Wicklow—1 goal 4 points.
Meath—1 goal 3 points.

LIMERICK HURLERS DEFEAT CORK.

The hurling final between Cork and Limerick for the Thomond Feis Cup and medals was played at the Markets Field, Limerick, yesterday. The hurling could not be described as anything like good. It was dull and below the standard set when the competition was initiated a month ago at the same venue. There was little clever hurling and a disappointing match ended:—

Limerick—4 goals 3 points.
Cork—1 goal 9 points.

CYCLING.

SECOND WIN FOR W. J. FINN IN DUNLOP CUP.

On Saturday the Irish Road Club brought off a "50" for the cup presented by the Dunlop Company. The holder of the cup, W. J. Finn, figured on the scratch mark, and had to concede as much as 20 minutes to some of his fellow-club men. He rode a splendid race, and in spite of the very bad condition of the roads, and starting last, he won in the very good time of 2 hours 36 mins. 56 secs. M. Byrne (15 mins.) was second and J. Sweeney (12 mins.) third. The weather conditions were ideal, but the condition of the road (from Ashtown to Navan) was deplorable, the wonder being that punctures were so few. Messrs. Holahan and Sweeney punctured, but completed the course. M. Keogh had to retire through punctures. Eleven competitors were despatched by Messrs. E. J. Doyle and J. J. Galavan (timekeepers), of whom nine completed the course. The following are the placings and times of the finishers:—

	H'cap Times. H.	M.	S.
1. W. J. Finn (scr.)	2	36	56
2. M. Byrne (15 mins.)	2	39	51
3. J. Sweeney (12 mins.)	2	41	19

8. R. Oates (20 mins.)	2	55	39
9. T. Nolan (15 mins.)	2	56	49

The brothers, T. J. and D. J. Galavan, had a trial for the Standard medals of the club on a tandem, and covering the distance in 2 hours 33 mins. 4 secs., secured the bronze Standards for the distance.

25 MILES NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP.

L. A. Wyld (Derby C.C.) won the 25 Miles National Cycling Championship at Long Eaton on Saturday in 65 mins. 17 3-5 secs. from his brother, R. W. Wyld of the same club, with G. E. Upton, Notts Castle C. C., third.

CROQUET.

CHAMPIONSHIP MEETING.

This Tournament finished in brilliant weather on Saturday, when the handicap Singles, the only event outstanding, were concluded. In the final, W. F. Pim, conceding 4½ bisques, had to fight hard to defeat O. D. Browne, a young player with a fine free style, who only needs a little more experience to bring his game to the highest standard.

The match, an exciting one, was sternly contested, but at last Dr. Pim wore his opponent down, and ran out winner by the narrow margin of three points.

To-day the County Dublin Championships begin. A more extensive entry than last week has been obtained, and, with all the best players taking part, continued good weather is alone necessary for success. Details:—

Handicap Singles—Third Round—Mrs. Dixon (10) beat W. H. Wilson (4), by 11.

Semi-finals—O. D. Browne (5) beat Mrs. Dixon (10) by 3; W. F. Pim (minus ½) beat Mrs. Vowell (3), by 15.

Final—W. F. Pim (minus ½) beat O. D. Browne (5), by 3.

COUNTY DUBLIN CHAMPIONSHIPS.

Mr. Canter Cremers, the Dutch engineer, and President of the Nile Irrigation Commission, died here to-day.—(Reuter.)

Her husband was sitting at the side of the bed in a dazed condition, and there was a razor lying on the bed. He has been detained. It is stated that he had been suffering from neurasthenia.
